Crushing Defeat in Wisconsin Brings Abrupt Halt to Tour

BRITISH MAKE IT A CRIME TO STIR LABOR UNREST

Cabinet Acts to End Illegal Strikes.

LONDON, April 6 [Thursday]—(AP).—The British war cabinet early today drafted an urgent order specifying that incitement of labor unrest is a criminal offense. It told the labor ministry to take any other action necessary to end strikes of more than 100,000 workers.

There was no indication of wholesale arrests or of summoning troops to break strikes.

London morning papers today headlined their stories "labor crisis." The Daily Mail said the cabinet order against incitement would be promulgated next week and that all subversive organizations and individuals believed to be fomenting strikes would be suppressed immediately.

Drastic Action Foreseen.

Labor Minister Ernest Bevin was expected to warn strikers to return to work and was prepared to take what the News Chronicle called "drastic steps" if he was not heeded.

The Trades Union congress, parent body of organized British labor, at the same time warned that continuance of the work stoppages would imperil an allied victory.

The Trades Union congress statement was issued after a long conference with Bevin.

It warned all workers against individuals and organizations which have been active in fomenting disturbances which now include strikes among coal miners, shipyard and aircraft workers and others.

Men from Scotland Yard raided the London office of the "Fourth International," a Trotzkyite organization, where they found pamphlets praising the "class spirit and solidarity" in the strikes. Trotzkyite offices in other areas also were raided. No arrests were made.

Two Red Groups Named.

Police also made raids in Newcastle, where it was reported they found documents concerning the strike of Tyneside shipbuilding apprentices, most of whom now have returned to work.

This strike was the first which the British press connected with subversive activities against the war effort.

March was the worst month of strikes since the war began, with more than 1,000,000 working days lost.

Coal strikes originated several weeks ago in South Wales over provisions of a government wage plan.

Most of the South Wales mines now are back at work, but some 70,000 miners still are striking in Yorkshire in protest against wage deductions for coal used to heat their homes.

30,000 Idle in Belfast Area.

Strikes were spreading in the Belfast area, Northern Ireland, where about 30,000 workers are idle. Fifteen hundred ship repairmen walked out today, joining 20,000 who have been out for five weeks, and 300 dock workers joined several hundred stevedores.

Spokesmen for the shipyard workers said they struck in protest against imprisonment of five aircraft shop stewards sentenced Monday to three months in jail for participating in an outlaw strike.

Seven thousand aircraft workers and 2,000 munitions workers also are on strike in the Belfast area.

Rumanian Oil City, Ploesti, Raided by U.S.

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, April 5 (AP).—The great oil center of Ploesti, Rumania, was raided again today by United States Fortresses and Liberators against heavy opposition but this time the city's rail yards rather than the oil fields were the targets. Other United States heavy bombers hit Nish, an important railway junction in east-central Jugo-Slavia.

Aiding Red armies whose spearhead was approximately 175 miles to the northeast at Jassy, the American bomber fleet and escort of fighters blasted Ploesti's two freight yards gorged with long strings of loaded cars, firing oil filled tank cars and ripping tracks with explosives.

The raid essentially was a blow at the German oil supply, since oil must be transported by rail to the Danube for shipment to war industries in Germany.

Part of Oil Fields.

Ploesti is a city of 70,000 population in an area of about 13 square miles. Oil facilities are so thickly spotted in the vicinity that some of them may also have been hit.

[A large oil refinery adjacent to the rail yards was set ablaze, the British radio said in a broadcast recorded in the United States. The Berlin radio asserted, without allied confirmation, that 52 American bombers were shot down.]

Ploesti's oil fields were hit last Aug. 1 by Liberators of the United States 9th air force, then stationed in the middle east, in a spectacular and costly low level raid. Out of 177 bombers which made a round trip of about 2,400 miles, more than 20 per cent were lost.

Today's assault followed within 24 hours of the first American blow of the war at Bucharest, Rumania's capital 30 miles to the south.

Down 49 German Planes.

Considerable damage was inflicted yesterday on Bucharest railway yards, despite the efforts of 200 German fighter planes to intercept and divert the raiders, an allied spokesman said.

Reports indicated that bomber gunners destroyed at least 46 enemy planes. Escorting Lightning and Thunderbolt pilots claimed three more. The allied Mediterranean air force lost 12 planes during the day, some of them at Bucharest.

[The Berlin war bulletin asserted that 44 allied planes were downed by German and Rumanian fighters during the Bucharest attack.]

Bucharest, in addition to being an important transit point for the Balkans, stores great quantities of oil from the Ploesti fields.

Battle Lull in Italy.

Ground fighting in Italy remained of a minor character. Italian troops of the allied 5th army, who occupied Mount Marrone north of Cassino a few days ago, inflicted casualties on a Nazi force that attempted to retake the height yesterday.

Two more German shells fell in an allied hospital area on the Anzio beachhead on Monday, causing another death.

ASK 'PRESSURE' TO FORCE 4-F'S INTO WAR JOBS

House Group Backs Labor Squad Law.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—The house military affairs committee tonight called upon man power officials to put new pressure on 4-F registrants to get into essential war work, and at the same time asked Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey to propose legislation to implement the program.

Such legislation, members said, would include the authority to draft into army labor battalions physically unfit draft age men who are not in essential jobs. This program has previously been indorsed by a subgroup of the military committee.

Call for "Essential" List.

Chairman May [D., Ky.], after an all day committee meeting with Gen. Hershey, announced the group was recommending:

1. That selective service obtain from the war man power commission a list of activities considered so essential to the war as to justify occupational deferments for 4-F registrants and thus exempt them from possible service in labor battalions.

2. That WMC also furnish selective service a list of man power shortage areas, together with the names of specific industries and plants requiring more workers.

Notify Draft Boards.

3. That all 4-Fs between the ages of 18 and 26, who don't have and can't find essential jobs, notify their local draft boards at once of their willingness to accept such jobs when and where they are needed.

4. That Hershey submit suggestions for legislation to implement the program.

The committee reported its investigations have shown that in many parts of the country there are industrial man power shortages and at the same time large numbers of 4-Fs who could fill the needs.

May explained today's proposals were made after committee conferences with war and navy officials as well as Hershey. Among those consulted, he added, were War Secretary Stimson and Undersecretary Patterson, Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, and Assistant Secretary of Navy Ralph Bard.

USE OF BUTANE IN ACTORS' CARS BRINGS CHARGES

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5 (AP).—Charged with installing equipment in automobiles to permit use of unrationed butane gas instead of gasoline as fuel, Lawrence W. Zonker faced criminal informations today on 10 counts of violating war production board regulations.

James E. Harrington, chief of the war frauds unit of the department of justice here, said Zonkers sold the equipment for as high as $1,000 per automobile to more than 40 motion picture actors and other wealthy Los Angeles citizens.

These included, Harrington said, Gary Cooper, Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, L. B. Mayer, Producer William Goetz, Barbara Hutton, Cary Grant, and Director Henry Hathaway, and to several studios and other business concerns.

He is charged specifically with selling butane tanks, regulators, and mixers, made of strategic materials, without permission of the war production board and without keeping required records.

MacARTHUR'S BASE SILENT ON WISCONSIN VOTE

ALLIED HDQ., Southwest Pacific, April 6 [Thursday]—(AP).—No comment was available today at general headquarters on the outcome of the Wisconsin Republican Presidential primaries. Incomplete, unofficials returns as published by the local press showed Gov. Dewey leading, with Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen second, Gen. MacArthur third, and Wendell Willkie fourth.

WILLS HER HUSBAND $1 TO BUY A ROPE AND HANG HIMSELF

Trenton, N. J., April 5 [Special].—Tho she died March 14, Mrs. Mary Cress Kubery had the last word today in a marital dispute. In her will, offered for probate, Mrs. Kubery left $2 to her husband—with the provision that he use half of it to buy a rope with which to hang himself. The bequest read:

"Due to the fact that my husband, August Kubery, has been very mean and cruel to me during my lifetime, I bequeath to him the sum of $2 on the following condition: That he use $1 of same to purchase a rope to hang himself."

The bulk of the estate was bequeathed to a son in military service.

WIFE PLEDGES LIFE TO REPAY MATE'S THEFTS

A wife assured a judge that she and her husband would devote the rest of their lives to making restitution of embezzled funds yesterday and won probation for a clerk accused of taking more than $7,000 of his company's war bond funds.

"You're one wife in a million," commented the court. He placed the husband on probation for five years, and approved a $30 minimum monthly payment.

The defendant was Arthur E. Tingstrom, 34, of 2815 Neva av., who pleaded guilty before Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court to a charge of embezzlement. His wife, Judith, stood at his side.

Tingstrom, who appropriated the money from the Kraft Cheese company, told the court that slightly less than $1,000 had been paid back, but that he was working in a war plant and paying as fast as he could.

"We'll spend the rest of our lives to repay that money, your honor," Mrs. Tingstrom said.

Thompson's Hoard Grows to $1,598,250

The hoarded estate of the late William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, was increased by $112,000 yesterday with the opening of a third safety deposit box, this one in the First National bank.

Last week two boxes in the American National Bank and Trust company yielded $1,466,250 in cash, and $20,000 in securities. Yesterday's find, all in bonds, boosted the ex-mayor's once concealed fortune to $1,598,250. Two more boxes, both in the National Boulevard bank, yet remain to be opened.

Lawyer Bars Press.

James W. Breen, Thompson family attorney, who originally estimated the estate at approximately $150,000, presided at the box opening in the First National bank. He ordered newspaper men barred [altho he later relented to allow cameramen to take pictures], and Homer Livingston, a lawyer for the First National bank, obeyed by slamming the vault door in the newspaper men's faces.

Breen also ordered various state officials not to disclose the contents of the box, but they indicated they were not taking orders from him, and later Atty. Gen. Barrett gave out a detailed list of the bonds found.

Among the officials present were Daniel J. Buckley, assistant attorney general; Miss Mary Sullivan of his office; State Treasurer Stratton and his chief examiner, James X. Galbaugh; Andrew Fasseas and Nate Bernberg, representing Probate Clerk Frank Lyman, and John C. Moynihan of the internal revenue bureau.

List of Bonds Found.

These were the principal bonds listed: 25 $1,000 bonds of the New York State railway, nine $1,000 bonds of Seattle Lighting company, three $1,000 bonds of Utica Electric Light company, 10 $1,000 bonds of the Indiana and Michigan Electric company, three $1,000 bonds of the People's Gas Light and Coke company, three $1,000 bonds of Missouri Edison Electric company, six $1,000 bonds of Edison Electric Company of New Orleans, seven $1,000 bonds of the Atlanta Gas and Light company.

Five $1,000 bonds of Michigan State Telephone company, four $1,000 bonds of the Bay of Quinte Railway company, three $1,000 bonds of the Lexington and Boston Street railway, three $1,000 bonds of the Hamilton Electric Light and Cataract company, and three $1,000 bonds of the Woburn Light, Heat and Power company.

There were a number of single $1,000 bonds of other utility companies, and also a number of $100 and $500 bonds. In addition there were five $1,000 Liberty bonds of 1917.

Last Opening Saturday.

One item the box did not yield was a will. Breen has said one exists. He also has indicated more money might be found. Last hopes of finding the will or additional cash depend upon the two boxes at the National Boulevard bank. They will be opened Saturday.

Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, secret service chief in Chicago, said the government expects to trace serial numbers on a quantity of gold thousand dollar certificates found in the $1,466,250 yield. Some he said, were minted and in use during the prohibition era.

BRITAIN CUTS PHONE SERVICE TO IRELAND; TIGHTENS MAIL CURB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—The latest measure to prevent possible leakage of vital information, following the ban on travel from Britain to and from Ireland, imposed March 30 for "military reasons," was the suspension today of public telephone service between Great Britain and all parts of Ireland.

Additional restrictions concerning overseas mail services also were announced. A censorship permit now is required for mail from Great Britain and the Isle of Man for members of military forces, as well as civilians in Northern Ireland and Gibraltar. Also covered by the rule are photographs, stamps, most kinds of printed matter, and all goods and commodities.

Censorship permits have been granted many leading stores and the public has been warned that articles should be sent exclusively thru such dealers.

ASKS OMISSION OF NAME AT CHICAGO CONVENTION

DEWEY'S VOTE IS ABOUT 41 PCT. OF G. O. P. TOTAL

Milwaukee, Wis., April 5 [Special].—Altho Gov. Dewey of New York apparently had won 18 of Wisconsin's 24 Republican national convention delegates in yesterday's Presidential preferential primary, an analysis of later returns tonight indicated that his candidates polled only about 41 per cent of the popular vote.

Dewey had 15 delegates pledged outright to him and claimed three uninstructed delegates friendly to his cause. Gen. MacArthur had three, Lt. Comdr. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, had three, and Wendell Willkie, the only one of the four to campaign in the state, had none.

However, the popular vote cast for the four Republican delegates at large did not indicate as complete a victory for Dewey as did the simple counting of delegates.

Dewey Men Got 41 Per Cent.

This comparison showed that Dewey men received approximately 41 per cent of the G. O. P. popular vote; MacArthur men, 23 per cent; Stassen men, 20 per cent, and Willkie men, 16 per cent.

Latest but still incomplete returns—2,681 precincts out of 3,706—showed that Dewey's three delegates at large polled an average of 113,044 votes; the four for MacArthur averaged 63,812; the four for Stassen, 54,166, and Willkie's four averaged 43,981.

Three of the four delegates at large elected by Republicans were Dewey men. They are Secretary of State Zimmerman, David I. Hammergren, and Edward F. Hilker. The fourth place was taken by a MacArthur man, John P. Hoehler.

In addition to the delegates at large, Republicans elected 20 district delegates, two from each of the state's 10 districts. Democrats elected six delegates at large and 20 district delegates.

Dewey Men Well Known.

In the Republican race the Dewey candidates easily were the best known, because most of them are members of the state senate and the assembly. The names of many of them will be before the voters again this fall and have often been on the ballot before.

Zimmerman, former governor, who leads the G. O. P. delegate at large ticket, has been in Wisconsin politics for many years and has been known as a successful vote getter for more than two decades.

The vote analysis also showed that the Republican vote ran ahead of the Democratic. There were two slates of Democratic delegates, one pledged to President Roosevelt and the other running under the designation "Stop Politics and Win the War." The Roosevelt slate won.

762,921 Republican Votes.

The 15 G.O.P. candidates for delegate at large polled 762,921 votes in returns from 2,681 precincts. Since each voter presumably voted for four candidates, the Republican vote divided by four, showed the G.O.P. vote in these Tells Omaha He Is Asking Friends to Desist.

Omaha, Neb., April 5 (AP).—Wendell Willkie gave up tonight.

The man they said never knew when to quit walked out of the race for the Republican Presidential nomination ar admittedly beaten man—smashed in a Wisconsin primary that gave him not a single delegate but went overwhelmingly for Gov. Dewey of New York.

Speaking before an audience originally invited to hear him as a Presidential candidate, Willkie said:

"It is obvious that I cannot be nominated. I therefore am asking my friends to desist from any activity toward that end and not to present my name at the convention."

Simultaneously Willkie's managers announced that he is canceling future campaign trips, including a speech at Sioux City, Ia., tomorrow night, and a visit to Michigan. He is going to New York.

Gets the News Early.

Altho Willkie knew early this morning in Norfolk, Neb., that he had taken a terrific beating in Wisconsin—he failed to capture a single delegate—he nevertheless made two scheduled speeches during the day without referring to his defeat.

When he came down for breakfast in the hotel at Norfolk, reporters crowded around him. He made some off the record comments on why he thought he lost, but there was no rancor in his voice.

He walked out to the street toward his automobile caravan. He seemed oblivious to preparations being made for the departure.

Two reporters pressed him further for comment on the Wisconsin race. He smiled and said: "I appreciate your problem, but I have nothing to say now."

Speaks from Truck.

Willkie was in character as he spoke from the back of a farm truck to a crowd at West Point. He stood with his hands in his overcoat pockets, delivering his speech with the same emphasis on major points he stressed thruout his campaign in Nebraska.

His second speech was at Fremont. There he expressed the hope that the Republican party would lead in bringing coöperation among nations of the world.

When he arrived on the stage of the Omaha city auditorium, Willkie was pushing back the heavy black hair from his forehead and mopping his face with his handkerchief—bowing off a national stage he hit four years ago at Philadelphia when he took the Republican convention by storm to become the party's Presidential nominee.

Wife Is with Him.

His wife was on the platform with him. So were others who had followed him thru the barnstorming campaign.

"It has been my conviction," Willkie began, "that no Republican could be nominated for President unless he received at the convention the votes of some of the major midwestern states. For it is in this section of the country that the Republican party has had its greatest resurgence.

"Therefore, I quite deliberately entered the Wisconsin primary to test whether the Republican voters of the state would support me personally and in the advocacy of every sacrifice and cost necessary to winning and shortening the war and in the advocacy of tangible, effective economic and political coöperation among the nations of the world for the preservation of the peace and the rebuilding of humanity.

Admits He Can't Win.

"The result of the primary is naturally disappointing, and doubly so since the delegate who led at the polls is known as one active in organizations such as the America First, opposed to the beliefs which I entertain.

"As I have said many times, this country desperately needs new leadership. It is obvious now that I cannot be nominated. I therefore am asking my friends to desist from any activity toward that end and not to present my name at the convention.

"I earnestly hope that the Republican convention will nominate a candidate and write a platform which really represents the views which I have advocated and which I believe are shared by millions of Americans. I shall continue to work for these principles and policies for which I have fought during the last five years."

No Hint as to Future.

Then Willkie admitted he knew he could not be nominated—and he quit.

Nor did he, in quitting, commit himself to support the Republican nominee—whoever he may be.

Many of the 3,000 persons who heard Willkie announce he was quitting the race applauded vigorously at the end of his statement. The disclosure was unexpected, and the crowd was unprepared for it.

There were puzzled expressions on the faces of the men and women who walked out of the city auditorium.

WISCONSIN VOTE TERMED VERDICT OF MIDDLE WEST

Springfield, Ill., April 5 (AP).—Gov. Green tonight said that Wisconsin voters, in defeating Wendell L. Willkie's delegates, had "accurately expressed the views of the middle west," and United States Sen. Brooks termed it "good news."

In commenting on Willkie's withdrawal from the Presidential race, Green said:

"The people of Wisconsin have accurately expressed the views of the middle west, and I'll agree with Mr. Willkie in saying that no Republican may be elected President without the middle west. Mr. Willkie has the opportunity to aid in selecting the best man to bring about the elimination of the New Deal burocrats."

Sen. Brooks confined his comment to one sentence: "It's good news; the people have spoken in no uncertain terms."

Both men were here to speak at a Sangamon county Republican rally.

Asserts Dewey Pleased at Support in Maryland

Baltimore, Md., April 5 (AP).—Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore disclosed tonight he conferred with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in New York yesterday at Dewey's invitation and said the New York governor was "very pleased" with assurances he had Maryland's support for the party's Presidential nomination.

[In Albany, Dewey's office said he was "unavailable" for comment on McKeldin's statement.]

WILLKIE FLOP IN WISCONSIN STIRS CAPITAL

New Deal Is Jolted by Decisive Vote.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—The repercussions of the Wendell Willkie debacle in the Wisconsin primary rattled the windows of political Washington today.

Observers here were not surprised at Willkie's announcement last night of withdrawal from the Republican Presidential race, in view of his failure to win a single Wisconsin delegate in a contest he himself had said would be the test of his popular support.

Practically the only question left unanswered by his announcement was whether he would support actively the choice of the Republican convention in June. Political Washington also speculated on what Willkie strength—if any—might go over to Gov. Bricker of Ohio, Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, or other Republican aspirants.

Stassen Backers Hopeful.

Supporters of Stassen, who won a few of the Wisconsin delegates, expressed belief privately that many Willkie followers might switch to him. Gov. Dewey was silent as usual.

The overwhelming Wisconsin vote for delegates committed to Gov. Dewey despite his disavowal of a campaign in his behalf was regarded by most Republicans as a harbinger of the nomination of the New York governor in Chicago next June, possibly on the first ballot of the Republican national convention.

"Global" View Indicated.

Implications of even larger significance were read into the Wisconsin returns by many Democrats as well as Republicans. The devastating repudiation of Willkie, who ranks with President Roosevelt as leader of pre-war interventionists and post-war internationalists, was accepted as an indication that the midwest, at least, is cold to the plans to project the United States into a world state with an international police force and into other schemes to dissipate American independence and resources for the benefit of "one world."

Straws in the political winds give reason to believe that the internationalists will fare no better in Illinois, which Willkie did not dare to invade, in his native Indiana, in Michigan, in Ohio, in Iowa, and in the primary Tuesday in Nebraska where tonight Willkie sang his swan song. And without the support of the midwest no man can hope to be elected President next November.

Other Straws Tallied.

Also noted by the capital politicians were other straws, such as the election of Dewey delegates in three districts in Missouri and the election of a Republican mayor of Tulsa, Okla., for the first time in 16 years, the Republicans winning on a straight anti-New Deal platform.

By the same token, the Wisconsin results were received in Washington as particularly bad news for Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term candidacy. With Willkie's brand of internationalism signally repudiated in a typical midwestern constituency the suggestion was heard in many quarters that Mr. Roosevelt's brand could not be expected to fare any better in that region.

That would be sufficient to doom the fourth term candidate to defeat in November, wherefore an increasing number of Democrats believe that Mr. Roosevelt eventually will decline to run.

White House Gloomy.

The news from Wisconsin cast a shadow of gloom over the White House. The President was incommunicado and none of his entourage would comment for publication, tho privately there was plenty of admission that there was nothing in the returns to cheer a New Dealer.

There were several reasons for the gloom prevailing not only at the White House but at Democratic national headquarters. One was the collapse of the candidacy of Willkie, the Republican candidate most favored by the Democrats in the belief he would be easiest to beat. Another was the tremendous boost given to the movement to draft Dewey, whom Democratic leaders make no bones of fearing more than any other Republican.

Still another was the analysis of the Wisconsin returns, indicating that if the Democrats voted in the Republican primary they disregarded appeals of the Democratic hierarchy to vote for Willkie and recorded themselves largely for Dewey and Gen. MacArthur, both of whom are anathema politically to the New Dealers.

Adler Press Snubbed.

Incidentally, the returns disclosed that snowed under along with Willkie was the Adler press, which sought to influence Progressives to go into the Republican primary and vote for Wall street's barefoot boy.

"The primary results in Wisconsin," said Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.], "ought to convince the internationalists that the people are opposed to their visionary schemes for making the world over at one fell swoop and destroying America in the process. The outcome is no surprise to me or to any one else familiar with the temper of the American people. Nationalism is as strong today as it ever was, and is getting stronger. Just wait till the troops get home and, as I recently told Henry Luce [publisher of the Time-Life-Fortune magazine axis], they will make me look like an internationalist in comparison.

"The shouters for a fourth term must see the handwriting on the wall as they read the Wisconsin returns. The internationalists are doomed to lose the 1944 election, whether Republicans or Democrats. I believe more strongly than ever that the President, facing certain defeat, will not run.

Sen. Nye (R., D.) took a similar view and added:

"Maybe Willkie will come along now and help the campaign in November. He certainly is eliminated as a candidate for the nomination in the Republican party at least. Dewey clearly has the inside track and possibly will be nominated in the first ballot."

Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], outstanding exponent in congress of Willkie internationalism, declined to comment on the Willkie smashup.

Inevitable, Taft Says.

"Mr. Willkie has apparently recognized the inevitable," said Sen. Taft [R., O.]. "It is unfortunate he allowed his natural disappointment to lead him to attack Republicans who disagree with him on foreign policy. Nevertheless, his withdrawal will produce a greater unity of all Republicans behind the principles declared at Mackinac."

Taft's reference apparently was to the passage in Willkie's withdrawal speech saying it was "doubly" disappointing to him that the delegate who led at the polls is "known as one active in organizations such as the America First, opposed to the principles which I entertain."

Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.] said Willkie's withdrawal "is an unselfish and patriotic act to promote the unity and success of the Republican party and help in the defeat of the New Deal, the fourth term, and the Washington burocrats."

Statement Called Courageous.

Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip of the senate, called Willkie's statement "courageous," and added:

"If that is his final decision, and his wish, I hope that he will stay right in there slugging it out for the Republican cause, and help keep the party unified, for this is the most important election in all the 167 years of the life of this republic. The only way we can preserve our American economy is to change administrations in the November election."

Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] expressed surprise. He called Willkie's announcement "a pretty good statement."

Barkley Noncommittal.

Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, refrained from comment, since it's a matter "outside my party." Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], a supporter of Gen. MacArthur, had no comment at this time.

Old time politicians recall no parallel to the collapse of the candidacy for President of a man like Willkie occupying the position of titular leader of a party.

Even William Jennings Bryan, of whom Willkie has been called a Wall street edition, never squeaked out at the beginning of a campaign as did Willkie in Wisconsin.

New Political Low.

To campaign a state for two weeks as the only candidate on the scene and with his leading rival discouraging the activities of supporters and then fail to win a single delegate was pronounced a new low in political annals.

Willkie has not succeeded in obtaining a single pledged delegate among those selected to date. His supporters, however, claimed a minimum of 10, including six in New Hampshire, one in New Mexico, and at least three in New York. These claimed delegates, being unpledged, are, of course, free to vote for any other man they choose.

Dewey Backers Claim 132.

Willkie also was scheduled definitely to obtain Oregon's 15 votes, since he was the only candidate entered for the May 19 primary.

A total of 23 delegates selected thus far are pledged to Dewey, and his backers claim the support of 109 others, for a grand total of 132. It takes 530 to obtain the nomination.

Inquiry today disclosed that even before the Wisconsin primary Willkie was slipping even in the territory where he is counted strongest—New England. The Willkie men in that region have begun to take to the woods. As a result it now appears that the majority of the Massachusetts delegation will be committed to Dewey. Similar backsliding is reported in other New England states.

EXPECT DEWEY TO WIN OREGON BY WRITE-INS

Portland, Ore., April 5 [Special].—Altho Wendell Willkie is the only Republican in the race for Oregon's 15 delegates to the Republican national convention, the G. O. P. delegation will be directed to vote for Gov. Dewey, supporters of the New Yorker predicted here tonight. Deadline for entry of candidates was Tuesday, with only Willkie and Roosevelt entered.

Secretary of State Robert Farrell ruled today that when Willkie's withdrawal is made official by Willkie in Oregon, voters then will be free to write in their choice for the Republican nomination in the state primaries May 19.

Dewey supporters, who at the last moment Tuesday decided not to file Dewey's name, said they will make a campaign for Dewey "write-ins." Political leaders among the Republicans said that there would be many "write-ins" for Gen. MacArthur also, but that since there is not and has not been a MacArthur organization in the state, that Dewey probably will lead. This would mean 15 more votes for Dewey since the state primary law provides the delegates must record their votes for the choice expressed in the primary.

Watson Raps Gov. Green for 'Sidetracking' Him

Deneen Watson, internationalist candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, last night continued his radio splurge of charges against regular G. O. P. organization leaders. He attacked Gov. Green, National Committeeman Werner Schroeder, and Richard J. Lyons, slate candidate for senator. Watson complained that he and some others who aided Green against Lyons in the 1940 gubernatorial primary have been side-tracked.

ASSERTS COLONIAL AID LACKING FROM ATLANTIC CHARTER

An important post-war issue which is not touched upon by the Atlantic Charter is the problem of self-government for colonial peoples, Sundar Joshi, lecturer on comparative religion, told an audience in the Art institute last night.

He delivered the first of a series of 10 lectures under the sponsorship of the University college, University of Chicago, on "Architects of the Future; Post-War Plans."

"The statement has been made," he said, "that freedom must be earned; but how are these people to earn it? Some opportunity must be given them."

OMIT X FOR DAY FROM SOME OF SAMPLE BALLOTS

John T. Dempsey, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, admitted yesterday he is overlooking the action of several ward committeemen in breaking the slate by not supporting Rep. Stephen A. Day for congressman at large.

"A few of the committeemen felt that it would not help them in their own battles for reëlection to use sample ballots marked for Day," Dempsey said. "This is the case in about 200 of the 4,600 precincts of Cook county. Day will win."

In some wards Day sample ballots are being used in some precincts but not in others.

Travelog

Since earliest records, man has been a partaker of alcoholic beverages made from fruits or grains, or from other forms of vegetable matter . . . all products of nature. And, it seems that a nation's alcoholic beverage is usually made from products which it raises in greatest abundance.

In the Scandinavian countries, the national beverage is AQUAVIT, made from grain or from potatoes. Since the distillation is neutral in taste, it is flavored with caraway seeds. It has plenty of power.

And then, to the East, lies Russia, the home of amazingly intrepid soldiers, and equally "intrepid" VODKA. My impression was that it too was made from potatoes, but I find that it is made from wheat, because Russia is, normally, one of the world's largest producers of that grain; wheat is cheaper. Their VODKA is usually consumed at a considerably higher proof than the alcoholic beverages of peoples living to the West of them. The Russians can take it. Perhaps the climate has something to do with it. It seems, with few exceptions, that the colder the climate, the "hotter" the liquor. VODKA is neutral in taste; no flavoring is added, and it, like AQUAVIT, is not aged.

Neighboring our country, we find RUM the prevailing drink in the West Indies. RUM, an alcoholic distillate from the fermented juice of sugar cane, or molasses, has a distinctive flavor and is aged.

In our own country, our earliest alcoholic distillation was made from corn or maize. This grain, you will recall, was introduced by the Indians to the English colonists. And later, when German settlers came to Pennsylvania, their whiskey was made from surplus rye. So our American whiskies are known as BOURBON, and RYE. Since Canadians are very much the same as we, their whiskies are quite similar—with a leaning toward RYE.

Now, we go South of the Rio Grande, to Mexico, and there we find a completely different raw material used in making Mexico's national alcoholic drink—TEQUILA. It is inexpensive, and possesses a fiery potency. It is as sharp as the tines on a cactus plant, and TEQUILA is actually made from a variety of cactus—same family as the century plant. This plant bursts into bloom when it is three years old, at which time there is a lot of sap in the base. This sap is tapped, and it ferments in about ten days. The resultant product is called PULQUE. It has a heavy flavor and looks like sour milk. TEQUILA is made by distilling PULQUE.

And so ends our little travelog. Maybe we will have another one some day soon. We mustn't travel too much these days.

DEWEY LEADING CONTENDER IN NEBRASKA RACE

Strong Even Tho Name Is Not on Ballot.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., April 5.—Wendell Willkie's withdrawal as a Presidential candidate following collapse of his Wisconsin campaign, led some Republican chiefs here to declare it might stimulate a movement to write in the name of Gov. Dewey of New York in Nebraska's Presidential preference primary next Tuesday.

Willkie's name will remain on the ballots in the preference primary. The only other entry is Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota. The preference vote means little, however, as it is not binding by law. Dewey's name is not entered, but many voters are expected to write it in on the blank line on the ballot.

In the fight over delegates to the national convention in Chicago June 26, Willkie has no slate entered. There are two slates, one of them a Stassen slate. This is pledged to vote for the candidate getting the highest preference vote. It is a hodge-podge of factions.

One Slate Not Bound.

The other slate, promoted by ex-Gov. Sam McKelvie, is not to be bound by the preferential vote. It is friendly to Gov. Dwight Griswold as a favorite son. This slate plans to remain independent until the national convention when it can work for the candidate most acceptable to the electorate. Leaders say that tho Griswold is the favorite of this slate, its second choice undoubtedly is Dewey.

Before Willkie's withdrawal, prevailing opinion at the state capital was that a majority of the 15 delegates to be elected Tuesday would be friendly to, tho not instructed, for Dewey.

Chris Abbott, western Nebraska cattleman who heads the Stassen slate of delegates-at-large, before Willkie's withdrawal today said that after the primary a draft Dewey movement would be started in Nebraska. Abbott has been urging Nebraskans to vote for Stassen as against Willkie.

Dewey Draft Year Old.

More than a year ago a movement to draft Dewey took shape here and he has been growing in popular sentiment in this state as elsewhere. A few weeks ago there was talk of stimulating a move for the writing in of Dewey's name in the preference vote. This fell thru after Dewey asked Wisconsin delegates who had filed over his name to withdraw their petitions.

Before Willkie tossed in the sponge, many politicians thought he might be beaten for the preference vote by Stassen, because many Dewey, MacArthur, and Bricker adherents might have voted for Stassen to beat Willkie.

Wisconsin's results caused a stir here today. Statehouse circles showed no surprise over Dewey's triumph, but registered astonishment over the extent of Willkie's defeat in trailing in fourth place. Nebraska often follows the trend of Wisconsin in primaries, as it did four years ago when Dewey beat Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] in Wisconsin, and in statehouse circles opinion was expressed, before Willkie withdrew, that Wisconsin's results meant his political collapse in Nebraska Tuesday.

Santa Monica, Cal., April 5 (AP).—Film Actress Susan Peters was resting comfortably today, her physician reported, following an abdominal operation. The surgery was performed yesterday at Santa Monica hospital. Dr. N. E. Sweeley said Miss Peters may not be able to resume her screen work for several weeks.

FLYNN PREDICTS WITHDRAWAL OF ROOSEVELT NEXT

New York, April 5 [Special].—John T. Flynn, author, economist, and former head of the New York chapter of America First, tonight characterized Wendell L. Willkie's overwhelming defeat in the Wisconsin Republican primary as the victory of American good sense over "false and pretentious nonsense" advocated by "world evangelists."

Willkie's subsequent withdrawal from the race as a Republican Presidential nominee is soon to be followed "by the withdrawal of Mr. Roosevelt himself," Flynn predicted.

"The Willkie result in Wisconsin does not surprise me," Flynn said. "No man who has been around this country and knows the minds of the people could be in doubt that the American people are utterly and completely fed up with all the false and pretentious nonsense of these world evangelists like Wendell Willkie. I now predict that the next one to withdraw will be Mr. Roosevelt himself."

SAY TULSA G.O.P. VICTORY SIGN OF FALL LANDSLIDE

Tulsa, Okla., April 5 [Special].—Tulsa's first complete Republican city administration since 1928 today hailed its victory yesterday as a prophecy of a repetition of the Hoover landslide of 16 years ago.

Republican leaders pitched their campaign exclusively on the New Deal issue as part of the drive to place anti-New Deal candidates in county, state, and national posts in the summer and fall elections.

Exceed Party Registrations.

Only 13,411 Republicans are registered in the city but anti-New Deal sentiment gave Olney F. Flynn, Republican mayoralty candidate, 15,003 votes to Mayor C. H. Veale's 10,383. Registered Democrats number 34,983. Flynn ran well ahead of his ticket but all of the other Republican winners except one polled more votes than the total of the party's registered vote in the city.

Flynn, an oil man, is the partner of Lt. Col. Russell Cobb, only Republican city office holder in recent years.

Beat Veteran Democrats.

Flynn's father was Dennis T. Flynn, delegate to congress as a Republican in Oklahoma territorial days, but this was the younger Flynn's first venture into politics. His opponent is an electrical contractor who was seeking his third term as mayor.

Flynn's five running mates, all making their first races, were elected over veteran Democratic office holders. Also elected were water, street, police, and finance commissioners, and city auditor.

Gov. Bricker to Address Union League Tomorrow

Gov. Bricker of Ohio, an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for President, will address a dinner meeting of the Union League club tomorrow night. His subject will be "Liberty and Responsibility." Chicago supporters of Bricker said his chances soared as a result of Wendell Willkie's admission of complete defeat in pre-convention trials.

Mrs. Willkie Relieved; Wants 'Peace and Quiet'

Omaha, Neb., April 5 (AP).—Mrs. Wendell Willkie's attitude was one of relief tonight when her husband announced he was withdrawing as a Republican Presidential candidate. Friends said Mrs. Willkie declared all she wanted for herself and her husband was "peace and quiet." She had accompanied her husband during his campaign.

WITNESS 'TOO BUSY,' WOMAN IS FREED IN 'MICKEY FINN' CASE

Mrs. Bobbie Lawson.

Grand larceny charges against Mrs. Bobbie Caroline Lawson, 22, alias Bobbie Allen, of 4853 Magnolia av., were dismissed by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court yesterday when William McEntee, New York business man who had accused her of the knock-out drop theft of his $8,900 ring, a $150 watch and $265 in cash in a loop hotel, failed to appear as prosecuting witness.

Judge Daly told Mrs. Lawson that "you have been saved by the bell quite often, but some day your luck will run out." He also dismissed a disorderly conduct charge against her husband, George, 41.

Assistant State's Atty. Maurice Mettel told the court that McEntee had written that he was too busy with war work to come to Chicago. Mettel said Mrs. Lawson was cleared of a similar charge last November, and is now at liberty under a $3,500 bond pending her appearance in Springfield on a federal charge of larceny.

BAILEY URGES A BYRD-FARLEY TICKET IN FALL

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Sen. Bailey [D., N. C.] expressed doubt tonight that President Roosevelt would seek a fourth term and proposed a Byrd-Farley ticket for the November election.

The veteran North Carolina Democrat suggested James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman, as a "fine running mate" for Sen. Byrd [D., Va.].

"I seriously question whether President Roosevelt will seek a fourth term," Bailey told newsmen. "I think most of the delegates probably will be for him, but I question whether he will run."

Asked about a letter he wrote John U. Barr, chairman of the Byrd-for-President movement, New Orleans, La., asserting his support for Byrd for "the nomination for President with unreserved confidence," Bailey said:

"I wrote that letter. I meant it. I'll stand by it."

WILLKIE DEFEAT IS BIG NEWS IN LONDON PAPERS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 6 [Thursday].—British newspapers today gave a big play to Wendell Willkie's overwhelming defeat in Wisconsin. The United States army forces' paper, Stars and Stripes, put the news on its front page. A three line, one column head in Stars and Stripes announced: "Willkie gets bad defeat in test vote."

The Daily Mail, in a three sentence front page announcement, said: "Dewey Up on Willkie — 15 Seats to 0." This news was considered unimportant by the paper's New York correspondent.

Back Page in Express.

He sent a long report on Willkie's Omaha speech which begins at the top of the front page with a four line announcement: "Willkie: I Don't Blame the British" followed by a subhead: "United States Policy Muddle."

The Daily Express put the story of Willkie's defeat on the back page and announced the result of the Wisconsin election for all the candidates. The Daily Telegraph considered the news worth a two column spread on the back page under the head: "Election Setback for Mr. Wendell Willkie" and in equally prominent type announced: "Mr. Dewey's Sweeping Win in a Primary Contest."

Speech Is Reviewed.

Similar space was given the election in the News Chronicle: "Mr. Willkie's Hopes Dashed." It headlined a half column story. The Labor organ, the Daily Herald, devoted half a column under the headline "Disastrous Defeat for Willkie." But the story also contained Willkie's explanation of the British distrust of American motives.

precincts to have been approximately 190,000.

In the same number of precincts, 13 Democratic candidates for delegate at large polled 779,499 votes. This number divided by six—since there were six Democratic candidates for delegate at large—indicates the Democratic vote to have been approximately 129,000.

The apparent winners as Republican district delegates were:

First district: Dewey, George B. Cady, MacArthur, Grant R. Ritter.

Second district: Dewey, Arthur L. May, Dewey, Gavin M. McKerrow.

Third district: Dewey, Donald C. McDowell, Stassen, Helmar R. Lewis.

Fourth district: Dewey, Richard M. Rice and Mrs. Blanch Hogue.

Fifth district: Dewey, State Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, MacArthur, Stanley Johnston.

Sixth district: Stassen, William Van Pelt and John Stolverson.

Eighth district: Dewey, Orin Angwall and Lloyd Watson.

Ninth district: Dewey, Norris Kellman and Willis Donelly, who is for Dewey but ran "uninstructed."

Tenth district: Dewey, Ernest Heden and Walt Chilsen, editor of the Merrill Daily Herald, who ran "against Willkie" but is for Dewey.

Zimmerman Not Surprised.

Willkie's overwhelming defeat was no surprise to Zimmerman, for he had predicted that the Wall streeter's vote would be extremely light.

"This proves the contention of Abraham Lincoln that you can't fool all the people all of the time," he said. "The voters of Wisconsin saw thru Willkie all the time. They knew he was playing tweedle dum to Mr. Roosevelt's tweedle dee, and they are also thru with the President. This indicates conclusively not only that Gov. Dewey will be drafted but that he already has been drafted."

Wisconsin newspapers which had supported Willkie today were silent or alibing for his blistering defeat. Before it learned that Willkie had quit, the Wisconsin State Journal at Madison declared it had "never been so proud of its candidate" but complained that he had lost the election because he was pitted against the field.

". . . the Field Won."

The Journal, which loaned its associate editor to the Willkie for President committee to handle Willkie publicity in the Badger state, had predicted that its candidate would win 18 convention delegates. The paper summed up his defeat in an editorial today which said in part:

"Wendell Willkie and the people who believe in him and what he says, had hoped to carry enough Wisconsin delegates to give him a potent voice of public support at the Chicago convention in June. Madison and Dane county supported that hope magnificiently. Elsewhere in the state there were too many undercurrents of anti-Willkie feeling. It was Willkie against the field—and the field won.

"It is too early to forecast what this will mean at the convention and later in November. Perhaps, if this is a Republican year, this ground swell will sweep into office any old candidate who happens along, even into the Presidency.

Requires a Liberal.

"We still do not think so. We think that to unseat the most astute and successful politician this country has ever seen will require a liberal Republican candidate who stands for the things for which Wendell Willkie stands. Never has the State Journal been so proud of its candidate, win, lose, or draw, as it has of Mr. Willkie."

William T. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times of Madison, today made no editorial comment on Willkie's defeat. When in the Badger state, Willkie paid a personal visit to Evjue, a leader in the Progressive party movement. Evjue reciprocated by editorializing that liberals and Progressives should endorse the Wall street spokesman.

Benson Race Collapsing, Rival Stratton Contends

State Treasurer William G. Stratton, independent candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state, last night said in a statement that the campaign of his regular organization opponent, Arnold P. Benson, "is in a virtual state of collapse." Stratton said he based his claim on fresh reports from all parts of Illinois, including Peoria, where Mayor E. N. Woodruff indorsed him.

ORDER TO DEPORT BROWDER'S WIFE REVOKED BY U.S.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—A 1940 order for deportation of Mrs. Raissa Berkman Browder, Russian born wife of the American Communist leader, Earl Browder, was withdrawn today by the board of immigration appeals.

Mrs. Browder was able at a recent hearing, her third, to "dissipate the doubts" the board had previously entertained concerning her testimony that she was not a Communist, it was explained.

Called Move for "Unity."

The withdrawal of the order marked the windup of cases which were brought against both Browder and his wife at a time when Russia was regarded as a partner of Germany. Browder was convicted of passport fraud and was sentenced to four years imprisonment. He was pardoned by President Roosevelt in May, 1942, after serving 14 months during which the United States and Russia became war allies.

Mr. Roosevelt gave as one reason for the pardon that it would promote "national unity."

No move ever was made to enforce the 1940 order against Mrs. Browder. Last December the board explained this was due to the hazards of ocean travel.

The order was based originally on a finding that Mrs. Browder entered this country illegally in 1933 and the effect of the withdrawal is to open the way for her to enter legally.

Can Reënter from Canada.

She was granted permission to leave the country within six months but under a procedure making it possible for her to return merely by crossing into Canada or Mexico and having her visa stamped by an American consul.

The board said the original record was "sketchy" as to Mrs. Browder's beliefs concerning the tenets of the Communist party.

"We conclude, therefore," the board reported, "that the doubts heretofore entertained in this case concerning the respondent's possible membership in or affiliation with an organization believing in or advocating the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence, have been dissipated by the last hearing. There is nothing but favorable comment on the respondent's character and demeanor during the years she has lived in the United States."

VOTERS WARNED TO CHECK NAMES ON POLLING LIST

Voters were urged yesterday to look for their names on the printed registration lists of their precincts in order to guard against disfranchisement in next Tuesday's primary election. Under a 1943 amendment to the election laws, the lists must be posted five days before an election.

A committee of the Women's Civic council, headed by Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson and including Mrs. George L. Stray, chairman of the law observance department of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, told voters to look after their own rights.

LIST 2,193,655 ELIGIBLE VOTERS IN COOK COUNTY

Registration Increases in G.O.P. Sectors.

Cook county has 2,193,655 voters registered for next Tuesday's primaries, it was shown yesterday when County Clerk Flynn completed the count in territory under his jurisdiction and added it to the previously reckoned total for Chicago and the nine country towns under the election board. Altogether, there is a gain of 157,654 over the 1940 Presidential primary registration.

Total registration for Illinois was announced last night as 4,104,937. The downstate total was 1,911,282, an increase of 79,021 over the 1942 primary total.

On experience of previous years, election officials expect up to 200,000 additional registrations before the November election.

Gain in G. O. P. Areas.

The 563 precincts under the county clerk have 308,499 registrations. Localities with war plants showed sharp gains and increases of approximately 25 per cent were noted in both Evanston and Oak Park, traditional Republican strongholds.

Cook county's total includes the clerk's 308,499, plus 1,780,399 in the 3,795 precincts in Chicago and 104,757 in the 221 precincts in Chicago Heights, Cicero, Summit, Berwyn, Stickney, Morton Grove, Elmwood Park, Harvey, and Skokie, which, like Chicago, are under the board of election commissioners.

The gain over the 1940 primary total included 72,520 in the city and 85,134 in the country and suburbs.

Shows Primary Registration.

The following table shows the total county registration for the primary of 1938, the first year of permanent registration, and for the succeeding two primaries, with the number and percentage of votes cast:

	Registration.	Votes.	Petge.
1938	1,971,702	1,310,572	66.49

1942	2,105,514	1,058,878	50.29

Present registration in the 30 townships, including both the county clerk's and the election board's precincts, is compared with totals for the 1940 and 1942 primaries in the following table:

New Postwoman

MARGUERITE HUDSON.

Highland Park's first woman mail carrier, Miss Marguerite Hudson, 24, of Center st., in the village, yesterday completed her first day in her new job. She walked a total of 15 miles, started with a load of 20 pounds, and at the end of the day said she felt fine, thought she would like the job, and wished she had known of it sooner.

Miss Hudson worked in a war plant before undergoing an operation. Postmaster Daniel L. Cobb said the Highland Park postoffice has a staff of 35 carriers and clerks. Of this number, 16 are in war service, and four more are expecting calls.

A second feminine mail carrier will appear on Highland Park streets Monday. She is Mrs. Henry L. Hawley of 612 Pleasant av. in the village. A third is to be employed.

G. O. P. UPSURGE TOLD BY GREEN AT ABC SCHOOL

Several hundred Republican women of Chicago and suburbs yesterday gathered in the La Salle hotel for the final session of the ABC School of Politics and heard talks by 25 G. O. P. candidates.

The school is sponsored by Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois.

Gov. Green, urging support of the senatorial aspirations of Richard J. Lyons, told the women he had noted a general upsurge of Republicanism in his recent tour of the state.

Lyons pledged himself always to place the interests of America above those of any foreign power.

Other candidates who spoke included Atty. Gen. Barrett and Congressman at Large Day of Evanston, who seek renomination; State Treasurer William G. Stratton, independent candidate for secretary of state; Lt. Gov. Cross; Conrad F. Becker, aspirant for state treasurer; Dr. Alfred Haake and George T. Foster, nonorganization candidates who seek the nomination for congress from the 7th district, and Deneen Watson, internationalist candidate for United States senator.

HOTEL ROOMS LOOTED.

Henry Eakins and C. Ensfield, guests at the Planters hotel, 19 N. Clark st., reported to police yesterday that $77 in cash and three watches valued at $213 were stolen from their rooms.

KELLY EXPLAINS HIS SUPPORT FOR COURTNEY

Mayor Kelly made clear yesterday the basis on which he is supporting State's Atty. Courtney for governor in next Tuesday's primary and in the November election—"patriotic" motives.

Speaking before 2,000 party candidates, leaders and workers at the Iroquois club luncheon in the Stevens hotel, the mayor said "we have disagreed in the past and may disagree in the future, but that isn't the question. I am going to vote for Tom Courtney—I am going to vote solidly for what I think is best for my country."

Earlier Kelly had refused the request of news photographers to pose shaking hands with Courtney. This was the first time in the present campaign Kelly and Courtney have been scheduled on the same program. They had met by accident and shook hands earlier in the week when Courtney arrived at a ward meeting an hour later than his schedule provided.

Heart in Campaign, Says Mayor.

At the outset of his address, Kelly said he realized he was a speaker because of his position in the Democratic organization.

"I want to say my heart is in this campaign," the mayor declared. "I am happy to be fighting for real patriotism. Illinois is a pivotal state that may decide world affairs, not alone national issues."

He reminded his audience that it was in Chicago that President Roosevelt delivered his "quarantine" speech in 1937 and that he declared then "I hate war."

Eulogizes the President.

"In England, where a million homes were destroyed by bombs," Kelly said, "off in the sky was the outline of the great humanitarian.

"That man we are thinking of, not as a man, but as the savior of the world. That man is the only one who can sit at the peace table and guarantee freedom for all nations."

Kelly insisted the Democratic ticket, unopposed in the primary, was "no backroom ticket," but was the result of free action of ward leaders "left to do as they saw fit."

Praises Candidate Tuohy.

Kelly paid tribute to William J. Tuohy, a member of Courtney's staff who is Democratic candidate for state's attorney as "a man controled by no faction, just a good, plain American who will make a good state's attorney."

Courtney's only reference to his past differences with Kelly, an indirect one, came when he departed from his prepared address to declare that in discharge of his duties as state's attorney "I always considered my first allegiance was to my oath of office."

Other speakers on the program were Sen. Lucas, Tuohy, and Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, unopposed candidate for representative at large. All state and county candidates were introduced.

MAYOR PLANS GROUP TO ASSIST VETS WITH MEDICAL DISCHARGES

Plans he hopes will provide training, medical service, and jobs for medically discharged soldiers and sailors were outlined by Mayor Kelly yesterday afternoon at a meeting of more than a score of civic, business, and federal agency leaders in his office.

Kelly pointed out that the meeting was an "exploratory" one, but said that "plans for post-war care for these men should be made now." He named Edward J. Condon, regional director of the office of civilian defense, an official of Sears, Roebuck & Co., temporary chairman of a committee to form a permament organization.

William H. Spencer, regional director of the war man power commission, and Lester Brown, area director, said the WMC's veterans' rehabilitation program would be inaugurated in Chicago next week. It will provide for occupational and college training, hospitalization and medical treatment, and other factors "designed to prepare each returning veteran for a civilian job, and to get him that job."

BUSBEY STUDY BACKS CHARGE OF RED AGENT

The charge of double dealing leveled against the soviet government by Victor A. Kravchenko in resigning as a Russian agent constituted a verification of what Americans have been told for years by other Americans with the interest of this country at heart, Rep. Busbey [R., 3d], said yesterday.

"On the basis of my long experience in studying Communistic activities in this country, I believe in the soundness of Kravchenko's charge," he said.

Kravchenko asserted that while the Stalin government was outwardly collaborating with the democracies, it actually was following a concealed policy of its own at variance with its public profession. He charged that the dissolution of the comintern, the world-wide Communist organization, was a mockery and that the organization's mechanism continued to operate.

REDS SWING ARC TIGHTER AROUND NAZIS AT ODESSA

Cut Railway to Rumania; Bomb Ferry Route.

LONDON, April 6 [Thursday] (AP)—Red infantry and mechanized troops, aided by crack cavalry, yesterday captured the Ukraine rail junction of Razdelnaya. This cut the main escape route of an estimated 200,000 Germans still grouped around Odessa as a fast swinging soviet crescent slashed farther down toward that great Black sea port.

Premier Stalin announced capture of Razdelnaya in an order of the day. Then the midnight war bulletin added more than 130 other populated places to the list of liberated towns. The nearest approach to Odessa still was 18 miles on the east, but the whole Odessa pocket was steadily constricting.

Razdelnaya, 35 miles northwest of Odessa, is astride the railway thru Tiraspol to Rumania. By taking it the speeding Russians forced the Germans to fall back on Black sea lanes or a combination rail and ferry route for escape from the Odessa region.

Planes Attack Ferry Route.

The rail-ferry line crosses the wide Dniester river estuary close to the coast.

A dispatch from Moscow early today said the ferry already was under attack by the Red air force, implying that the Germans were trying to use it.

In fighting in Bessarabia near the Rumanian frontiers, the Russians announced capture of more than 30 populated places, including one 24 miles north of Kishinev [Chisinau].

Moscow confirmed that the Germans repeatedly counter-attacked in the Kishinev sector, but said the Russians contained every thrust and then made a flanking maneuver of their own which forced the Germans to fall back.

The 1st Ukrainian army in old Poland was winding up one of the bitterest individual campaigns of the war. The Russians were fighting thru stubbornly defended Tarnopol in a house to house combat, dispatches to the Moscow press said.

Continue Clean Up of Trap.

The Russians reported further progress toward wiping out the Skala pocket 55 miles southeast of Tarnopol, where the survivors of 15 battered German divisions were being methodically slaughtered.

A supplement to the soviet midnight bulletin described repeated mad but futile lunges by the Germans trying to crash out of the Skala trap. Two German battalions succeeded in cutting a wedge into the soviet lines but promptly were wiped out, it said.

Tuesday's victory at Khotin, 27 miles south of Skala, was portrayed as one of the bloodiest individual battles of the war, with 4,650 German dead counted in the streets, and 1,250 Germans captured.

[A Rumanian bulletin broadcast by the Germans claimed that north of Jassy a Rumanian counter-attack was making progress. The Germans were said to have thrown in reënforcements and that a major tank battle was in progress. The Rumanians said a German attack north of Cernauti was driving toward Russian communication lines. The Germans said their Tarnopol garrison had been reënforced.]

YANK FIGHTERS ATTACK BERLIN, MUNICH REGIONS

LONDON, April 6 [Thursday] (AP).—R. A. F. bombers hammered targets in enemy-occupied Europe last night, the British announced today, in the wake of widespread American daylight operations which included fighter attacks on the Berlin and Munich areas and an assault by Liberator bombers on the French invasion coast of Pas de Calais. Details of the overnight raids were not disclosed immediately.

Mustangs of the 8th air force yesterday crossed Germany to the vicinity of Berlin, 600 miles distant, and the Munich area, 575 miles from their bases, attacking enemy planes wherever they could find them.

Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters also swept over the Reich in hunting forays and, like the Mustangs, machine gunned enemy air fields.

Bombers Raid Without Loss.

For the most part the German air force offered little resistance, but the fighters managed to shoot down five enemy craft and destroyed "several dozen" on the ground. Eight fighters were lost, but all the Liberators returned safely.

Fighters of the United States 9th [tactical] air force ranged far over France, shooting up air fields at Bourges, Tours, Laval, and Chartres.

No Nazis Attack Bombers.

The Liberators, escorted by Thunderbolts, met no interceptions and only moderate ground fire.

The German-controled Paris radio said that bombs had fallen again Tuesday on Switzerland, where the city of Schaffhausen was accidentally hit by United States bombers last Saturday. There was no immediate confirmation of this from Swiss sources.

Two Chicago Area Flyers Are Prisoners in Germany

Two Chicago area flyers, Lt. Patrick J. Pierce Jr., 21, of 1709 Sedgwick st., and Sgt. Dale W. Minard, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Minard, 916 Lebanon st., Aurora, are prisoners of war in Germany, their parents were advised by the war department yesterday. Pierce, a Flying Fortress pilot, previously was reported missing in action Feb. 22. Minard, a Fortress turret gunner, previously was reported missing after a raid Feb. 10. Pierce was a freshman at Loyola university when he enlisted in 1942. His father is a supervisor of physical education in the Chicago schools.

ITALIAN CROWN PRINCE OFFERS TO TAKE THRONE

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK.

Prince Humbert.

NAPLES, Italy, April 5 (AP).—Crown Prince Humbert said tonight he was prepared to act as deputy for his father, Victor Emmanuel, as king, thereby clearing the way for a coalition war government of all the major political parties.

In a 30 minute audience, Humbert, prince of Piedmont, confirmed reports of the king's proposal a fortnight ago to hand over his powers to his son as his lieutenant.

"The king is old and ready to retire," the prince said. "He has had a full life."

His father had intended to retire when the allied armies reached Rome and appoint him as his lieutenant to exercise the prerogatives of the crown, Humbert said. He was unable to say whether the king might act sooner.

The king's pledge to withdraw from public life, however, was of the highest importance since the leaders of the six opposition parties have indicated it would remove a major obstacle to their collaboration with the government of Premier Badoglio.

The six parties will meet tomorrow to decide whether they shall join in a Communist proposal to form "a new government" of all the anti-Fascist elements.

LIVE ANIMALS' BLOOD USED FOR FOOD IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, April 5 (AP).—Dr. A. I. Vysochina announced today the use of food made from the blood of live animals. He said patients at the Tagan hospital in Moscow using the food had better appetites. From the blood, the physicians make porridge, spaghetti, crackers, cocoa, coffee, and chocolate.

The blood of dead animals has been used for a long time but this was the first announced use of the blood of live ones. Experiments were conducted by Dr. Vysochina with cows, sheep, camels and reindeer. He said cows benefited from the blood letting, giving more milk and gaining weight.

"It is established that bleeding affects the animals as a biological stimulus for the increase of fat and protein," the scientist reported. "The blood was first made into a powder and food then was made from the powder, rich in sugar, salts, phosphorous and vitamins."

JAPS CUT ROAD IN INDIA; RAIL LINE IN DANGER

Peril Supply Route Run by U. S. Army.

Rule Indian Ocean

New York, April 5 (AP).—The Indian ocean is safely controled by the British navy with a reenforced battle fleet ready to meet any Japanese challenge and girding to back Adm. Mountbatten's land drive to recover Burma, it was understood tonight in London.

After clearing the Mediterranean, the British began shifting naval power to the southeast Asia theater. British submarines have been slashing increasingly at Japanese sea power and merchant shipping, ranging as far east as the Malacca straits, between Malaya and Sumatra. Under the increasing American pressure, the Japanese are believed to have weakened their naval forces which once menaced India.

NEW DELHI, India, April 5 (AP).—Increasing their pressure along the entire 200 mile India invasion front, Japanese forces have seized a 15 mile stretch of the Imphal-Kohima highway. They are thrusting thru the Naga hills north of Kohima within 80 miles of Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam railway, American army-operated lifeline into upper Burma.

Japanese units previously were reported to have cut the 60 mile road between Imphal, capital of Manipur, and Kohima to the north, but today's advices gave the first indication they had firmly consolidated their hold on that supply link.

Peril Supply Line.

More alarming than this development, however, was the apparent evidence that the invaders are concentrating their main effort at the northern extremity of the front, where they are probing at the Manipur road leading into the rail junction of Dimapur.

Should the Japanese sever that line, upon which American and Chinese forces in northern Burma are dependent for supplies, they would have struck a blow far more damaging to the allies than the capture of Imphal. The railroad has been under operation of the United States army transportation corps since March 1.

An allied officer, commenting on this phase of the invasion, commented that a "sticky" situation might develop. The Japanese drives toward Imphal from the Tamu and Ukhrul areas along the Burmese border appear to have been checked.

Marauders Kill 300.

The Japanese force pushing thru jungles toward the Bengal-Assam railroad already is some 200 miles by foot and mule-back from its nearest supply bases. Soon it will have to depend upon what food it can capture.

Today's bulletin from Adm. Mountbatten's headquarters said British and Indian troops were fighting a successful rear guard action as they withdrew northward from Tiddim in Burma toward Imphal.

Allied troops advancing along the Bay of Bengal toward the Japanese held port of Akyab captured Alathangdaw, south of Maungdaw.

A dispatch from northern Burma told how Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's American Marauders recently struck at the Japanese 36 miles above Mogaung on the Myitkyina-Mandalay railroad. This was the deepest penetration yet reported for the Marauders. Merrill's men killed at least 300 of the enemy in this action.

6 N. U. Co-Eds Give Blood for Japanese Professor

Six Northwestern university coeds and two faculty members yesterday donated blood in an effort to save the life of Ikuo Oyama, 54, a Japanese, research associate in political science, who is in Evanston hospital with a stomach ailment. Oyama, former leader of the Ronoto or farm-labor party in Japan, which opposed Japan's invasion of Manchuria in 1931, fled to the United States after several attempts were made on his life. He has been at Northwestern since 1933.

FEDERAL JUDGE DEMILITARIZES 'MILITARY' UNIT

The Military Order of the Guards, an organization which sported uniforms similar to those worn by army officers, was demilitarized yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in Federal court. Judge Sullivan ordered the guards to pay the fines imposed when they were convicted of possessing regulation military insignia and wearing the near-army uniforms; change the title of the organization, rid the order of all military characteristics, cease drilling and engaging in any activities suggesting militarism, and report to the probation department every six months.

ALLIES INCREASE FOOD TO GREECE FIFTY PER CENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Food allotments to Greece have been increased by American and British blockade authorities 50 per cent to 31,200 tons and 2,000 tons of sugar a month for 1944, the ministry of economic warfare announced today. Since the summer of 1942, blockade authorities permitted regular shipments of food and medicines to be sent to Greece from Canada and the United States.

This is an exception to the blockade policy as applied to other occupied countries, as for example Belgium, which before the war was dependent upon imports for most food supplies. Monthly allocations now will be 24,000 tons of wheat, 4,700 tons of legumes as well as added supplies of fish, soup, high protein spaghetti, rice, and sugar.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in the house of commons said military supplies now are being sent to the Elas resistance movement in Greece. He estimated the strength of this organization as three times that of its rival, the Edes organization, which supports the Greek king.

GARAGE EMPLOYE ACCUSED.

Ernest A. Brown, 30, of 358 E. 56th st., a Negro employe of the University garage, 1236 Loyola av., was booked yesterday by police on a charge of his employer, Arthur L. Hanson, that Brown took $45 from a safe in the garage. Brown denied taking the money.

HEAR TITO ASKS FUNDS BE DENIED PETER'S REGIME

BARI, Italy, April 5 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav national committee of liberation [Marshal Tito's group] has asked banks in Washington, London, Rio de Janeiro, and Ankara to cease paying out funds deposited in those institutions by the Jugo-Slav National bank, a Jugo-Slav Partisan radio station, reported today. These funds were said to total one billion dollars.

The radio charged the Jugo-Slav government in exile headed by King Peter is "throwing away more and more money and has finally put its hands on the country's last gold reserve, which it is trying to obtain from the dopsitory banks . . . for transformation into dollars with the intention to spend them, squander them for treason, and personal luxuries for individual members of the government."

In addition to communicating directly with the banks concerned, the national committee also has notified the governments of the United States, Great Britain, and the soviet union regarding the situation, the broadcast said.

We, the same as you, do not like this limitation, but war has curtailed the production of many products, and wine is no exception.

TESTS ON LEAVING MALARIAL AREAS URGED IN STUDY

The advisability of blood tests for all persons who return from areas where malaria is prevalent, whether they have symptoms of the disease or not, is stressed in an article by Capt. Stanis P. Carney, of the army sanitary corps, and Capt. Noah B. Levin, of the army medical corps, in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association. They based their counsel on a study of 2,723 Italian prisoners of war who had seen service in malarial regions. The organisms which cause the disease were found in the blood of some of them months after evacuation to nonmalarial areas. The parasites were found even in men who maintained that they never had had the disease. The article explains that blood studies will serve the double purpose of protecting the infected person from an attack of the disease and of eliminating him as a carrier.

Baby Is Scalded to Death as Brother Falls Asleep

Elaine Petersen, 16 months, of 482 Deming pl., was burned to death yesterday when she crawled into a sink and turned on the hot water faucet. The child's mother, Mrs. Stella Petersen, who runs a rooming house, told police she had left the baby with a son, Christ, 6, while she showed a room to a prospective tenant. The boy fell asleep.

RUMANIA WILL SEEK ARMISTICE, TURKEY REPORTS

New York, April 5 (AP).—A broadcast from London today quoted dispatches from Turkey as saying that Premier Antonescu of Rumania will seek an armistice from Washington, D. C.; London, and Moscow.

Thomas B. Grandin, correspondent of the Blue network, said such a course had been urged upon the premier by an emissary he sent to Cairo to negotiate with the allied nations.

"The time is near when the Germans no longer will be able to hold the Balkans," Grandin said. "Nothing would be less surprising than a complete collapse of Rumania."

The Associated Press had no confirmation of the report. Earlier the Berlin radio said Antonescu had issued a proclamation deploring the United States air attack on Bucharest and calling upon his people to stand firm.

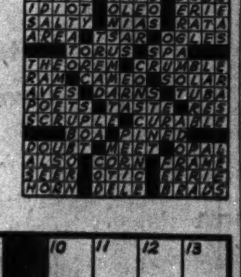
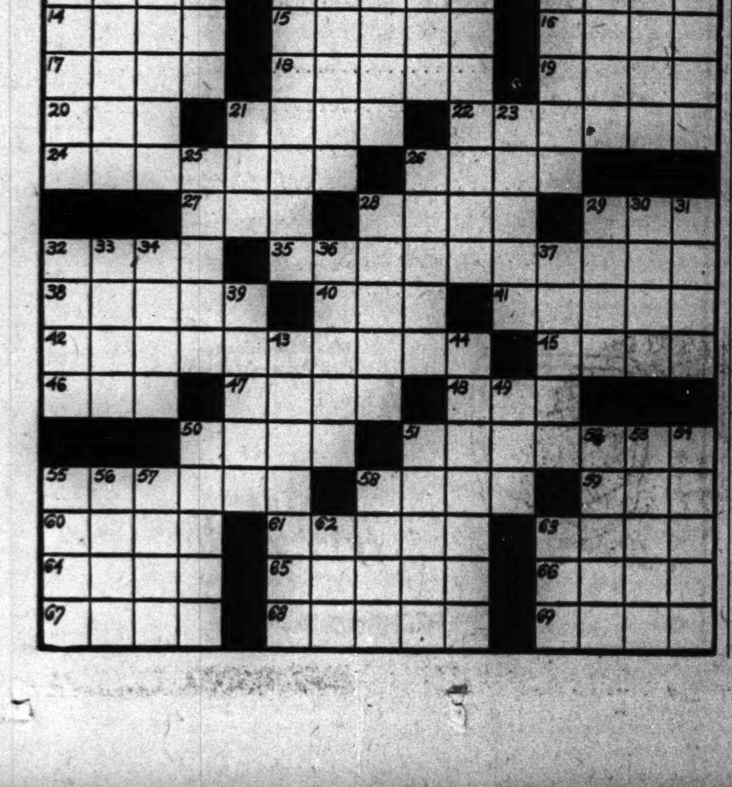
Puzzle of Wednesday, April 5, solved.





STORY OF PRAYER AT SEA TOLD BY CHICAGO AIRMEN

Rescued After Drifting 2 Days in Dinghies.

A U. S. BOMBER BASE, England, April 5 (AP).—Five young American airmen, rescued from the English channel after their Liberator bomber was forced down after a raid on Germany, tonight told a dramatic story of rowing, praying, and burying their dead at sea during two days adrift.

Sgt. Harold Benvenuti [top] and Lt. R. P. Burkhartsmeier.

The five were members of a 10 man Liberator crew which crashed Saturday. Three other comrades also returned. Two of the airmen died during the ordeal. One victim, the flight engineer, died in the arms of a comrade as he called his wife's name. The co-pilot drowned soon after the crash.

The five who are at a hospital here were rescued by a British fishing smack called The Three Brothers. They are Lt. Robert P. Burkhartsmeier, 10422 Longwood dr., Chicago, bombardier; Sgt. Richard Campbell, Seattle, gunner; Sgt. Eugene Dworaczyk, Falls City, Tex., radio man; Sgt. Wilfred Haschke, Cedar Rapids, Neb., gunner, and Sgt. Harold Benvenuti, 1615 S. 49th ct., Cicero, Ill., tail gunner.

Three Engines Knocked Out.

This is their story:

The Liberator was hit by anti-aircraft fire so heavily over the French coast that only one of its four engines was left.

"We didn't have time to do anything when we smacked the water," said Campbell. "The ball turret dropped out and the bomb doors crumpled up."

Burkhartsmeier added: "It was just like a head-on collision—then the nose dropped off."

Three men were thrown from the plane by the impact. Others fought their way out of the sinking craft. Burkhartsmeier, in one of the plane's two dinghies, picked up the half-dead flight engineer, said Dworaczyk, adding:

"We tried to revive him, but it was no use. We heard him say 'Helen,' his wife's name, twice. Then he died. I said the Lord's prayer and Hail Mary when we buried him at sea. Haschke had his prayer book and he read mass. And then we all said the Lord's prayer. I let him over the side as gently as I could."

Dine on Scanty Rations.

The survivors spent about 48 hours in the dinghies, drifting 50 to 60 miles. Their ordeal was one of frantic rowing and the thinnest kind of eating—a few chocolate bars and some malted milk tablets. Thru the first night, Burkhartsmeier said, "we just tried to keep warm."

Sunday, their second day, was the same story, tho the men in the rear dinghy were shouting for water. They saw planes and frantically signalled them. That night they saw searchlights on the coast and, Burkhartsmeier said, "most of us prayed most of the time." On Monday they spotted a group of mine sweepers, but these passed them by. About 10 a. m. Monday they were sighted by the fishing smacks.

Bill That Menaced British Cabinet Makes Progress

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—The education bill, which brought on the recent defeat of the government of Prime Minister Churchill's resultant demand for a vote of confidence and reinstatement of the original clause, passed the committee state in the house of commons tonight. It was discussed for nearly 90 hours over 15 days. The government defeated amendments for equal pay for equal work, which commons carried by one vote, by making it an issue not of principle but of censure.

FLYERS ATTACK WEWAK; WRECK 13 MORE PLANES

18 Fighters Destroyed in Truk Raid.

ALLIED HDQ., Southwest Pacific, April 6 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Japanese air stronghold of Wewak, New Guinea, failed to fire one anti-aircraft gun at big American bombers which virtually erased its remaining planes with 206 tons of explosives, Gen. MacArthur reported today.

Swinging punches southeast of Hollandia, whose fleet of 288 planes was finished off Tuesday, the Wewak raiders blew up 13 enemy aircraft on the ground and one returning unit reported seeing only two planes left at Wewak after the bombing.

Nine Miles from Bogadjim.

Two hundred miles further southeast of Wewak, Australians moving slowly toward the Nipponese base at Madang have pushed to within nine miles of Bogadjim, 20 miles south of Madang.

Headquarters amplifying a previous report of a raid Sunday by South Pacific bombers against Truk, said an additional 18 enemy fighters had been destroyed in that operation. Yesterday's bulletin had told of downing seven to nine.

New raids were announced against Rabaul and Kavieng, and planes ranged northwest of Darwin against Timor.

Sink Jap Ship at Wake.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Navy planes striking at Wake Island sank a small cargo vessel at the dock there, the navy announced today. No additional details were given.

Other airmen, pounding again at isolated enemy bases in the eastern Marshall Islands, blew bomb holes in enemy airfield runways, started large fires and destroyed a group of motorized vehicles at one base.

Only moderate anti-aircraft fire was encountered from the Japanese garrisons. American bombers flew at low level over Ponape in the Carolines despite anti-aircraft fire which damaged three American planes. All planes returned.

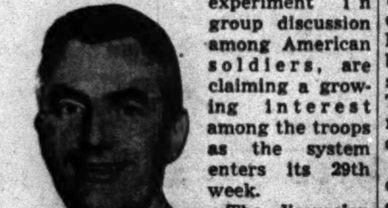
INTERVENTIONIST SUBMITS IDEAS FOR YANK STUDY

Pamphlet by Agar Part of Education Plan.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Official army sponsors of "Army Talks," a new experiment in group discussion among American soldiers, are claiming a growing interest among the troops as the system enters its 29th week.



Herbert Agar.

The discussion this week centers around Herbert Agar's "The Nature of a Free Man." Agar is the former editor of the Louisville [Ky.] Courier-Journal, and a leading proponent of intervention before Pearl Harbor. At present he is on the navy's inactive list, as commander, while serving as a special assistant to United States Ambassador John G. Winant and to the United States army education program.

Agar's pamphlet expounds the belief that only if American soldiers return after victory to insist upon close post-war collaboration among the allied nations and democracy at home can the United States escape another world war for this generation's children.

Can't Hide Behind Oceans.

Had England fallen in 1940, he says, there would have been no one to stop the barbarians from plundering the world, and adds: "We now know it was as foolish to think that we could hide behind our two oceans as it was for the French to think they could hide behind their Maginot line."

After the victory of 1918, Agar says, which the Yanks will debate, President Wilson gave us a chance to save the peace with the league of nations, but America did not listen.

In 1937, he asserts, President Roosevelt in his Chicago quarantine speech tried to warn the nation, but "we said he was a scare monger. We said he was trying to distract our attention from domestic problems by showing us a bogeyman abroad."

"If we are suspicious of our allies," he says, "believing that their motives are less good than our own we help to build an America which cannot play a constructive part in the future. Man cannot live by suspicion alone. It is all very well to be realistic about our own interests but if we want a world in which progress really exists, in which good-will increases and thus a chance for happiness, we shall have to learn that trust is as important as watchfulness."

New Pamphlet Every Week.

Under the "Army Talks" system, a new pamphlet is issued by the educational branch special services each week. These brochures are sent to group "leaders," usually platoon lieutenants or sergeants, who have taken a three day course in a special school which gives them training in leading the discussions. It is similar to the British system.

Maj. Daniel S. Shank, who heads the Army Talks division, said that every effort is made to prevent leaders from indulging in lecturing but rather to train them to lead the soldiers into debate or argument. The talks, he said, "are not to promote particular causes or beliefs or theories or to propagandize."

As a guide to the pamphlet producers an advisory board has been established to review manuscripts and to suggest new subjects. Agar is on this board along with Hugh Gibson, head of the American Red Cross, and Dexter Keezer, deputy in the OPA, and former president of Reed college, Portland, Ore. Agar also lectures once a week to new group leaders on the need to interest soldiers in discussing the pamphlet subjects.

Among others contributing material are Prof. G. W. Keeton, of University college, London; Capt. Cyril Falls, military historian and critic of the London Times; Field Marshal Archibald P. Wavell, now viceroy of India; David Cushman Coyle, author and economist now in London as consultant for the OWI; Crane Brinton, Harvard graduate and professor, Rhodes scholar and historian; Lt. Col. Timothy A. McInerney, of Boston, editorial writer, and Margaret Meade, an American scientist.

Gen. George Marshall's two year report on the growth of the American army provided material for one pamphlet, and another was produced by condensing Walter Lippman's "United States Foreign Policy" which argues for greater foreign commitments and alliances by the United States after the war.

At the suggestion of Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, deputy commander, Army Talks pamphlets henceforth will contain more purely military matters. The forthcoming issue will contain a discussion of the types of German fortifications and the methods the American army will use to reduce them.

Tickets to a baseball game between the Cubs and the White Sox April 17 at Wrigley field will be given to the first 40,000 Chicago school children to report war bond sales, it was announced yesterday.

The game will be a pre-season renewal of the annual rivalry between the two teams. A box seat may be had by selling $100 worth of bonds; a grandstand seat for $50, and a bleacher seat for $25.

Hyde Park High school pupils will mark the completion of their drive for $110,000 in war bonds with a stamp stomp at the school.

COURT ORDERS 12 TO 15 YEAR TERM FOR AUTO THEFT

One of the heaviest sentences ever imposed in Criminal court for auto theft was meted out to David E. Marr, 34, of 1130 E. 47th st., yesterday by Judge Daniel P. Trude, who sentenced Marr to a 12 to 15 year term.

Marr was convicted by a jury of 11 women and one man of stealing the automobile of Arnold Harris, 5110 Kenwood av.

In imposing the stiff sentence, Judge Trude said: "Since 1927 he has been out of the penitentiary only long enough to get into trouble and get sent back. The best thing to do is to keep him in."

TESTIFIES ARMY RECORD ALTERED IN HAWAII TRIAL

Federal Court Begins Civilian's Hearing.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 5 (AP).—A habeas corpus trial which challenges the validity of martial law in the Hawaiian Islands opened today with Lloyd C. Duncan, 25, testifying that the records of his provost [military] court hearing had been altered.

The civilian navy yard worker from Sheridan, Wyo., told Federal Judge Delbert E. Metzger that omissions and additions had been made in the actual testimony given in provost court, which sentenced him to six months' imprisonment on conviction of assaulting two marine sentries at a Pearl Harbor gate.

Cites Altered Testimony.

An example of the alteration, Duncan said, quotes one marine as saying Duncan swung at him and missed, whereas the marine actually testified Duncan swung and hit him.

Metzger permitted Duncan, to give detailed testimony of the fracas, despite vigorous objections from Edward J. Ennis, special assistant to the United States attorney general. Ennis asserted the only issue before Judge Metzger was whether the provost court had jurisdiction, terming this a century-old rule in American courts.

Police Judge Testifies.

Garner Anthony, Duncan's counsel, contends that the office of military governor which has administered martial law in the islands since July 12, 1941, legally is nonexistent.

Police Judge Harry Steiner testified he knew of no case handled in the military provost court which a civilian police court could not handle.

Duncan was released under $500 bond last Friday on a habeas corpus writ issued by Metzger.

JUST 20 YEARS AGO 1ST PLANES GIRDLED GLOBE

To many of the pilots who are flying combat and transport planes thruout the world, the date April 6, 1924, is just a day that came along before they were born. But older flyers will remember it as one of the landmarks in aviation history.

It was just 20 years ago today that four army pilots in Douglas biplanes, took off from Seattle, Wash., on a flight which circled the earth in 175 days. Three of the ships completed the flight, the first aerial circumnavigation of the globe. They were piloted by Lt. Lowell H. Smith, Lt. P. H. Wade, and Lt. Erik H. Nelson, all army flyers.

In today's mammoth aircraft, modern radio, weather aids and instruments make sky journeys such as the epochal flight of two decades ago a routine undertaking.

ARGENTINA SAYS NEWS DISTORTION ADMITTED BY U. P.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 5 (AP).—The Argentine government last night granted the United Press and its Argentine affiliate Prensa Unida permission to resume the use of communications facilities. These facilities were barred to the news agencies March 18 for alleged violation of regulations governing the use of such facilities.

The interior ministry directed the postoffice department to lift the ban on condition that the United Press and its affiliate establish controls over their communications to prevent future violations of Argentine regulations.

A bulletin issued by the Argentine press department said that representatives of the United Press and Prensa Unida had signed a declaration admitting they had distributed false news about political developments in Argentina and admitted that the government had been justified in imposing penalties.

The statement added that "the United Press associations and Prensa Unida declare finally that in the future they will not spare efforts to assure the veracity of every dispatch and to this end will reorganize and improve the means of control which will be designated by the department of posts and telegraphs."

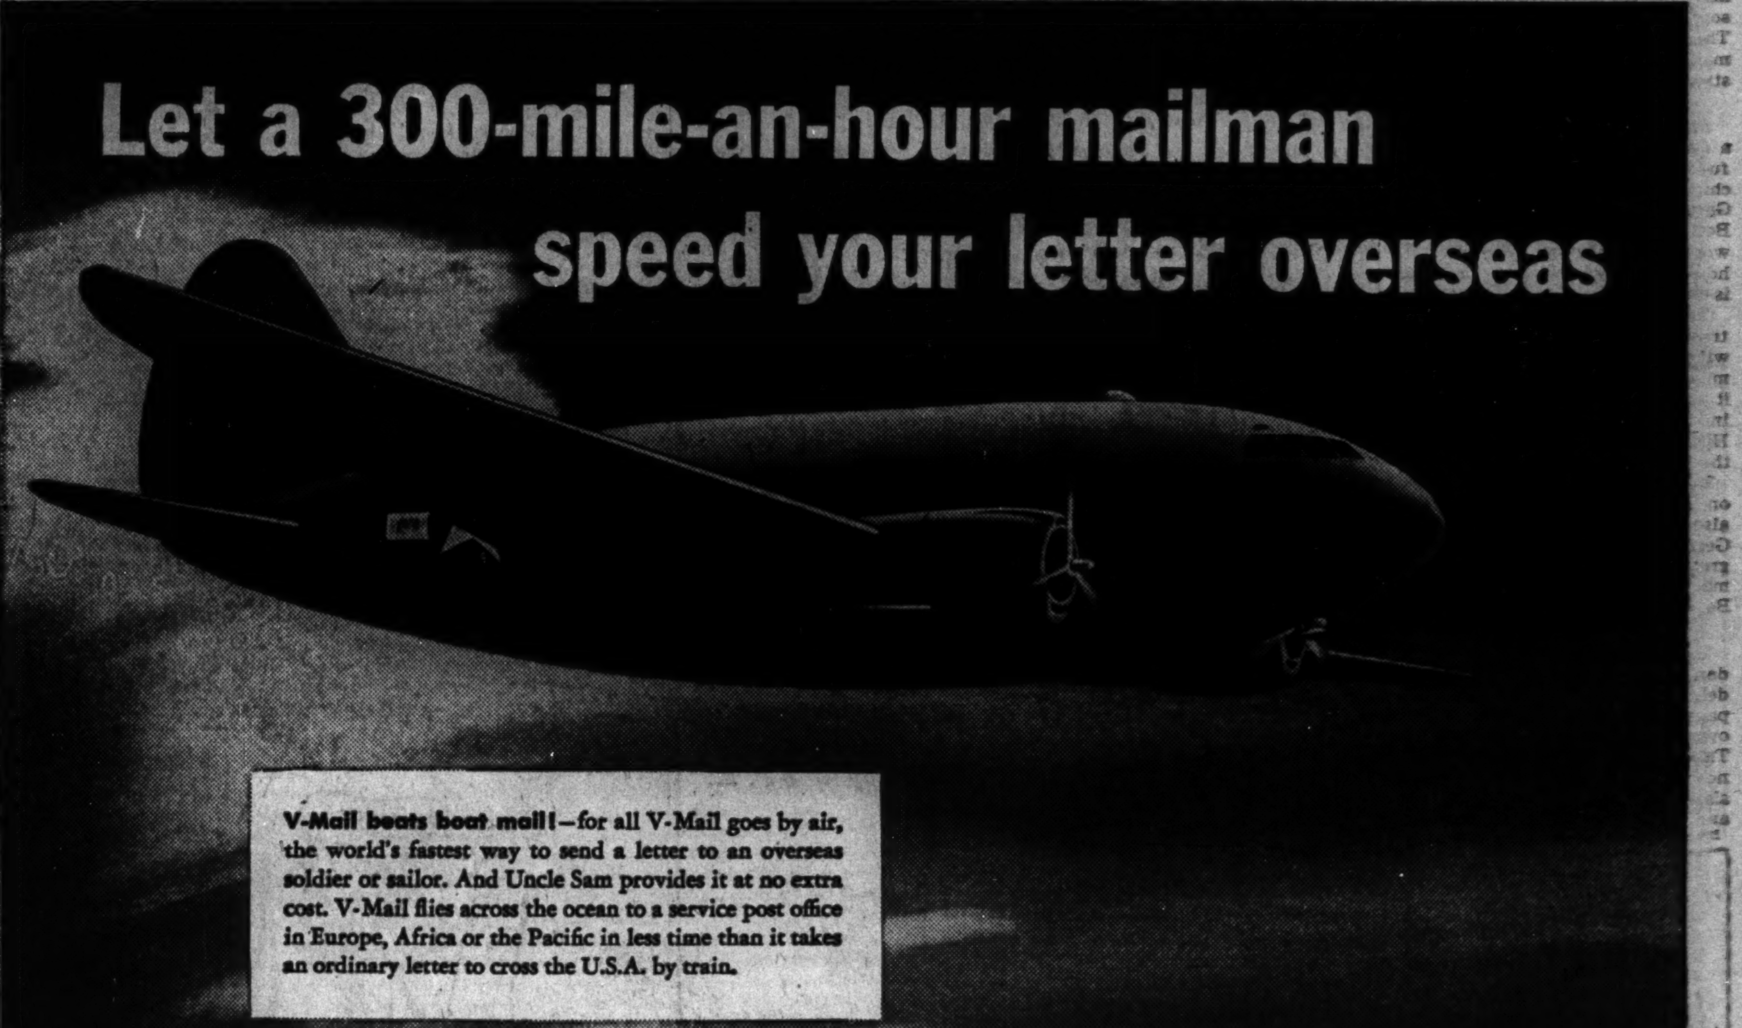
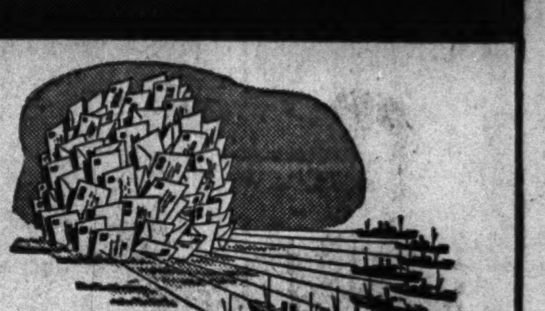
Let a 300-mile-an-hour mailman speed your letter overseas



V-Mail beats boat mail!—for all V-Mail goes by air, the world's fastest way to send a letter to an overseas soldier or sailor. And Uncle Sam provides it at no extra cost. V-Mail flies across the ocean to a service post office in Europe, Africa or the Pacific in less time than it takes an ordinary letter to cross the U.S.A. by train.

How V-Mail works—An automatic photographic machine makes a tiny copy of your letter—and a single plane can carry 400,000 of these miniatures. 1,700 could be put in a cigarette packet. Overseas, this copy is automatically enlarged to readable size; then it is sealed and delivered privately like ordinary mail. Your original letter and the film are then destroyed.

It's fast—and safe—V-Mail is not subjected to the hazards of boat mail—it is safe as well as speedy. V-Mail has a perfect record—no V-Mail letter has ever been lost. Over 350,000,000 V-Mail letters have been delivered without the loss of a letter. V-Mail gets through fast—and sure.



Help lick this big job!—Ordinary mail now takes enormous cargo space in hundreds of ships needed for food and ammunition. Food and munitions can't be reduced to flying weight—but letters can. And must, officials fear, if the growing mountain of mail is to be kept moving. So send every overseas letter V-Mail—save time, save ships.

Here's what to do—

1 Get V-Mail paper at any stationery counter. You must use this paper because of its special size and shape.

2 Follow the simple directions printed on the back of the paper. Be sure to print full name, rank, serial number, military unit and A.P.O. Number.

3 Mail your letter at any post office or letter box. Postage 3 cents. The same kind of stamp you use on a letter to a neighboring town will send your letter overseas by speeding plane.

* Says General Eisenhower—"The inauguration of V-Mail service is a vital forward step—we, here, know and appreciate the value of the postal link that is our only connection with our parents, relatives and friends."

 Says General Somervell—"I cannot urge too strongly the use of V-Mail when writing to soldiers overseas. The use of V-Mail effects a ninety-eight per cent saving in cargo space, thereby releasing this sorely needed space for shipment of supplies, weapons and munitions."

PLANES 'BOMB' GERMANY WITH THREATS, ADVICE

Tell People, They Alone Can Save Selves.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Only the German people can save Germany. This is the constant motif recurring in the symphony of propaganda directed to the German people in leaflets and brochures dropped by allied aircraft.

The United States army psychological warfare units here today released for publication more than a dozen copies of warnings, threats, promises, and advice to the Germans and the peoples of enemy occupied countries. They are all designed to break down the will to fight on the part of the Germans, and to build up the will to resist on the part of other nationals.

On Bible Paper.

Most leaflets are printed on flimsy paper, 5 by 8½ inches in size. One quotes Prime Minister Churchill's warning of May 10 to the German population to get out of industrial areas. It asserts that for failing to provide for such evacuation, the German government "criminally neglected" the people and reaffirms the allies' determination to "destroy these industries," while boasting "we possess the means of carrying out our intention."

"How can Germany be saved?" a large, bold faced, four line heading asks, and in a red background with white letters, a subheading reads, "The truth is——." Under the first subheading the Germans are told of President Roosevelt's promise of Dec. 24, 1943, that the allies had no intention of enslaving the German people.

When peace comes, the German people are told, it will mark the end of screaming sirens, the bombing of Germany, terror, reports to mothers and children of their dead sons and husbands and fathers. Then it is promised that German man power will be used to reconstruct the fatherland.

Germany Then and Now.

Another leaflet carries pictures of a German factory in 1918, working full blast with men at the machines, as an example of how well off Germany was after the last war. Beside them is another picture of a wrecked factory, designed to prove how Germany will look if the war is prolonged.

The other side of the leaflet contrasts conditions in November, 1918, with those of November, 1943. Germany was saved after the last war, it argues, because she capitulated in time, while every day gained for Hitler now is lost for the future of the German people.

Brochures and leaflets are dropped on Holland, Belgium, and France also. One to France reports how Germany confiscated mail, which did great damage to the underground movement, and urges: "Frenchmen! Be careful."

Air Courier Tells News.

Le Courrier de l'Air, dated London, March 8, which mentions it is delivered by the R. A. F., is a four page paper about the size of the overseas edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It looks like a regular newspaper, streamers news, "Russians cut railroad between Lwow and Odessa." Other stories report successful American attacks on Berlin, guerrilla successes in Greece, how French partisans blew up German barracks, how bombardments on France are only on German objectives, tell of American aid to Russia, and otherwise inform the French people how well the allied war is going.

The Flying Dutchman of March 9 devotes a streamer headline to the Flying Fortress raid on Berlin, and underneath quotes Air Marshal Arthur T. Harris as saying, "There is no safety by day or night."

The paper front pages pictures of bombed out areas in Berlin, gives facts on American production, mentions Russian peace terms to Finland, and denounces collaborators.

In Exclusive Club

Sgt. C. E. Hite, wearing Wing of Boot club insigne, with his wife, Elsie Marie. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Sgt. Carl E. Hite, 29, of 809 Maryland st., Gary, one of the few American members of the Wing of Boot club—men who have returned to base after being shot down in enemy territory—returned home yesterday on furlough to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hite, and his wife, Elsie Marie, at the Gary address.

Hite was a gunner and engineer on a Liberator bomber when it was shot down over France while returning from a bombing mission Jan. 7. The bomber was attacked by the Yellow Nosed German fighter squadron and the crew was forced to bail out. Hite and three of the crew landed close together and were picked up by members of the French underground. How long they were hidden in France, how they were slipped out of the country and managed to return to England are secrets.

Hite, who was an acid tester employed at the Gary Sheet and Tin mill before he went into the army, will report at Miami, Fla., later this month for a new assignment.

OWI AID VISITS BRITISH YOUTHS FOR MRS. F.D.R.

Senate Group to Probe Woman's Activity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—A picture in a British newspaper of an office of war information employee, described by the paper as "making a tour of youth organizations in Britain on behalf of Mrs. Roosevelt," will be the subject of senatorial inquiry when OWI appropriations are considered, Sen. Robertson [R., Wyo.] predicted today in an interview.

Louise Morley.

The OWI worker is Miss Louise Booth Morley, 25, daughter of Christopher Morley, American author. She is a $2,600 a year employe of the outpost service bureau of the OWI's British division and is attached to the American embassy in London, Sen. Robertson said.

Miss Morley's picture appeared in the Jan. 25 issue of the weekly Mail and Cardiff Times, published in Cardiff, Wales.

Visited in Cardiff.

Sen. Robertson, a native of Cardiff, said he received the paper from a relative in Wales. The caption under the picture was:

"Miss Louise Morley, U. S. A. office of war information, who is making a tour of youth organizations in Britain on behalf of Mrs. Roosevelt, visited Cardiff High School for Girls on Thursday and was impressed with the high standard of the children's knowledge of world affairs."

Sen. Robertson said Elmer Davis, OWI director, had denied Miss Morley was working on behalf of the President's wife. Davis said, according to Sen. Robertson, that Miss Morley's work is supervised by Lt. Comdr. Herbert Agar, a former editorial writer for the Louisville [Ky.] Courier-Journal, whose pro-British sentiments are credited with winning him a naval reserve commission and a post with John B. Winant, American ambassador to England, early in the war.

Meets with Clubs.

Davis told Robertson, the senator said, that Miss Morley meets with British youth clubs, providing them with American information for the club publications, assists them in preparing exhibits on American subjects, and encourages correspondence between British and American youth.

"This activity of the OWI will be carefully scrutinized by the senate finance committee, its members tell me," Robertson said. "Despite Mr. Davis' statement to the contrary, the senate should determine how far Mrs. Roosevelt's interest goes in the OWI's overseas activities."

BRITISH REVEAL DETAILS OF AIR RAID ON TIRPITZ

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—Disclosing details of Monday's aerial bombardment of the German battleship Tirpitz, the admiralty tonight said two waves of carrier based planes attacked the 35,000 ton giant in her Norwegian hideaway as she was about to cast anchor. It said that early Monday aircraft carriers and other units of the home fleet approached the vicinity of Alten fjord, Norway, adding:

"Two forces of Barracuda aircraft were flown from carriers to attack, with escort and cover provided by Seafire, Corsair, Hellcat, and Wildcat fighters. The first strike caught the Tirpitz apparently as she was about to move from her anchorage. Hits were obtained near the bridge, amidships and forward of the bridge with heavy and medium size bombs. The enemy endeavored to screen the Tirpitz by smoke but nonetheless further hits were obtained, large explosions being observed.

"Anti-aircraft fire from the Tirpitz and from shore batteries was encountered during the attack but by the time the last aircraft attacked the battleship had been silenced. When last seen the Tirpitz was on fire amidships.

Sues for Custody

MRS. CECILE POTTS.

Mrs. Cecile Garvy Potts, 33, of 120 Church st., Winnetka, yesterday asked Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court to award her complete custody of her three children, William, 11; Peter, 8, and Patricia, 5.

Under a divorce decree in 1939, Mrs. Potts was given custody of the children for six months of the year and her former husband, William S. Potts, 36, heir to a paper supply fortune, was to have custody the other six months. Mrs. Potts' attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, told the court Potts had not exercised his custody privileges for five years.

They said Mrs. Potts desires custody because she wants to move to Fort Dodge, Ia., where she hopes to marry the head of a meat packing concern. Judge Sabath continued the case to April 19.

BAR ENLISTMENT OF MEN 18-26 ON MERCHANT SHIPS

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—The maritime service will enlist no more men between 18 and 26 for merchant sea duty, a spokesman for the war shipping administration said today, because of army and navy needs for younger men.

The policy resulted from an agreement with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

At the same time, it was learned the inter-agency deferment committee is considering whether men in the 18-26 age group already in the merchant marine should be made subject to the draft.

The maritime service has about 125,000 men and about half of them are between 18 and 26.

SAVINGS OF $2,180 STOLEN.

Burglars who ransacked the apartment of Harry Johnso, 50, Negro, at 119 E. 45th st., took a trunk containing his life savings, $2,180 in $10 and $20 bills. Johnson last night notified police.

ASSERTS DIEPPE RAID SET NAZIS BACK 18 MILES

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Tribune correspondent who was interned 16 months in France and Germany.]

In Lisbon, Portugal, while awaiting to return to America on the Gripsholm, I talked with a Frenchman who was in a position to know intimate details of the Atlantic wall and the situation of the German army.

He told me that in August, 1942, when the British landed at Dieppe on the coast of Normandy, the Germans were so alarmed they moved all their command posts, which then were established along the shore, 30 kilometers [about 18 miles] back into the country. British Commandos remained ashore in Dieppe for nine hours, it will be remembered.

Foe of Hitler Protected.

My informant was impressed also by the solidarity and unity of the German forces. He said there were two groups of officers, the old army crowd which detested Hitler and the Nazis, whose idol was Hitler. They respected each other, however, and got along together, he asserted.

He told me of a German general, whom he had occasion to observe, who held Hitler in horror and who occasionally cursed the Fuehrer when drunk. His younger officers, however, even including the Nazi group, would put him to bed and never informed against him or sought to oust him. This was cited to me as an example of the German solidarity of arms and an argument against the likelihood that a split would arise in the war between the Nazi party and the wehrmacht.

The Frenchman insisted that the spirit of the army was: "Nazi or non-Nazi, we are all good Germans in this war." My informant seemed to be highly impressed altho he was one who opposed French collaboration with the Germans.

"Hour of Comradeship."

He cited another example of German fraternity of arms and solidarity. The army every week or fortnight has what is called "an hour of comradeship" when all ranks from general to private get together.

All talk on a basis of equality. A lieutenant or a sergeant may frankly tell a colonel, a major, or even a general his views, even to complaining. But at the end of the hour there is a clicking of heels and exchange of salutes and the comradeship is at an end. Nevertheless, my informant seemed to think that this practice was a striking commentary on the morale and the methods of what once was a junker ruled army.

DISPLAY OF ARMY'S FIRE BOMBS SHOWN AT MILLS WAR PLANT

A cluster of incendiary magnesium bombs, which are being produced by the millions for the chemical warfare division of the army service forces, were displayed yesterday at the Mills Industries, Inc., 4110 Fullerton pkwy., one of many plants engaged in making parts for the bombs. The cluster, which weighed 500 pounds, contained 128 M-50 four pound magnesium bombs. Hexagonally shaped, each has a blunt iron nose, a corded magnesium alloy body, an igniting charge and fuse mechanism. Chemical warfare division spokesmen said this type is especially difficult to extinguish because it burns at 3,500 degrees fahrenheit. They are being dropped on German and Japanese installations almost constantly, army men said.

Harrisburg, Ill., April 5 (AP).—A Circuit court jury here last night found Paul Falk, 22, of Eldorado, Ill., guilty of manslaughter in the choking death of his wife, Myrtle, last Christmas morning. Rumsey will impose sentence the latter part of this week.

How this rich farm land fits into the picture of tomorrow

Located in the heart of the most productive agricultural section in America, this area of Northern Illinois is noted for its farming diversification.

Here are thousands of rich dairy farms that supply the great Chicago milk shed. Here are poultry farms that have grown in size and number to help meet America's wartime needs. Here, too, are farmlands where hogs, cattle and sheep thrive ... where grain and produce grow in abundance.

In addition to the advantages nature bestowed, this agricultural region has many favorable economic factors. It is the largest packing center and the greatest grain and livestock market in the world. It is the hub of the nation's transportation and a financial capital. Here are electric power plants of vast capacity for extending the benefits of electricity to the farmer and for processing agricultural products.

Yes, Chicago and Northern Illinois is a rich agricultural center, today. It is tomorrow's Land of Opportunity, not only for the farmer, but for the worker and the industrialist as well.

HERE INDUSTRY IS THE PARTNER OF AGRICULTURE

Nation's Packing Center. From America's farthest points, millions of cattle are shipped here annually for slaughter. This area, with its world's largest stockyards, packs 14.7% of the nation's meat.

Great Industrial Center. This region produces 6% of our war goods—5 billions worth yearly. More than any other section of the country. Here is massed industrial might for an "arsenal of peace" after victory.

Hub of America's Transportation. 22 trunk-line railroads, reaching all sections of the country converge in this territory. Here, too, air and water transportation afford unrivalled service.

Major Market of the Nation. Every type of product manufactured in this area can be delivered to nearly one-half the population of the United States in forty-eight hours or less.

Important Financial Center. Chicago ranks as one of the greatest financial centers of the world, being surpassed only by New York and London.

Plentiful Electric Power. The integrated system of the four companies serving this area insures adequate and dependable service to industry.

FILIPINO FACING PRISON FOR NOT SIGNING AS ALIEN

Claim of Dual Citizenship Rejected by Court.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 5 [Special].—Braulio M. Gancy, Filipino attorney, aspiring publisher, and self-styled economist, will be sentenced in federal District court here Saturday for failing to register as an alien under the 1940 alien registration act.

Gancy, 44, a resident of the United States since 1927 and of Minneapolis for several months, faces a maximum sentence of six months in prison, a fine of $1,000, or both.

He was arrested Feb. 19 as he was preparing to publish a monthly news magazine, "Pacific World," with which he intended to advance his claims to citizenship rights for Filipinos in this country.

Convicted After Trial.

He was convicted last Friday after a brief jury trial in which he acted as his own counsel and offered no testimony. The government introduced only one witness, an investigator for the federal immigration and naturalization service.

In a motion to quash the indictment, which had been returned March 2, Gancy defended his failure to register by reciting that he had dual citizenship in the United States and the Philippine commonwealth, and there was no necessity for him to register because he is not an alien.

He contended he became a citizen of the United States under the Treaty of Paris in 1898 by virtue of this country's "acquisition of the Philippine Islands with its people, who thereby became citizens of the United States."

Court Says He Erred.

The defendant cited numerous cases of law in his efforts to prove his point and said it was incumbent on the part of the government to show that he owes allegiance to a foreign country, that the Philippine Islands for the purposes of judicial proceedings are a foreign country, and that they are a territory of some foreign country and not of the United States.

Federal Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye denied Gancy's motion to quash the indictment, saying that Gancy "clearly erred" in claiming citizenship under the Treaty of Paris.

The court referred the defendant to article 9 of the treaty, which reads: "Civil rights and political status of native inhabitants of territories hereby ceded to the United States shall be determined by congress." He then asserted that congress never has conferred citizenship upon inhabitants of the Philippine Islands.

No Incorporation.

Replying to Gancy's claim that he was a citizen by reason of American "acquisition of the Philippines," the judge said no legislation assuming to incorporate the Philippines as a territory of the United States ever has been passed by congress.

When the case came to trial, Gancy made no move to contest the court's rejection of his citizenship claims and confined his efforts, all unsuccessful, to offering letters in which he had written to numerous friends his conviction that he is an American citizen.

Gancy was born in Cavite, near Manila, in 1900. According to his own account, he was educated in Manila, studied law at the University of the Philippines, and was admitted to the bar. He came here 17 years ago and is said to have attended the Harvard Law school.

He is the father of three children and lives with his family in a fashionable residence on W. Lake Harriet blvd.

FREED ON BOND AS STATE PUSHES OLD SENTENCE

Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday released Harold Whitaker, 42, on $3,500 bond pending further hearing May 5 on a mittimus issued by the state demanding that he serve the 10 year prison sentence for robbery imposed on him after his trial 19 years ago. Whittaker disappeared while on trial in Criminal court in 1925, when the 10 year sentence was imposed. He went to New York where he served 17 years in Sing Sing prison for a jewel robbery.

THE QUESTION.

What failing of yours does your wife try to hide?

WHERE ASKED.

C. B. & Q. Railroad building, Clinton st. and Jackson blvd.

THE ANSWERS.

Ray J. Byrne, chief clerk, 1104 Glenlake av.—As often as I have tried I can't seem to learn how to carve meat properly. When we entertain my wife always saves me from embarrassment by serving the meat already carved. No one suspects what an amateur I am at serving.

Mack A. Vaughan, clerk, 5 N. Longcommon dr., Riverside—Whenever my wife starts speaking in a loud voice I know what she means. I have a bad habit of mumbling and letting my voice die down. When she speaks up it is a good reminder for me, and I turn on the volume.

Erwin Biegel, cigar stand manager, 3808 Grenshaw st.—If it weren't for my wife people might think I had a one track mind. I have been in the cigar and liquor business all my life, and when we have guests all I do is talk shop. My wife changes the subject and saves the guests from repetitious stories.

Everett C. Stallman, clerk, 473 Jackson st., Aurora—I would rather listen than talk. Sometimes when we spend an evening with a guest who prefers to do the same thing my wife always saves the situation by being a most interesting conversationalist, and by making up for what we don't say.

C. E. Lindauer, office manager, 4816 Quincy st.—One of my biggest weaknesses is not being patient when I hear a baby cry. I pick up the baby and rock him rather than endure his screams. My wife has taught me that's wrong. She takes the baby away, shuts the door, and teaches us both a lesson.

Stein, discovered by a watchman, was taken to Jackson Park hospital. He told police he had refused the Negroes' demand for gasoline.

VIVIEN KELLEMS TO LAUNCH OWN MAIL THEFT QUIZ

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Miss Vivien Kellems served notice on congress today that Rep. Coffee [D., Wash.] either has her private letters, intercepted in the United States mail, or knows who has them. And interference with the mails, she reminded congress, is a criminal offense. In order to bring those responsible to justice, she said she would take the necessary steps herself, commenting, "I'm a woman of action."

Miss Kellems is a Westport, Conn., war goods manufacturer, excerpts from whose mail Rep. Coffee alleged he was reading when he denounced her last Friday in a speech in the house.

Confers on War Job.

Miss Kellems, a slender, dimpled woman of youthful mien despite her 17 years as a manufacturer, came to Washington to consult with the navy on the shell grips she makes for the war program, not to reply to Coffee's accusation that she is corresponding with a Nazi "boy friend."

Sen. Reed [R., Kas.] entertained her at lunch in the senate with Miss Marion Martin, vice chairman of the Republican national committee. Then he invited Miss Kellems to meet the press.

News of the luncheon quickly spread thru the capitol. Miss Kellems did not meet Rep. Coffee to tell him to his face what she told reporters—that he is "a coward, a sneaking coward who belongs in prison."

Rep. Coffee, who frequently eats in the senate dining room, lunched in the house restuarant.

Sen. Reed introduced Miss Kellems at the press conference.

"She made a speech in Kansas City that irritated Henry Morgenthau" [secretary of the treasury], Reed said. "I'm for any one who can irritate Henry."

Miss Kellems tossed her head, on which she wore a brown peaked hat with the feathers pointing down from the peak, instead of up, threw back her white fur jacket, and sailed into Coffee and Drew Pearson. Pearson is a radio gossip commentator who broadcast what he represented as excerpts from her letters.

Denies Count Is Nazi Agent.

Miss Kellems frankly acknowledged a long correspondenceship with Count Frederick Karl Von Zedlitz, now in Buenos Aires, but denied that Zedlitz is a Nazi agent, as charged by Coffee.

She said some of the count's letters to her have not been delivered, and that some of her letters to him are missing.

"I have not written to him," she said, "since I learned that the letters I put into the mail box went straight into Mr. Pearson's hands."

Miss Kellems linked Morgenthau to the story, after she was asked if internal revenue agents might be interested in her files since her speech in Kansas City, in which she attacked the income tax.

Suggests Rule for Congress.

Sen. Reed interrupted once to suggest a congressional investigation of tampering with the mail, and commented:

"Congress might take a leaf from the army and navy book and require all members to be gentlemen as well as members."

When Miss Kellems referred to Coffee once as "Sen. Coffee," Reed said:

"This is bad enough, without putting him in the senate."

She flatly denied Coffee's assertion that she had made "seditious" remarks, and termed Coffee's accusations "lies," her voice rising when she read from his speech:

"Benedict Arnold fought in the Revolutionary war—but he, too, was a traitor."

She said Zedlitz is a South American representative of a German metal firm she identified as "Metallgesellschaft," but denied that he had ever been a member of the Nazi party.

Engagement Denied.

Coffee charged Miss Kellems intended to marry Zedlitz. Asked if she were engaged to the count, she answered:

"How can you be engaged to a man who never asked you to marry him?" she said she met the count in the United States in 1935. She neither identified nor disclaimed as hers the quotations Coffee told the house were excerpts from her letters. She said she wished to see the letters before identifying the quotations as hers.

Estranged Husband Slain; Wife Tells of Gun Attack

Wilmington, Del., April 5 (AP).—Clarence T. Donovan, 42, a shipyard worker, died of bullet wounds today, and his estranged wife, Pearl, told police he shot himself after firing at her and her father. She said she escaped by leaping thru a window of her father's home, but that her father, Charles H. Moore, 59, was shot in the back and the hand. Mrs. Donovan said the shootings followed a quarrel over one of their three children.

WHITE SLAVER GETS 2 YEARS; WIFE SPARED

John George Giaffis, 29, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and his wife, Theodora, 25, was placed on two years' probation by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday on charges of violating the white slave act.

The two were accused of luring Mrs. Giaffis' sister, Winnie Mae Murphy, 16, to Chicago from a Georgia orphanage to force her into prostitution. The couple was found guilty by a jury March 14.

Judge Igoe indicated that Mrs. Giaffis was placed on probation because she had been sentenced to a year and a day in Municipal court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

SUSPECT IN GIRL SLAYING ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA

Detroit, Mich., April 5 (AP).—Arraigned on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of Joyce Raulson, 14 year old school girl, Richard Vincent, 23, stood mute today before Justice of the Peace John L. Mokersky at suburban Inkster. A plea of innocent was entered for him, and he was held without bond for examination next Wednesday.

Vincent was quoted yesterday by Sheriff Andrew C. Baird and Prosecutor William E. Dowling as saying he stabbed the girl to death on a city dump March 27 after she "said my girl friend was no good."

★ "EASY GOING SHOULDERS"

The Scotch were the first to see the ease in this type of shoulder—the raglan and bat wing sleeve type of shoulder. They seized upon it for their hunting capes, because it provided warmth and comfort, but not bulk or burden. Since then we've absconded with the idea—for why not a commuter's as well as a hunter's comfort? And along with this inheritance comes the easy going good looks that's a part of this style. Particularly suitable for the sizeable man, for it encourages ease of gait fostered by the graceful lines of a simply handled topcoat. And the two coatings in this group are a handsome credit to the style—quite appropriately they were both imported from the British Isles.

BOOKIES ASTIR; POLICE RESPOND WITH TWO RAIDS

Hit Downtown Wire Room and North Side Parlor.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Two gambling raids were made by police yesterday, one at a downtown wireroom and the other at a handbook in operation at 3146 N. Ashland av., the first handbook discovered doing business in many weeks. Detectives said they found the two places after hearing that some one was spreading the tidings that "soon the books will be allowed to open."

Capt. Thomas Duffy of the central station started a personal investigation of rumors that the Guzik syndicate was getting ready to resume business at the old stand and that it was renting new places, too. The syndicate gangsters were proceeding in the belief that recent political events foreshadowed better days for them, according to word at police headquarters.

Room's Tenant Seized.

Duffy sent two detectives up a fire escape in the rear of the building at 318 W. Randolph st., two blocks from the city hall. Thru a window they saw a work bench and switchboard in room 606, so they sent word to other policemen below and an entry was made at front and rear.

Frank Rudich, 1502 S. Kedvale av., who was alone in the room, was arrested on city and state charges of possessing gambling paraphernalia and freed on bond. There was a switchboard with 24 incoming trunk lines and six telephones for outgoing calls.

Capt. Duffy recalled arresting Rudich last Nov. 30 in a syndicate nerve center at 153 N. Wabash av., with 15 telephones at his elbow.

The north side raid was made by men from Commissioner Allman's office. They found five horse bettors in the room back of a garage, along with gambling paraphernalia. Charles Farrell, 3542 Wilton st., was arrested and charged with being the keeper of a gambling house. Nicholas Jostoch, 1633 Barry av., who said he was a sheet writer, was also arrested.

Gambling at Trial Halted.

Michael F. Ryan, attorney, informed the city civil service commission that certain spectators had started an impromptu handbook at the hearing of Capt. John T. Cartan on a charge of permitting gambling to flourish in the Des Plaines street district. The incident shows, Ryan said, how difficult it is to stamp out gambling in Chicago.

"When I found out about it, I stopped it," Ryan, who represents Cartan, informed the commission.

FORMS LACKING FOR LABOR UNION FISCAL REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Labor unions, the Boy Scouts, farm cooperatives, and other nonprofit corporations may be granted additional time after May 15 to file informational returns on their last year's financial operations, because the bureau of internal revenue does not have the forms prepared, it was learned today.

Joseph D. Nunan Jr., commissioner of internal revenue, announced three weeks ago that the returns would be due May 15. But the forms on which the returns must be filed were not ready then and still are in the formative stage, a spokesman for Nunan said.

Internal revenue officials said they could not even guess when the forms would be ready. After a rough draft is made the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation will review it and may suggest changes.

After the committee has approved the forms they must be printed and distributed. Nunan estimated there are approximately 280,000 tax exempt organizations of which 180,000 must file returns.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

R. T. S. asks: "Do you have any idea of how the so-called 'custom work' is rated in terms of war units?"

ANSWER: A suggested evaluation in war units per acre has been made by selective service, as follows: Plowing [tractor], 110; disking [tractor, tandem], 360; harrowing, 700; planting corn [two row planter], 230; four row planter, 370; cultivating [tractor, two row], 250; moving [tractor], 200; combining 16 ft. cut or smaller, 160; 8 ft. cut or larger], 300; corn picker [two row], 110; pick up baler, 150 or 200 tons of hay; sheep shearing, 500 head. For custom work such as threshing, corn shelling, or silo filling, a war unit should consist of 100 hours of work.

A. E. W. asks: "Can you give the requirements for appointment of enlisted men in the marine corps and marine corps reserve to commissioned rank for aviation ground duty in the marine corps?"

ANSWER: Candidates must be enlisted men, either regular or reserve, and must be citizens; must have attained the 20th anniversary and not attained the 35th anniversary of the day of birth, on the date of his application; must be a graduate of an accredited high school or preparatory school, whose graduates are eligible for entrance to accredited colleges without examination, and the candidate must have the recommendation of his immediate commanding officer. Enlisted personnel may also apply for consideration for entrance into O. C. S.

M. F. D. asks: "What is the actual difference, if any, between the terms 'compensation' and 'pension'?"

ANSWER: This question was submitted to a more or less final authority and the response was, "There is no actual difference in the terms 'compensation' and 'pension' in that both terms apply to money benefits payable to veterans of various wars and/or peace time service. The term compensation is applied to benefits payable to vets of World War I. and their dependents on the basis of disability incurred or aggravated during that war. Pension is applied to benefits payable by reason of service during periods other than World War I. There are, of course, some variations."

J. D. writes: "I entered service as a V. O. C. and later was given the right to accept release because the quotas to officer candidate school were full and were reduced. I am up for the draft now and if I enter service will the five months I served previously be counted on the severance pay I may thereafter apply for?"

ANSWER: The fiscal director of the army says: "If a discharged man is not now eligible for this payment, is again accepted for active service and discharged for a reason which would then make him eligible to receive such payment, payment would be computed only on the basis of the latter period of service."

TOMATOES DROP, POTATOES RISE ON OPA LISTINGS

URGE SCHOOLS OUST SIX BOYS IN 'SUPER-STATE'

Jackson, Mich., April 5 [Special.]—A recommendation was made to public school officials today that the boys revealed by police as members of a secret anti-American society of local juveniles be temporarily removed from school, and the full student body appraised of the action, to prevent possible bodily harm to pupils.

The suggestion was made by the Retail Merchants division of the Greater Jackson association in a letter to George Greenawalt, superintendent of Jackson public schools.

Six Jackson school boys and a boy who moved to Chicago several months ago were declared by a state police subversive activities agent to have banded together in a fantastic organization they called "The State" which required members to wipe their feet on the American flag and stab the Bible with a knife, and to study methods of sabotage, murder, and taking over the government.

The business men's association indicated its members were deeply concerned over the boys' activities and also the action of 100 disapproving school boys in storming the public library to "get" a youngster revealed as .. "Super-Stater."

FBI TO PROBE CHARGE WOMAN SLURRED NATION

A disorderly conduct charge against Mrs. Marion Hoopes, 23, of 5222 Byron st., based on anti-American remarks she is said to have made in a northwest side tavern Tuesday night was continued until April 21 by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Women's court yesterday in order to give the federal bureau of investigation time to investigate. Corp. Charles Quinn of Camp Breckenridge, Ky., testified that Mrs. Hoopes told him and his companion, Sgt. Samuel F. Mann of the same camp, that the American cause was wrong and that she was German and proud of it. Mrs. Hoopes denied making the remarks and said she was Hungarian and Slovak, not German.

SPEEDY ACCESS TO AIRPORT IS PLANNERS' AIM

Seek Site to Cut Time Lost in Travel.

BY FRANK STURDY.

Time lost in travel between airports and the business centers of cities has been the bugbear of both air lines and air travelers since the establishment of scheduled air transportation. Few cities have found a way out of the difficulty, and distance in terms of time from the loop will count heavily in selection of a program for air terminal expansion in Chicago.

A committee of air lines engineers is soon to make a recommendation indicating to the Chicago Plan commission the site that would best serve their passengers. The commission, in turn, is responsible to the city for selection of a site with a means of speedy travel to the business section, near which air traffic studies indicate the center of air traveler population lies.

Loop to Airport: 36 Minutes.

Chicago's present airport is 36 minutes driving time from the loop. New York has spent more than 60 million dollars on its La Guardia airport, built on filled-in land virtually at Manhatan's doorstep, but the base is still 30 minutes drive from the air lines' central terminal.

La Guardia airport has been beset with runway and building breakdowns because of land settling, however, and New York has turned for post-war development to a site at Jamaica bay, Long Island, where a colossal job of sand fill is under way to provide an airport three miles by two miles in area. Called Idlewild, the site lies one mile from a railroad furnishing transportation to Manhattan in 20 minutes. The plan also may eventually include an express highway.

New Terminal Planned.

The Chicago airport, air lines engineers believe, will be adequate from the standpoint of runways for five years after the war, and plans are now approaching completion for a new terminal building to raise the passenger handling capacity to 120 plane loads an hour.

An express highway to the southwest along the bed of the abandoned Illinois-Michigan canal is included in the plan commission's proposed expressway development for the city, and is regarded by many as the most economical means of assuring accessibility to the airport. The route would require 20 minutes' driving time, engineers estimate. Its cost is estimated at $21,600,000, but might be much more if the city were unable to obtain the land desired and were forced to buy improved property for a similar right of way nearby.

Disagree on Solution.

Adoption of a new location for airport development on the west side of the city would involve an express highway, the only apparent alternative being shuttle air transportation of passengers from such a distant field to a small, close-in base near the loop. Such a proposal has been studied by the plan commission as a means of near west side slum clearance.

The air lines, however, say such a method is not workable. Time would be lost and passengers inconvenienced in transferring from the main line to the shuttle planes; and at peak hours the traffic problem in the air would be insurmountable, even when the helicopter is brought to the stage of commercial utility. That time, plan designers say, will be several years after the war.

Huge Cost Envisioned.

An express way connection with any outlying site will probably cost about 4 million dollars a mile, according to the estimates of the plan commission, which has proposed 67 miles of mainly depressed but partly elevated highways at a total cost of 260 million dollars. The cost calculations are not advanced as accurate, and may eventually be much more or less.

The expressway program, which has been submitted to the city council for adoption, includes a route to the northwest beginning at Wacker dr. and Orleans st., paralleling Clybourn av., the North Western railroad, and eventually reaching the city limits at Canfield av., with a branch northward near Cicero av. terminating at the city limits at Devon av.

[The next article in this series will describe the sites being discussed for the city's principal airport development.]

NAVAL STATION SALVAGE GOAL HALF A MILLION

An intensive salvaging program is under way at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, it was revealed yesterday, and receipts from the sale of waste materials, which during the year ending last Jan. 31 amounted to $383,000, are expected to soar to half a million dollars this year.

During the present salvage year, it is estimated, the station will sell more than 350,000 pounds of various types of kitchen greases as well as textiles, metals, leather, cordage, wire cots, paper, and containers of many kinds.

PLAN TO ALLOT DDT INSECTICIDE FOR CIVILIAN USE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Limited civilian distribution of D. D. T., the insecticide powder developed by secret formula during the war, to control insect borne diseases, may become possible later this year, the war production board's chemicals bureau disclosed today. Small amounts probably will be available for farm and essential public sanitation uses, it said.

Expansion of D. D. T. production in the next few months will provide adequate supplies for military programs.

The present output is being allocated entirely to the army and navy, except for minute quantities released for experiments, the bureau said, but the D. D. T. industry recently took steps to speed up output. It has been assured adequate supplies of necessary chemicals, the WPB said.

CHAPLIN FACES ANOTHER TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5 (AP).—Charlie Chaplin, acquitted by a federal jury last night of two counts of Mann act violation which grew out of a trip to New York by Joan Berry, faces a second trial arising from his association with the girl who wanted to be a movie star.

United States Atty. Charles H. Carr was emphatic today in his declaration that Chaplin will go to trial on charges of conspiracy to deprive Miss Berry of her civil rights.

Joan was arrested last year on a vagrancy warrant in Beverly Hills, where Chaplin lives.

GUEST OF DRAKE TO GET HEARING IN COURT TODAY

Daniel P. Robinson, head of Mason & Co., a mail order firm at 154 E. Erie st., is to appear in court at the Chicago av. police station this morning to answer disorderly conduct charges growing out of the attempted suicide of Miss Constance Mason, 153 E. Erie st., early Tuesday in the Drake hotel. Miss Mason was found unconscious, as a result of an overdose of sleeping tablets, in the corridor outside the door of the third floor room where she was registered with Robinson as Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Singer of New York City. Miss Mason's condition was reported "good" in St. Luke's hospital, where she was taken Tuesday by police.

THE END OF MR. WILLKIE.

Wisconsin voters looked over the barefoot boy from Wall street and delivered their verdict in the primary Tuesday. The verdict is that they would rather have any one else. The Willkie delegates at large stood in the last four places in the returns, beaten by every candidate pledged to Gov. Dewey, Gen. MacArthur, and Lt. Comdr. Stassen. His candidates for district delegate made equally miserable showings. Mr. Willkie, in despair, has withdrawn his candidacy for the nomination.

Mr. Willkie conducted a campaign such as the country has not seen since Huey Long used to denounce the "lying newspapers" which exposed his graft. He campaigned against a newspaper, THE TRIBUNE. The issue in Wisconsin was Tribune policies against Willkie policies. The people of Wisconsin voted for Americanism and against foreignism.

In Mr. Willkie's own words, "midwesterners are direct, positive, and forthright in their beliefs." In Wisconsin they had no more difficulty in penetrating the fraudulent nature of his support than they had in discerning the fraud of his campaign oratory. His earnest supporters were the foreign minded or foreign controled newspapers of that state and Chicago.

The drum beaters for Willkie were the Milwaukee Journal, the Adler both-sides-of-the-street publications in Madison, the pip-squeak Sheboygan organ of Mr. Broughton, the former state Democratic committeeman, and the Chicago Daily News, Sun, and Times. The people of Wisconsin have spoken. As citizens they are for America and an American newspaper. As Republicans they are for Republican candidates and against the man urged upon them by New Deal newspapers who want to reëlect Mr. Roosevelt by denying the voters any choice. These foreign newspapers are in rout and disgrace along with Willkie.

Our long, bitter fight to save this country is heading toward a triumphant conclusion. From today on Mr. Willkie can be dismissed as a minor nuisance. His power to harm the Republic, by denying its voters a choice of policies has, by his own confession, ended.

But while Mr. Willkie has thrown in the towel, his bankroll hasn't. He says he will still seek to impose on the Republican party the principles, or a candidate committed to those principles, which were so decisively repudiated Tuesday. The eastern money that financed his elaborate campaign, and perhaps lend-lease money as well, will be available to any candidate for the Republican nomination who will pick up the tawdry banner he has dropped. Any man so foolish as to do that must face the certainty of the same repudiation that Mr. Willkie has experienced.

As for Mr. Willkie himself, his path is clearly marked. It will surprise no one if he comes out openly for Mr. Roosevelt. The Republican party has never had his allegiance, nor do its members feel that they owe him any. He is the debtor, not they. If Mr. Willkie takes a walk, he will walk alone.

AND CICERO, TOO!

Republican candidates won the town election in Cicero Tuesday for the first time in 12 years. The Democratic candidates, of whom all but one were beaten by a margin of 5 to 4, appealed to the voters to reëlect them as an indorsement of President Roosevelt.

The Cicero election furnishes an interesting indication of the way war workers may be expected to vote next fall. Cicero has as high a percentage of workers in war industry as any community in the state. The wages of its voters are at an all-time high peak. This war boom prosperity obviously was tempered as a political influence by two other circumstances. One is that the sons of the Cicero war workers are scattered on fighting fronts all over the world in campaigns that the national administration has too frequently mismanaged. The other is that Mr. Roosevelt's coattail riders in Cicero, like his supporters in other metropolitan areas, formed a corrupt political machine that has misgoverned the town and run it badly into debt. Cicero was voting for a change.

The Cicero results give reason for hope that the Republican county ticket will win in November. If the former Democratic strongholds in industrialized country towns go Republican, the Kelly machine in Chicago, on the basis of its showing in the last mayoralty election, will not be able to pile up a big enough lead to carry the county.

Cicero precincts also form an important part of the 6th congressional district. The returns give hope that in November it will be possible to dispense with the services of Blind Tom O'Brien, who has been as willing a tool of the New Deal in congress as he was of the gamblers when he was in the sheriff's office.

Tulsa, Okla., also held a municipal election. The Democrats who were claiming a couple of weeks ago that their victory in Oklahoma's congessional by-election indicated a halt of the Republican trend will be interested in the Tulsa returns. A Republican ticket running on a straight anti-New Deal platform won by 3 to 2.

HALF A LOAF FROM WASHINGTON.

The combined burocracy of the war production board and the war man power commission has relented, withdrawn its opposition, and granted Chicago priorities to complete construction of a south side water filtration plant. As usual, the burocrats are silent as to their sudden change of attitude on this vital public health improvement, but there is reason to think that the decision was forced upon them. The New Dealers always retreat when the spotlight is turned on their ineptitude, stupidity, and bull headedness.

Chicago has to have a filtration plant right now because the south side's water is contaminated with sewage from the Calumet industrial area. Another crowd of New Dealers has refused to allow the Chicago sanitary district to divert enough water from the lake to flush sewage down the sanitary canals from new war plants and growing communities in Indiana.

This condition threatens the health of a community of more than a million and a half persons, a good many of them war production workers. The coliform bacteria count at the south side intake cribs has risen at times to a point far in excess of what chlorination can kill. Typhoid and a half a dozen other diseases may sweep the southern section of the city any time.

The filtration plant, when it finally gets into operation, will help to avert that danger, but it is a half measure of relief. The city should be allowed to draw more water from the lake and sweep the germs away from the intakes. The New Dealers are opposing this diversion of water on grounds no stronger than those upon which the WPB and WMC refused the city priorities for the filtration plant.

CHAPLIN ACQUITTED.

Now that Charlie Chaplin has been acquitted, the question arises: Why was he indicted under the Mann act?

That law was intended to disrupt the commercialized traffic in women, or, as it was called at the time of the enactment, the white slave traffic. The purpose can be regarded as a good one, but unfortunately the law was loosely drawn. In consequence, offenses which properly belonged in the sphere of private morality, to be tried—if at all—at the bar of public opinion, were prosecuted as Mann act violations.

Tho there never was doubt about the aim of congress in passing the act, the higher courts felt obliged to sustain convictions under it in cases such as Charlie's. Shortly, it became apparent to every one that the law was being used as an instrument of blackmail. Accordingly, one attorney general after another has authorized prosecutions under the Mann act only when commercialized prostitution was involved. That became the rule of the department.

Suddenly the forgotten use of the law was revived against Chaplin. Why? He is an alien, but the criminal law applies equally to the citizen and the alien. He has a reputation as a lecher, but that is hardly a matter to concern the federal department of justice. If it is admitted that in every way he is an undesirable subject of Great Britain, that fact offers no excuse for reviving this ancient law against him. An indictment under a dead letter witchcraft law would have been scarcely more unwarranted.

In the absence of any evidence to the contrary, it looks as if the United States government may have become a party to a blackmail plot against Chaplin. We don't know that this is so, and are certainly not asserting that it is so, but the circumstances are suspicious and deserving of the most careful investigation. The newspapers of California have the means to find out what was behind the prosecution of Chaplin under the Mann act and it is to be hoped they will do so.

THE GARDEN HOSE, ETC.

When Mr. Roosevelt first proposed lend-lease it was likened to lending garden hose to a neighbor to put out a fire on his premises. The President explained that before you let the fellow on the other side of the lot line have the rubber, with reel and nozzle, you don't say to him, "Neighbor, my garden hose cost me $15; you have to pay me $15 for it." You don't think of numbers or the dollar sign at such a time.

But Mr. Roosevelt should also have pointed out that the neighbor ought to be required to confine his request to what he needed to fight the fire. It would be considered little less than outrageous if he were found to be peddling in the market some of what you gave him to keep a neighbor from being burnt out.

But that is what a committee of senators openly accused the English of doing with lend-lease goods. And even if they weren't doing it and the senators were mistaken, they want to do it. According to a recent dispatch from London, Britain has requested a modification of the lend-lease agreement to enable her to sell in the export market quantities of the same products she is receiving from us under lend-lease.

Britain will need lots of foreign trade when the war is over and we can all hope she will be successful in obtaining it. But the United States will also need outlets for the industries which have been greatly expanded during the war. British firms will be competing with American firms in many markets which neither have been supplying during the war. The supplier who gets to the neglected markets first with his wares will have an advantage over those who come later. We would be both gypping ourselves and undermining our future prospects if we allowed the British to capture markets with goods we supply them for nothing, or with goods they are enabled to export because of what we ship them. It isn't, as they say, cricket for the British to ask that.

MORE OR LESS TIMELY.

A student of curious lore, observing that the date of last Tuesday could be recorded as 4-4-'44, telephoned this column to ask what was the word for this recurrent numerological symmetry. We told him that it had no name, but after he had rung off we invented one and hope he likes it: "Undecimennial." Which means that it happens every 11th year. Put it in the next edition of the dictionary, professors.

Today is Maundy Thursday on the church calendar, and that adjective, of old English origin, has never pleased our ear or eye. No matter; its usage is infrequent. It comes, by various leaps and transformations, from the Latin verb "mandare," to command.

The "She was a woman" verses read by the prosecuting attorney at the Chaplin trial and faithfully recorded by Marcia Winn, sent us on a search for author and title. But after trying three anthologies, we abandoned the hunt as a needle-in-haystack idea. We found, however, in "A Treasury of the Familiar," an acceptable and better known substitute, whose chorus runs:

She is more to be pitied than censured,
She is more to be helped than despised,
She is only a lassie who ventured
On life's stormy path ill-advised.
Do not scorn her with words fierce and bitter,
Do not laugh at her shame and downfall;
For a moment just stop and consider
That a man was the cause of it all.

MIDDLE-AGED SPRING.

Maidens think of spring clothes—
Young men, of course, think of loving;
The middle-aged guy
Just cocks his eye
At the cobalt sky,
Where lambkin clouds vie
With each other in bunting and shoving.

This happens when March relents—
Say three days, or two, or just one day;
The middle-aged guy
Thinks: "My, O, my,
If the fairway is dry,
We'll give it a try,
Darned if we won't, next Sunday."

Let Hitler think of the war—
There is thought in each air raid warning;
Winter is thru,
Germany, too,
Invasion is due—
I admit to you,
I got out my clubs this morning.

Rag Bag and Crazy Quilt Days.

In the springtime we generally cleaned out our clothes closets first, and we would come upon that grand old relic of the olden days, the rag bag.

It was a catch-all for oddments of "goods" which had been used for dresses, aprons, shirts, and other wearing apparel. "When we have enough," mother would say, "I shall piece them together and make a crazy quilt."

She would sigh over each bit of cloth until she came to a piece of silk. "This is part of my wedding gown," she would say, and a nostalgic mist would come into her eyes. "I have the whole gown upstairs," she went on. "I had such a slim waist in those days. It is in my tin trunk, marked 'Hamburg'."

Her blue eyes took on a faraway look as she recalled when she was 18, when her hair was long and golden and she lived in a little town called Hoyer in Denmark, by the sea. She remembered when she left Denmark for America, where every one was free and there was no forced military service, and no involvement in foreign wars.

We could not see her thoughts, but we saw her trembling lips, and as it happened each spring we asked her: "But why do you keep such reminders if they make you feel sad?"

And she replied: "O, I don't know; it's kind of comforting, I think." Roy Engel.

"AND JUDAS REPENTED."

Over to myself I say,
Counting well my thirty pieces:
I have bargained my soul away;
Thus my poverty increases.

Faithless, before the rabble eyes,
I hailed Him Master to betray Him.
When He cries Thy name and dies,
Verily my hand will slay Him.

Pierce my brow with the thorny crown,
Nail my hands, raise thieves beside me!
Lord, I cast this silver down—
Now be merciful, and hide me!

Well, I'll tackle this drawer first. Umm, income tax reports back to 1916—I won't need them any more. No, I'd better keep 'em—think what happened to Capone. Umm, letters from the family when on vacation—no, can't dispense with them; too much sentiment. Umm, Christmas cards I saved for special reasons—gosh, here's one back in 1910. Might as well chuck 'em. Gee, ain't they beautiful! No, I'll keep 'em. Umm, what's this file? Huh, office instructions back to 1920. I surely won't need them any more, but come to think of it, they might be valuable some day as historical documents. Better keep 'em. Umm, what's this stack? Newspaper clippings. Well, surely I won't need them, but what's this? Teddy Roosevelt splits Republicans, dated in 1912—it would be a crime to ditch these. Well, that drawer is cleaned out. Now if I can only get this stuff back in again. W. L. Hudson.

LIVER EXTRACT IN ACNE.

ACNE, that appearance-destroying eruption which so frequently affects young people about the time of puberty, continues to be a problem. Methods of treatment have varied from strict dietary control to the employment of ultraviolet and X-rays.

The fat-starvation plan, which eliminates every particle of this material, is drastic but strikingly successful in many instances. Strangely enough, a well balanced food régime may supply poisons [the products of indigestion] which the cuticle of these sufferers resents.

But there is much more to the malady. The fact is that the skin is weak—less resistant. We find many types of bacteria and a prolific crop of blackheads and pustules, which may leave scars. Furthermore, the absorption of pus may prove upsetting, even injurious.

In one of our earlier discussions liver extract was mentioned, with the assertion that under its influence approximately 40 per cent of certain cases exhibited improvement. Further study of this supportive remedy has been made by several investigators. They conclude that some preparations of liver are more valuable than others. With a potent and pure solution they were able to obtain amelioration in 68 per cent of the victims. In another group, with a still further refined formula, relief was reported in 89 per cent of a small number of subjects.

What happened? Scars became less prominent and in general the epidermis was softer. Heaped up bits of tissue disappeared and many of these patients remarked, "My complexion has become less oily." Blackheads could be cleansed readily by merely washing the parts twice daily with mild soapsuds.

What does the liver extract do? Apparently it brings about better nourishment of the covering of the body. The blood supply is increased and it can be assumed that the irritating substances responsible for the initial lesions are neutralized.

The skin will respond quickly to poisons in the circulation. Those associated with typhoid fever give rise to so-called rose spots. In scarlet fever we have the characteristic blush followed by peeling. Typhus, smallpox, and measles display typical eruptions. Now, all of these manifestations are of toxic origin. We can assume with sound logic that any derangement of metabolism or a food deficiency can wreak havoc, particularly with the face, which is rich in sebaceous glands. Then it is that contamination with bacteria is a natural sequel.

We can perhaps explain the good effects of ultraviolet [which is used to the point of creating a slight burn] on the ground that resistance is enhanced. When the surface of the body absorbs sunlight, a large amount of vitamin D is manufactured. Here again we may be furnishing in another fashion and by other means, an antidote to some irritating element of digestion.

At any rate, we recognize that young people must have skilled care for a situation which may become a personal handicap of serious moment. The least we can do is to caution every victim not to pick the face or squeeze a single blemish, no matter how enticing the pastime may be. The only safe cleanser is soap and water.

APPLE PULP.

Mrs. P. A. writes: Our baby is 17 months old and we have been giving him about a teaspoonful of raw apple. We have been told it is not good for him since it is acid-forming. Is this true?

REPLY.

Rubbish. Nothing better. It furnishes bulk and pectin, which is useful in holding the water within the alimentary tract. This keeps the intestinal contents soft and pliable.

LIKES TOAST.

Mrs. S. writes: Is it harmful for a person of '70 to eat six slices of toast daily? I have been told that it dries up the blood.

REPLY.

No danger. Take as much as you wish, provided it does not throw your diet out of balance. Toast is chiefly carbohydrate.

SLOW RECOVERY.

Mrs. H. S. writes: My son has had a recurrence of virus pneumonia. The first time he was sick three weeks and the second, eight weeks. Will he be left with weak lungs?

REPLY.

No. Recovery is usually complete altho considerable time may be required. The rate is slow.

RUPTURED DRUM.

R. P. writes: Is there any way a person can tell whether his ear drum has been punctured other than by a doctor's examination?

REPLY.

The victim may be wholly unaware of the defect. More often than not there are no symptoms.

MOTH REPELLENT.

J. F. A. writes: Is there such a thing as being allergic to the odor of mothballs?

REPLY.

A common constituent of mothballs is naphthalene—a silvery, crystalline compound. The pungent odor is disagreeable to moths and to some persons.

VITAMINS IN PSORIASIS.

R. D. H. writes: I have psoriasis. Would it be harmful to take vitamins A and D? I am on a fat-free diet.

The Dear Old Public.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4.—So Vesuvius erupts again, the Japanese move inexorably into India, our feeble toehold at Anzio wavers, slips back, and holds.

And about 400 persons with nothing on their minds but morbid curiosity crowd a federal courtroom to watch, agog, to see if they can catch a man off guard at the gravest moment of his life.

You just can't figure it out. This is being written six hours after a federal jury has been given Charlie Chaplin's future. It has been a long, sordid, complicated case, as full of ramifications as Chaplin's character is of facts. This is the waiting period. This is the no man's land of law. This is the time when any defendant, whether innocent or guilty of the charge, is very much alone. It is a trying time, and a number of persons have to witness it. The court attaches, the attorneys, the press—this is their business; their living. But the others? Why are they here?

It is easy to understand what has lured them, like packs of hungry wolves, on the preceding nine days. A trial on any criminal charge is a study in elemental human nature, in motives and passion an act premeditated or a poke of circumstances. This one had salacious possibilities as well. How does the girl look? How does the man look? What do they say? Do they quiver, blanch, retract, become confused, on the witness stand? Do they cry, smile, beat their bosoms as frantically as their attorneys? Is it genuine or are they acting. . . . And who, in the long run, ever knows? If good acting seems genuine emotion, then why shouldn't genuine emotion seem good acting? And the lawyers—how are they? As good as every one says? Watch them joust and lance with each other, toy with the witness, sit and glower, or smile, at the prowess of the other. Is the portly one with the few strands of inky black hair a second Clarence Darrow, as the papers say? [Answer: No.] And the broad shouldered red headed one, the young man with the Tennessee syrup voice, can he handle a case this big?

This interest you can understand, and the interest, too, in the closing arguments, with the aid of doggerel and the Supreme Being invoked alike and by both sides, and the jury sitting like a double row of stone griffons, unmoved by either side. But that is all over now. You'd think they'd go home. None of them know Chaplin, or not more than three, and even these aren't there to chat with him or console him if he needs consolation as he paces back and forth, back and forth, his face stern, unyielding, turned inward.

And the others: Well, one man admits he is a refugee from a park bench. He can't get a hotel room until 6 p. m., and this has been a place to sit down: Moreover, it is a busman's holiday, for he is a Canadian lawyer. The judge has two guests, Count Reventlow, the ex-husband of Barbara Hutton, and his current wife. They presumably are Chaplin's friends, but never speak to him, nor does he, in his incessant pacing, stop by them to nod, smile, or even say boo. It is too much like an animal in a cage. Once he dashed toward an exit saying, "Is this permissible?" It is, but the corridor is full of cameramen. He retreats.

The ones that get you, that upset you, are the hundreds who packed the benches: The wild-eyed woman with the lavender hair and pistachio complexion who sits avidly on the front row; the two women there with small girls; the daughter of the lady juror; the ghoulish looking women in the middle '40s and '50s who sit and leer and guess the outcome and watch, always, the stocky little man in the gray suit pacing back and forth. When the verdict comes, if ever it comes, they will be right there, never fear, their eyes popping out, drooling at the mouth, looking at only one person—the defendant. They have only one goal. That is to see how he takes "it," whatever it may be. They want to see the face of a man stripped, naked, and off guard. They hope to see on it a basic, true emotion, the one thing they never see when they look in the mirror.

"SO LITTLE FOR SO LONG."

Chicago, April 3.—It is now fully recognized that we have been defeated at Cassino and that we have accomplished nothing at Anzio. We have only casualties to show for our Italian campaign which at the beginning was so widely heralded. We are a nation of 130,000,000 people with almost unlimited resources and ability to produce. We have from 9,000,000 to 11,000,000 men in service, and it is a known fact that the camps, both at home and abroad, are jammed with hundreds of thousands of them who are only marking time—accomplishing nothing while anxiously awaiting an opportunity to get the war over and go back home.

For many months we have consistently failed on a few short miles of front in Italy—and we have absolutely no other European enterprise under way. This is not the fault of the men, but it definitely is the fault of the leadership and the military and political management, and exposes a deplorable lack of winning strategy. The generals who have failed in Italy, and the commanders in chief in London and Washington, who have made it possible, are the ones to blame and should be immediately removed from power in order that the war may be waged to an early and successful conclusion.

The man on the street knows that the war is being subordinated to politics, and that it is being prolonged to retain an emergency to try to justify a fourth term for Roosevelt, while millions of men and millions of tons of supplies and equipment remain idle. I suggest as a fourth term campaign slogan this British paraphrase: "Never in the history of the world have so many done so little for so long." L. G. TOOTHAKER.

CALLS SHOSTAKOVICH "SQUAWKY."

Chicago, April 2.—It is reported that a leading broadcasting chain paid $10,000 for the first airing of the bolshevik composer Shostakovich's tiresome and raucous eighth symphony which I endured for more than an hour today. It is astonishing that having nothing of musical value to say, this composer takes so long to demonstrate the fact.

Our propaganda minded, communist controled radio chains are not concerned with the musical or artistic merit. They consider Shostakovich and his squawky symphony only an advertisment for the "cause." Our great symphony orchestras are thus debased into media for subversive alien propaganda.

They missed one bet, however. Henry Wallace should have been on hand as commentator to deliver a panegyric on the sublime virtues of Uncle Joe's El Dorado of the common man.

THAT SICKLY VOICE.

Chicago, April 3.—I am really getting mad at those people who call Frank Sinatra's punctured eardrum a flimsy excuse to dodge the draft. Are these people blind that they can't see Sinatra is not fit for the army? Even if he didn't have a bum ear, the army doctors still wouldn't pass him after they got a good look at that thin body of his.

I had the very great privilege of meeting Sinatra, and I want to say that no army would take Sinatra even if there was an invasion, he's that sickly and thin. SO. MARGARET NEUMANN.

LIVING ON HOPE.

Chicago, March 29.—Every night I write my husband who is stationed in England a letter and every time I get a letter from him he closes with "another day and no mail from you. Please keep the letters coming 'cause you know that is all I live for over here."

It is bad enough to break up our lives and our homes by separating us for who knows how long. I think it is a small enough favor to ask to please see to it that our boys get our mail promptly and as regularly as possible. I note from other letters in this column that I am not the only one who gets letters with these heart breaking closings.

Every day we read in the papers and hear on the radio pleas to write our boys every day and keep up their morale, but our writing doesn't do their morale much good if the letters are never delivered.

THE KELLEMS SMEAR.

Chicago, April 3.—Why all the smearing of Miss Kellems' good name by the New Dealers, just because she dared to state a truth and fact that millions of men and women would have liked to have said but did not have the intestinal fortitude to say? The United States needs more Miss Kellems to point the way toward safe and sane government again. Rep. Coffee is an easy name to remember in the November election.

MRS. H. STUDEBAKER.

THE 4-F LABOR DRAFT.

Chicago, March 31.—A man who works in our place could not get a war job, partly because of some physical ailment and partly because of being an alien. On March 28 he went up for induction and was rejected because of the ailment. Now, I understand, they are trying to pass legislation to force him to get a war job or be drafted.

PROBATE PROBLEMS.

Joliet, Ill., March 24.—My father died without a will. 1. Is it true that this estate must be probated within nine months and that my stepmother will receive one-third and the children two-thirds? 2. Will we receive notice even if we live in another city? 3. Who selects the administrator? 4. What are his duties? 5. Does he charge a certain percentage for his services? 6. Is he permitted to open the safety deposit box and remove cash from it? 7. Who should accompany him into the vault? 8. Does the lawyer receive an additional fee for checking the value of the contents of the box, or is this included in his fee of one-sixth of the estate?

G. N. K.

1. Under the Illinois administration act, nine months is the period for filing claims, but probate can be dispensed with in some cases.

2. You should receive notice unless you waive it.

3. The probate judge.

4. To get in the assets, pay the debts and taxes, account and distribute.

5. No, in the sense that the Illinois statute does not name a percentage.

6. Yes, after inheritance tax examination; we assume that you mean he is to use it for the probate purposes.

7. The inheritance tax examiner.

8. There is no law giving him one-sixth. The ordinary fee would be closer to 4 per cent. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Judas' Actions Indicate He Is the Betrayer.

[This is the fourth in a series of stories on the dramatic events of Holy week as observed by Cornelius, a Roman centurion or army captain. The centurion, long stationed in Judea and Galilee, describes the events from the point of view of the Roman and in present day newspaper style. The series of six stories was envisioned and written by the Rev. John Evans, religious editor of The Tribune. The fifth article will appear in tomorrow's Tribune.]

BY CORNELIUS.
[A Centurion.]

JERUSALEM, April 6, Fourth Year of the Military Governorship of Pontius Pilate—[Special] —Two disturbing incidents today cost me the sense of well being which I have enjoyed since the first of the week. As Roman military aide to Herod, puppet king of Galilee and Perea, I had led the king into Jerusalem for the Judean feast of the Passover. This was a glad recompense for the years I have spent on garrison duty and I had been looking forward to tomorrow night's opening of the great Judean independence day festival.

But today there came a summons from my former commanding officer, Military Tribune Rufus, of the 2nd Italian field corps, to appear for active duty at the garrison in the tower of Antonia. And, on top of that, came new information from Joanna, wife of the manager of Herod's household and estates, which made me fearful for the fate of the young Nazarene in whose activities I have taken a deep interest.

Yesterday was a quiet day in the city and I had begun to believe that the young man's exploit in lashing the temple concessionaires and their bosses as thieves would be overlooked by High Priest Caiaphas and that he might escape punishment.

John Learns of Plot.

Now, I am doubtful, for Joanna's story, which was told to her by John, one of the Nazarene's 12 most trusted followers, is a disturbing one. John, despite his fidelity to the young man, appears to have some kind of an in with Annas, former high priest and number one boss of Jerusalem. John had learned of the existence of a cabal against the Nazarene in the inner circle of the political sanhedrin, or national Judean council.

Joanna made it clear that the action of the Nazarene in overturning booths and exchange counters in the temple was not the only count held against him by the chief priests. They have been determined for a long time to destroy him because of his huge followings, which they regard as a threat to the peace of Jerusalem and damaging to the good standing of the temple crowd in the sight of Rome.

Nazarene Escapes Stoning.

Caiaphas was reported to have argued that if the death of one Galilean would assure peace in Jerusalem and guarantee the city's continued protection under the tolerant eagles of Emperor Tiberius, then that Galilean ought to die. Some time ago the high priests and rulers of the temple tried to entrap the Nazarene in seditious or treasonable speech.

Once they caught him in what they called a blasphemous utterance, making himself the anointed of the Lord, the Messiah. He miraculously escaped being lynched. But Roman law as such does not recognize blasphemy as a capital offense, and it was fortunate for the temple leaders that the young man escaped stoning. Otherwise they would have had a popular martyr on their hands, with serious disturbances sure to follow.

Firebrands Desert Nazarene.

From what Joanna learned from John it seemed that the sanhedrin clique had planned to await an occasion after the Passover to bring the Nazarene to trial. By that time the pilgrims would be gone and the city quiet. But something else has intervened, demanding immediate action. She said it appeared to be John's belief that new information against the Nazarene had come from a secret source.

Furthermore, Joanna learned of desertion of on group of the Nazarene's followers yesterday. These are Galilean firebrands who are always watched closely during greater festivals because of their revolutionary tendencies. They hate Rome fiercely and can see no reason why Roman rule should not be overthrown at once. The reason for their desertion of the Nazarene, who they had believed might be their anointed deliverer, was His approval of paying tribute taxes to Caesar.

Temple Answer Recalled.

This approval was expressed in one of His arguments in the temple. The young man was asked whether it was lawful to pay tribute to Caesar. He sought a Roman coin and, holding it before his questioners, asked whose image and superscription it bore. When answered, "Caesar's," he said, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

While the answer seemed correct as to His views on separation of church and Roman state, yet this admission that taxes might lawfully be paid to Caesar lost Him His most violently inclined supporters. They wagged their heads, saying, "This man who would pay tribute to an idolatrous emperor is not our kind of anointed leader." When these zealots who were the most likely to start a riot, discarded the Nazarene, the temple clique felt much safer in going ahead with its plot.

Guard Put Over Caiaphas.

On reporting to Military Tribune Rufus, I was assigned to lead a special detachment to guard the house of High Priest Caiaphas, clearing all neighboring streets at nightfall. Safe conduct into the high priest's house was issued to only one person, a certain Judas, of Kirioth, a village in Judea south of Jerusalem. This man is not of Galilee, and my hope was raised that possibly my assignment did not bear on the Nazarene's case, as I had heard only of Galileans in the young man's most intimate following.

I was told that the appearance of the man of Kirioth, or the Iscariot, was to be the signal for me to send a runner to call up heavier detachments, both of the Second corps and the temple guard, under Rufus' direct command. Night fell; hours passed. Then a single figure slunk up the street northward toward the house of Caiaphas. He was stopped and passed successively by the sentries of my detachment.

Informer Is Recognized.

On his arrival at the door of the house where I was stationed he whispered hoarsely, "I am the Iscariot." As a light thru the open door shone on his face, he avoided my gaze. Hastening thru the portal, he trembled; his swarthy face was drawn and pallid!

I had seen that face before. The Iscariot was a member of the young man's company when, with palms and flowers, hallelujahs and hosannas, the Nazarene had been accorded His regal welcome on the first day of the week.

Here, thought I, is the source of the secret information. A betrayal!

TWO INQUIRIES PROBE L CRASH; 1 DEAD, 25 HURT

Investigation by state and company officials was under way last night into the rear-end collision of two elevated trains at the Fullerton av. station during the rush hour yesterday which indirectly resulted in one fatality in addition to the injury of 25 persons, most of whom suffered bruises or minor hurts. Last night all but five of the injured had been released from hospitals.

Otto Braun of 1509 Florence av., Evanston, a guard on a northbound Howard st. train, thrust his head out from between two cars to see the wreck and his head struck a signal lamp, police said. He died in the Alexian Brothers hospital.

Regis Finn, 40, of 2223 Bissell st., motorman of an Evanston round-the-loop train which struck the rear end of a southbound Jackson park express, was extricated from his crushed cab and taken, unconscious from a skull fracture, to the Alexian Brothers hospital.

Capt. John Walsh, 44, of 6412 N. Washtenaw av., of the fire department, suffered a possible fracture of a vertebra and was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Finn's train was composed of six cars of wooden super-structure. The other train of steel coaches was virtually undamaged, Hal M. Lytle, vice president of the Chicago Rapid Transit company, said marks on the rails showed Finn put on the emergency brakes 150 to 200 feet north of the point of impact. He said Finn had a flawless 15 year service record.

Olympia Fields Members Win Time to Draft Plan

A hearing on the reorganization of the Olympia Fields Country club, which entered voluntary bankruptcy Dec. 31, was continued to May 5 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday to provide time for the membership to formulate its own plan. Atty. Thomas R. Mulroy, representing the membership, told the court that his clients believed there was sufficient money to allow the organization to carry on.

BLAME INCISO AS 500 STRIKE AT WAR PLANT

Police Link Ex-Felon to 4 UAW Walk-outs.

Responsibility for a strike of 500 workers at the war plant of Majonnier Brothers company, 4607 Ohio st., manufacturers of supplies for the navy, was attributed yesterday to Angelo Inciso, ex-convict and international representative of the American Federation of Labor's United Auto Workers' union, by Lt. George Barnes of the police labor detail.

Barnes said Inciso's labor leadership had resulted in four strikes since Jan. 1, all in war plants producing urgently needed materials.

On Feb. 14, Inciso's union conducted a one day strike at the Armstrong Tool and Die company, 327 N. Francisco av.

One Strike Lasted 12 Days.

On March 20, employes of the Extruded Metals company in Cicero began a 12 day strike, and workers at the John Woods Manufacturing company, 4435 S. Western av., struck for one day.

Workers at the Majonnier plant, members of local 778 of the UAW, voted to strike at a meeting Tuesday night, at which Inciso was chairman, because the war labor board declined to grant a 5 cent per hour wage increase.

Barnes charged that Inciso made no effort to dissuade the workers from striking, altho such a policy had been widely followed by both CIO and AFL leaders when wage disputes were in process of negotiation. He said Inciso appeared utterly indifferent to the fate of the nation's fighting men.

Charges Federal Violation.

Inciso's conduct also is in violation of the terms of the Smith-Connally act, under which unions are obliged to notify the WLB and the national labor relations board when strike action is contemplated, Barnes said.

He added that he would confer with Commissioner Allman today and seek permission to present his evidence against Inciso to United States Atty. Woll.

A union official who refused to permit the use of his name disputed Lt. Barnes' charges against Inciso. He said Inciso urged the men to wait 30 days, as required by law, before striking, and that he protested so strongly against an immediate walkout that he was threatened with eviction from the meeting hall. The 10 stewards also protested, the official declared, and are not participating in the strike. He described it as a wildcat walkout.

Inciso, who once was fired by the United Automobile Workers, has served sentences in two penitentiaries, police say. In 1933 he was sent to federal prison for violation of the liquor law in Michigan. In 1935 he was sentenced to the Indiana prison at Pendleton for larceny.

W-G-N ENGINEER DUE TO SET UP SHOP ON NEW EUROPE FRONT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Capt. James C. Matheny, engineer of radio station W-G-N in Chicago since 1928, is awaiting an opportunity to set up shop on the European continent as a communications officer for his troop carrier squadron.

Once the allies capture some open fields on the continent upon which transport planes can land, Matheny hopes to go there to operate communications when paratroop air crews change over to evacuating the wounded.

"It looks like an interesting future," he said today. "Anyway, it is better than interminable training. I've had just about enough of it."

Matheny, whose last address was the Elgin, Ill., Y. M. C. A., has a wife and small son now living in Tucson, Ariz.

WIRE RECORDER TO AIR ACTION IN EUROPE INVASION

Broadcasters will rely on the Armour magnetic wire recorder to help them give a realistic coverage of the invasion of Europe and for handling front line news elsewhere. This was brought out yesterday in a special broadcast by the National Broadcasting company in which the chain gave a preview of its plans in connection with the expected invasion of Europe. William F. Brooks, director of special events, outlined NBC's plans, which he said have been in the making for six months.

Brooks disclosed that 1,000 correspondents, technicians, editors, and other communications personnel were prepared to handle the radio news. Radio men, he said, are expected to land with invading troops carrying wire recorders, typewriters; also walkie talkie microphones, if the army's signal corps permits. The wire recorder to be used weighs about 35 pounds.

The wire recorder, invented by Marvin Camras, young physicist of the Armour Research Foundation in Chicago, records sound on wire approximately the thickness of a human hair.

FILE $20,000 SUIT FOR DEATHS OF COUPLE IN FLAT

Damages of $10,000 each for the deaths of George A. Moskey, chief counsel for the national park service, and his wife, Agnes, are sought in a suit filed yesterday against the Eddystone Apartments, Inc., 421 Melrose st. The complaint, filed in Circuit court in behalf of the estate by Atty. Edward B. Casey, charges that negligence was responsible for the leakage of lethal refrigerating gas in their flat.

Mr. and Mrs. Moskey were found dead Feb. 12 in their 19th floor apartment. They had not been seen alive since Feb. 9. A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of death from undetermined causes, altho Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, reported they died of methyl-chloride poisoning.

BAR UNIT FIGHTS SUPREME COURT QUORUM OF FIVE

Opposes Trio Making Important Rulings.

The American Bar association is officially on record as opposed to Atty. Gen. Biddle's recommendation Tuesday to congress to reduce the United States Supreme court quorum from six to five justices, Chicago lawyers said yesterday. Most of the lawyers who commented expressed emphatic opposition to the Biddle proposal which is pending in congress.

Many of the lawyers agreed it would be possible with a five man quorum for three justices to decide important cases. One said the Biddle proposal was "another move along the line of packing the court."

Three Men Could Decide.

"Just think of it! Three men could decide an important case if the quorum were reduced to five," said Albert E. Jenner Jr., who was a member of the American Bar committee on jurisprudence and law reform last year.

The American Bar committee's adverse report on the proposed change was approved by the association's house of delegates at its Chicago meeting last Aug. 26.

That report declared that a quorum of six justices had been required ever since 1869 and that therefore four must concur before they can reach a judgment—"if they divide evenly the judgment of the lower court remains in effect."

"The proposed legislation is constitutional," the committee of which Jenner was a member reported. "The real problem is the wisdom of enacting it. Your committee believes the legislation is ad hoc in character; and that it is undesirable to enable a minimum of three justices to decide matters of large concern—the only matters that are presumably worthy of the court's attention."

Asks Further Study.

Comments of Chicago lawyers on the proposal follow:

Floyd E. Thompson, president of the Chicago Bar association—"If this is an effort to make it possible for three of five judges to decide a case then I am opposed to it."

Orville J. Taylor—"Our Supreme court has served us well and effectively for these 150 years, so why change things? I am opposed to any change until the whole subject has been thoroly considered and surveyed by the bar itself. To reduce the quorum from six to five justices would apparently mean that three members could make a decision."

Silas H. Strawn—"I would not be in accord with such a change. Six men are few enough to pass on the important litigation before the court. As the court stands all of its members except Chief Justice Stone and Justice Roberts were appointed by Roosevelt."

Designed for Two Cases.

Henry A. Gardner—"I am opposed to it. Better have four men than three to make a decision. Four is few enough. You can't make it unwieldy but you should have a sufficient number in deciding important litigation."

Jenner—"I am opposed to this proposed change. The present quorum of six justices has been in effect 75 years. This requested legislation obviously is designed to dispose of two pending cases, the Aluminum and the North American company cases. It is proposed to have special legislation to meet this situation. But special legislation is always dangerous for its possible effect on other cases. Just think of it! Three members of the court would be able to decide important cases. A bill was introduced in congress to authorize the chief justice to call in retired justices to make up a quorum, and that would be much better than the proposed reduction to five members."

W-G-N TO GIVE PUBLIC 'HUMAN ADVENTURE' BEHIND RADIO SCENES

W-G-N will make it possible for the public to see what goes on behind the scenes in radio production. Beginning tonight, the broadcast of the Human Adventure, produced by W-G-N in conjunction with the University of Chicago, will be presented from the No. 1 audience studio. In addition, studio guests will be invited to come a half hour in advance of broadcast time to watch the final rehearsal. Doors will open at 7 p. m.; broadcast time is 7:30 p. m. Ticket requests should be addressed to W-G-N.

Tonight the story of ballads will be told in musical and dramatic form. Guests who arrive early will see the cast and director as they make the final cuts and revisions, and otherwise put the finishing touches on the production. A few minutes before broadcast time Sherman H. Dryer, the producer, will address the audience briefly, explaining various problems and procedures they have just witnessed. Walter Yust, editor of Encyclopedia Britannica, speaks on each of these broadcasts.

CLOTHING SAVED IN REPAIR SHOP AT CAMP McCOY

New Life Given to Worn Army Equipment.

BY HARRY McCLAIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp McCoy, Wis., April 5.—A reclamation project developed out of the abandoned equipment of a civilian conservation corps camp has grown at Camp McCoy into a major post function that last year saved $618,857 worth of clothing and equipment for the army. This year the saving is expected to top a million dollars.

Out of two rusting sewing machines recovered from a WPA junk pile and a pile of lumber once described as worthless, the Camp McCoy clothing and equipment repair shop has mushroomed into a modern plant with machinery to repair shoes, galoshes, all types of military clothing, tents, bedding, and other equipment.

Because Camp McCoy is a center for training combat troops under as close approximation to field conditions as possible, a tremendous amount of clothing is damaged thru hard wear, especially during the winter. Since the repair shop was put in operation, at least half of the clothing is saved for reissue.

Arctic Equipment Repaired.

Several weeks ago the 76th infantry division and other troops returned to Camp McCoy after a month on winter maneuvers in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. For this operation the troops were supplied with what is known as arctic equipment, so that they could live in the open and become hardened to outdoor life. Having completed this phase of training, the troops no longer needed such items as sleeping bags, wool liners, extra heavy mittens, ski shoes, snow shoes, and white camouflage clothing.

As soon as those troops returned all special winter equipment was turned in. Soiled garments went to the camp laundry for washing and sterilization. While the troops were away the laundry had washed the thousands of blankets and comforters used in the barracks so the men could come back to clean beds.

After the winter equipment was washed, the damaged articles were sent to the repair shop for reclamation. Once repaired, it was sorted and returned to stock for reissue. A large amount of the repaired clothing was fit again for original issue and the remainder was put aside for issue to men doing especially dirty jobs and to prisoners of war on work details.

Shop Wastes Nothing.

Among the items of arctic equipment turned in from maneuvers were thousands of sleeping bags and liners, and nearly 40,000 pairs of mittens. There were thousands of pairs of socks, snowshoes, and many hundreds of pairs of skis and shoes. Several thousand pairs of white felt shoes, worn with the winter camouflage suits, also were turned in.

No scrap of material is wasted in the clothing repair shop. Garments torn too badly for repair are cut to pieces and the pieces are used for patches. Some cotton material not fit for other use is made into wiping rags and the remaining scraps are baled and sold for salvage.

Field shoes get new composition soles, rubber heels, back stays, and insoles. After a shoe has been repaired in the McCoy shop twice, it is sent back to the factory for complete rebuilding and relasting unless the upper is completely worthless.

Tents Patched Up.

Canvas and web equipment, including tents, knapsacks, belts, and carriers for special equipment, also goes thru the repair shop. Tents are patched if the holes are small. Frequently an entire side is put into a tent that has been torn or burned. From belts which no longer can be used, every buckle, snap, ring, and fastener is removed for shipment back to arsenals where the hardware is re-used on new equipment. Removal of the metal parts from this equipment is done by German prisoners of war at McCoy.

As the McCoy repair shop grew from a staff of a few soldiers to a group of several hundred civilian employes, labor became an increasing problem to Col. George M. MacMullin, post commander. The man power shortage was solved by taking people off relief rolls, using cripples, and recruiting women from the farms and villages within a radius of 30 miles of the camp. A number of the women employes are Winnebago Indians.

Many of the handicapped workers did not believe at first that they could perform their tasks, Col. MacMullin said, but each week has seen their efficiency increase. Some of the women workers are wives of soldiers, but a great many more are grandmothers who speak with pride of grandsons in the service and the fact that they, too, are taking a part in the war.

TENTMATES OF WAR IN NEW GUINEA FACE PARTING OF THE WAYS

Two army air forces men who were tentmates thru 10 months of action in New Guinea were spending the last few days of their furlough together in Chicago yesterday prior to assignment to different units. They are Staff Sgt. Benjamin H. Perchuk, 26, of 3948 Adams st., and Tech. Sgt. George L. Norton, 23, of Bloomer, Wis.

Both are aerial photographers, and both hold the distinguished flying cross for work on dangerous missions over enemy territory. Sgt. Norton enlisted in November, 1940, and was overseas 39 months. He was a Flying Fortress gunner at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked. Sgt. Perchuk, a former commercial photographer, joined the air forces in February, 1941, and was overseas 20 months.

While in New Guinea they were members of the Jolly Roger unit, which boasts it destroyed more enemy planes than any other heavy bomber group. Sgt. Perchuk completed 45 missions, and Sgt. Norton has 43 to his credit.

EXPENDED YOUTH FOR WRIGLEY, SAYS EX-MODEL

Miss Iris Gardner, 42, an ex-model who has accused Charles W. Wrigley, 72, brother of the late William Wrigley Jr., of breaking a $1,000 a month contract under which she was to aid him socially, filed an amended complaint in Superior court yesterday setting forth specifically how she "ameliorated his esthetic well-being."

Demanding damages of $523,139, Miss Gardner asserted that she expended her "youth, grace, and charm to enchant any person or social circle," for Wrigley. She asserted that her charm was necessary to Wrigley because of his "uncouthness, inferiority complex, and egocentrism."

Tells of Maintaining Flat.

Asserting that she was acting at Wrigley's direction and under the terms of the contract, Miss Gardner contended that she maintained an apartment in a north side hotel for entertaining his friends and business associates, and that she introduced him to many socially prominent people.

The complaint said Miss Gardner and Wrigley met in 1937, and that he employed her as a "companion," agreeing to pay her $1,000 a month and set up a trust fund of $250,000.

Bares "Mental Distress."

Atty. John D. Vosnos, representing Miss Gardner, said that she performed all the duties for which she allegedly was retained, but that Wrigley "wilfully and maliciously" breached the contract in May, 1943. This, he contends, caused Miss Gardner "social humiliation, mental distress, and physical impairment," and made it impossible for her to obtain "similar employment."

Early last week Superior Judge John F. Haas ordered Miss Gardner's original complaint stricken because of "obscure verbiage."

Wrigley, who is married, lives at 10 Canterbury court, Wilmette. He denied the allegations and called the suit a "plain case of blackmail."

INDICT GARDENIA CASE SUSPECT ON FRAUD CHARGES

New York, April 5 (AP).—Roger Lewis Gardner, 25, wanted in Los Angeles, Cal., in connection with the "gardenia murder case," was indicted by a federal grand jury here today on charges of impersonating a government employed attorney to obtain $1,500 from a New York woman.

Arraigned immediately before Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, Gardner pleaded innocent and was held in $25,000 bail for trial April 12. He was represented by Edward V. Broderick, counsel for Wayne Lonergan, recently convicted of slaying his wife.

Assistant United States Atty. Edward C. Wallace said that after the indictment is disposed of, steps would be taken to remove Gardner to California in connection with the "gardenia" slaying last July of Mrs. Ora E. Murray, 42, wife of an army sergeant.

The local indictment charged that Gardner, formerly of Nutley, N. J., obtained the $1,500 here from Benita Arnold last Feb. 15.

Encore Like the mellow strains of a Stradivarius to an appreciative audience, this premium beer offers a taste that calls for "Encore," the beer of Outstanding Quality.
Monarch Brewing Co., Chicago

Thru the Looking Glass

A miniature hat box, brightly printed with red and pink roses and delicate green leaves, opens to reveal a set of beauty accessories keyed to the color requirements of a spring wardrobe. Snuggling comfortably beside each other in a nest of pink tissue paper are a nail polish, a base coat for the polish, a lipstick, and a box of powder, all harmonizing with one another and ready to carry a tune with the latest fashion colors. They're all carefully matched and in the rose tones that blend so well with pinks, greens, yellows, and any of the soft hues so currently popular.

There are four shades of polish in varying intensities of rose-red, each one a luscious, demurely bright shade, right for flattering the hands and playing up their whiteness. The polish, incidentally, is widely known for its high lustre and exceptional durability.

Choose the set that contains the shade of nail coloring best suited to your individual needs and the lipstick that goes with it will be of the same tint, giving you perfectly matched lips and finger tips.

The powder is one of two shades, selected as being most suitable for the average complexion to round out the rosy motif. The powder, too, has a reputation for excellence, established in the comparatively short time it has been on the market.

Sally Asks Gift of Stroller for a Service Man's Child

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Mrs. P. would be grateful if some reader can provide her with a stroller. She has a child, 9 months old, who must be taken to a clinic regularly for treatment of an eye condition. Her husband is in service and she is living on a family allowance with her mother, who is an invalid and unable to work. The youngster also needs clothing, size 3. The address is on the south side of the city.

Mrs. B. has four young children and one son in service. During a recent move a laundry bag containing the children's clothing, bed linen, and towels was lost. She has been unable to trace it and cannot afford to replace either the linens or the apparel. If readers can assist with clothing for a boy, 13, and girls, 10, 8, and 6, this mother will be grateful. The address is on the north side of the city.

While we appreciate the scarcity of radios, we do hope that somewhere one can be located for Mr. W. He lives alone and is crippled with arthritis. Some time ago he suffered a leg amputation. A radio would bring him pleasure and company and we will be glad to provide the address to any interested reader.

Since her husband's desertion, Mrs. L. has had to depend upon a social service agency for assistance in providing for her large family. She now has an opportunity to do part time work in a store one-half block away from her home. However, her only clothing consists of several faded house dresses, and she would be grateful for clothing, size 14, including a coat. The address is on the south side.

Pons Concert Net for Cancer Study $10,000

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The first—and probably one of the few—fashionable evening benefits of the year occurred last night when Lily Pons, accompanied by an orchestra led by her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, filled the Civic Opera house in a performance from which Chicago Tumor institute will receive the proceeds. Members of the women's board, which arranged the benefit, expect to turn over more than $10,000 to the institute to advance the knowledge and treatment of cancer.

Mrs. Arthur Meeker, president of the board, and its members and their friends who occupied the boxes and some main floor seats, came in evening clothes, so that at some moments the lobby looked like old times, or as Mrs. Jacob Baur said on arrival, "just like coming to the opera."

Mrs. Baur's green and white headdress, Mrs. Alden B. Swift's flame colored evening gown, Mrs. Stewart Johnson's chinchilla cape, Mrs. Meeker's three-quarters length tomato red wool cape, embroidered in gold; Mrs. Francis Neilson's ermine coat, and Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell's lime and gray dinner dress and mink jacket definitely were intended for a gala occasion. Conservative black was worn by most of the others in evening dress.

Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Arthur Meeker Jr., Mrs. David A. Cook, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes, Mrs. Harold C. Smith, the Edwin A. Seipps, Mr. Seipp Jr., Mrs. Harrold Bachmann, the William H. Mitchells, the Clarence B. Mitchells, Mrs. Kendall I. Lingle, the Orville J. Taylors, Robert F. Carr, Mrs. Robert A. Carr, Capt. and Mrs. Benyuard B. Wygant, Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes, Mrs. Darrow B. Fulton, Miss Mary Nixon, and Mrs. Louis Eckstein were others who heard petite Miss Pons.

Lieutenants Louise V. White and Gladys Batchelor and Capt. Rosalind Kaiser, left to right, being shown about the army quartermaster depot, 1819 W. Pershing rd., by Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, commandant. The WAC officers are replacing men.

Brig. Gen. J. E. Barzynski, commanding general of the army's quartermaster corps department, 1819 W. Pershing rd., yesterday introduced to their new duties three WAC officers assigned to the depot to replace men who are expected to go overseas.

First Lt. Louise V. White of New York City, 2d Lt. Gladys M. Batchelor of Del Rio, Tex., and Capt. Rosalind Kaiser of Racine, Wis., are the WACs, the first contingent of their corps to take up positions at the depot.

Mrs. Edwin W. Eisendrath, volunteer chairman of the Red Cross home service corps, announces the appointment of two volunteer captains, Mrs. William Rothermel of Winnetka and Mrs. Alfred Taylor of Glencoe.

There is an urgent need at the present time to augment the home service staff to care for the hundreds of cases of necessary aid to families of service men, and returning service men themselves.

Between 60 and 70 volunteers are required for the new training course, which will begin Tuesday. The first two weeks of classes will be held in the home service office, 616 S. Michigan av. The following four weeks of training will be acquired in the field under the supervision of case workers.

Women are asked to apply for the training at Red Cross chapter headquarters, 529 S. Wabash av.

Two classes of the standard war time nutrition course also are to begin next week at Red Cross headquarters. The first will convene Tuesday from 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. to continue thru May 30. The second will begin Wednesday, from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., to run thru May 31.

The Red Cross urges all women, especially housewives, whose special responsibility it is to purchase and prepare foods, to take the course. The instruction also is basic for canteen and dietitians' aids. Registrants are asked to apply in person.

This week women war workers at the Bendix Aviation corporation, Illinois division, plant, 505 N. Sacramento blvd., are asking fellow employes for Easter gifts to be contributed to the Chicago service men's centers. Among the articles the young women are collecting are cigarets, candy, cakes, toilet articles, books, and magazines to make the holiday enjoyable for men in uniform who are in Chicago over Easter Sunday.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Envy.

The girls in my office
At lunchtime each day
Think nothing of dashing
Some 10 blocks away.

They change things and match things
And buy things, and then
With five minutes left, they
Out-eat 15 men!

I watch them depart
In an envious state—
Whenever I try it
My boss says I'm late!

—SHIRLEY.

Women on Dining Cars.

I just returned from a trip east to visit my son in service at Providence, R. I., and discovered that on the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R., running between New York and Boston, there is a buffet car [in addition to the usual dining car] and the buffet car has only women attendants. They are young, pretty, and efficient. The waitresses wear trim brown and tan uniforms; the stewardess wears a smart black day time dress. The food is prepared openly by three or four young women in snow white uniforms, who follow a menu of selected foods.

When put in effect three years ago, the idea was to relieve congestion in the dining car, but now it's the other way around and the dining car receives the overflow from the buffet car—perhaps due to the waitresses who might be selected for their looks or their efficiency. I think both! —EMILY F. CHAPMAN.

Have just seen Olivia De Haviland in "Government Girl" and the way she handles a notebook! I'd like to see any white collar girl take fast dictation with a book held up in the air like that. Or am I getting in a rut and is this the new way?

—RUTH MILLER.

Susie, the Stenographer.

From Edith A. Lindquist comes a quotation from The Prism:

"When Susie, the stenographer, returns home in the evening from her daily grind at the office, and declares that she feels as tired as a ditchdigger, don't laugh at her. . . . You'll only be showing your ignorance. Inquisitive mechanical engineers with dynamometers and slide rules have been checking up on Susie's work and their findings are positively startling! They say that she does more work than a ditchdigger!

"Here's the way it's figured. A pressure of 12 ounces is exerted with each stroke on a typewriter key. A speedy typist will hit the keys 30,000 or 40,000 times per hour, resulting in an expenditure of energy equivalent to that required to lift about 15 tons of dirt. If she types steadily eight hours a day at that speed she will use as much energy as would be required to shovel more than 100 tons of dirt. No wonder she's too tired to help with the supper dishes when she gets home!"

Charm Offsets the Thin Voice of Miss Pons

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Barrie must have anticipated Lily Pons when he wrote those famous words for Maggie Wylie about what charm does for a woman. For even last night at the Civic Opera house, when the frail thread of her voice was a bit frayed at the edges and sometimes sounded as pale and wan as its owner was rosily suntanned, Miss Pons was the darling of the crowd. A capacity crowd, of course, assembled to hear her sing with André Kostelanetz and 75 members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Well, let us be exact about it. "Seventy-six," said impresario Harry Zelzer, "counting the librarian."

The Pons card index of costumes proved infallible. Never before in Chicago had she worn the picturesque affair in white and Chinese red that fell off her shoulders onto huge hoops like a great inverted hollyhock. Never in her life had she looked prettier, and it was sheer ingratitude in the man behind me who said sadly, "I liked her better black, in a gingham dress." That would have been when her hair rivaled the raven's wing, and when she was dressing like Marie Antoinette at Petit Trianon. Either way, she is irresistibly ornamental, but last night it wouldn't have been wise to shut your eyes while she sang.

Half the charm of Miss Pons' voice lies in its fastidious fragility, but it must be serenely supple in coloratura, with a saucy agility and a pert sparkle in that trick top that bewilders and fascinates all the other singers in the world. When it sounds tired, it turns thin and lusterless, and without that enchanting smile to beguile you, it would be pretty dull doing. Neither the florid aria from Grétry's "Zémire et Azor" nor the inevitable Bell song from "Lakmé" was up to Miss Pons' own standard, but there was something about the Rachmaninoff Vocalise—a beauty of phrasing, chiefly, that reminded me not to give up until she tries Mélisande. It could be lovely.

Altho the opera house stage seems to lay a great blotter over the color and sound of an orchestra, Mr. Kostelanetz got some of his best results in Chicago, no doubt because he had the Chicago Symphony to work with. The excerpts from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Coq d'Or" were standard in brand, but Liadoff's "The Enchanted Lake" had the fairy tale mood for all its loss of color, and Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite, which began mechanically, caught the slumbrous mood of the berceuse superbly. It was by no means a brilliant concert, but it had provocative moments.

Travel and Garden Program Is Planned by Club Presidents

Members of the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairmen will gather today in Fullerton hall of the Art institute for a travel and garden day program, which was arranged jointly by the chairmen of the two departments—Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, travel, and Mrs. Harvey A. Bush, who heads the garden unit.

Customs, arts, crafts, and entertainments of Mexico will be portrayed in a motion picture to be presented by Dr. A. B. Keeler of Mexico City, and Julia Bock Harwood, world traveler, will show her collection of costumes of foreign lands. Dr. Margery C. Carlson, botany professor at Northwestern university, will speak before the assembly on "Flower Families," and "Common Birds of Our Gardens" will be discussed by Dr. Davies Lazear, known for his bird photography. "Our Heritage" will be the subject of a talk by Norman R. Hallock.

Art Institute Plans Reception as Preview to Special Exhibit

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Art Institute of Chicago, which gave up evening receptions when the United States entered the war, is planning one for next week because it believes that the first extensive American exhibition by Posada, known as the father of modern Mexican art, will be its most important special exhibit of the year. Accordingly, members of the institute, its directors, and trustees, and members of the consular corps in Chicago and of Latin and Pan-American organizations have been invited to a preview next Wednesday night. No refreshments will be served, but there will be plenty of Mexican entertainment.

Dr. Don Francisco Castilla Najera, Mexican ambassador to the United States, is coming from Washington, D. C., to speak at the preview in a ceremony that will start at 8 p. m. Chauncey McCormick, president of the institute, will welcome the many special Mexican guests, and officially accept the exhibition, which was assembled principally by Fernando Gamboa, commissioner of the Mexican government and noted art critic. The exhibit will be opened to the public Thursday to continue thru May 14.

Mies Van Der Rohe has designed a special gallery featuring an explanatory exhibition of Jose Guadalupe Posada, called "master of the macabre," who died in 1913. It will be opened simultaneously with the main exhibit. Mariachis, or Mexican strolling musicians, will entertain, singing among other songs a new ballad, which was written especially for the opening and will be printed on colored paper and given to the guests as souvenirs. Chita Chavez, Mexican dancer, will do a bull fight dance, and Hull House dancers will perform.

Here and There.

Here to spend Easter in Lake Forest are Mrs. George Greeley Wells and Mrs. Peter Pook, whose husbands are away in the service, but missing from the suburb's Easter parade will be Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan Jr. and Mrs. Irving Kreutz. Mrs. Wells and her young son, George Jr., have arrived from Portsmouth, N. H., to be with Mrs. Wells' parents, the George W. Blossoms, for the duration. Lt. Wells, of the marines, has gone to the west coast.

Mrs. Pook and her 2 months old son are with her mother, Mrs. Donald McGibeny, while Lt. Pook is on duty in England with the army air forces. Mrs. Buchanan will attend Easter services in Annapolis, Md., where she and Lt. Buchanan have taken an apartment. Mrs. Buchanan Sr. and Miss Barbara Buchanan will arrive today after a holiday in Palm Beach.

When Mr. Kreutz, who had been serving as a yeoman in the navy, recently was commissioned an ensign and transferred to Boston, his bride of a few months ago, the former Barbara McLaughlin, accompanied him east. They are living in Cambridge.

Engagement.

Dr. and Mrs. Augustus Hollands' home in Kenilworth will be the scene of a wedding when their niece, Miss Betty Jane Ray, and Lt. John Kenneth Winters are married there early in June. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Charles Ray of Hamilton, Ont., formerly of Oak Park, are announcing their daughter's engagement to the young marine corps officer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Winters of Oak Park. Miss Ray, who attended Rosary college, is a senior at St. Luke's hospital school of nursing. Her fiancé, who attended the University of Illinois and Northwestern university, is stationed at Chase field, Beeville, Tex., as an instrument flight instructor.

Weddings.

From Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Sowers of Ogden, Utah, comes the announcement of the marriage last Sunday of their daughter, Charline, and Pvt. Gordon Hall of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bigelow Hall of Winnetka.

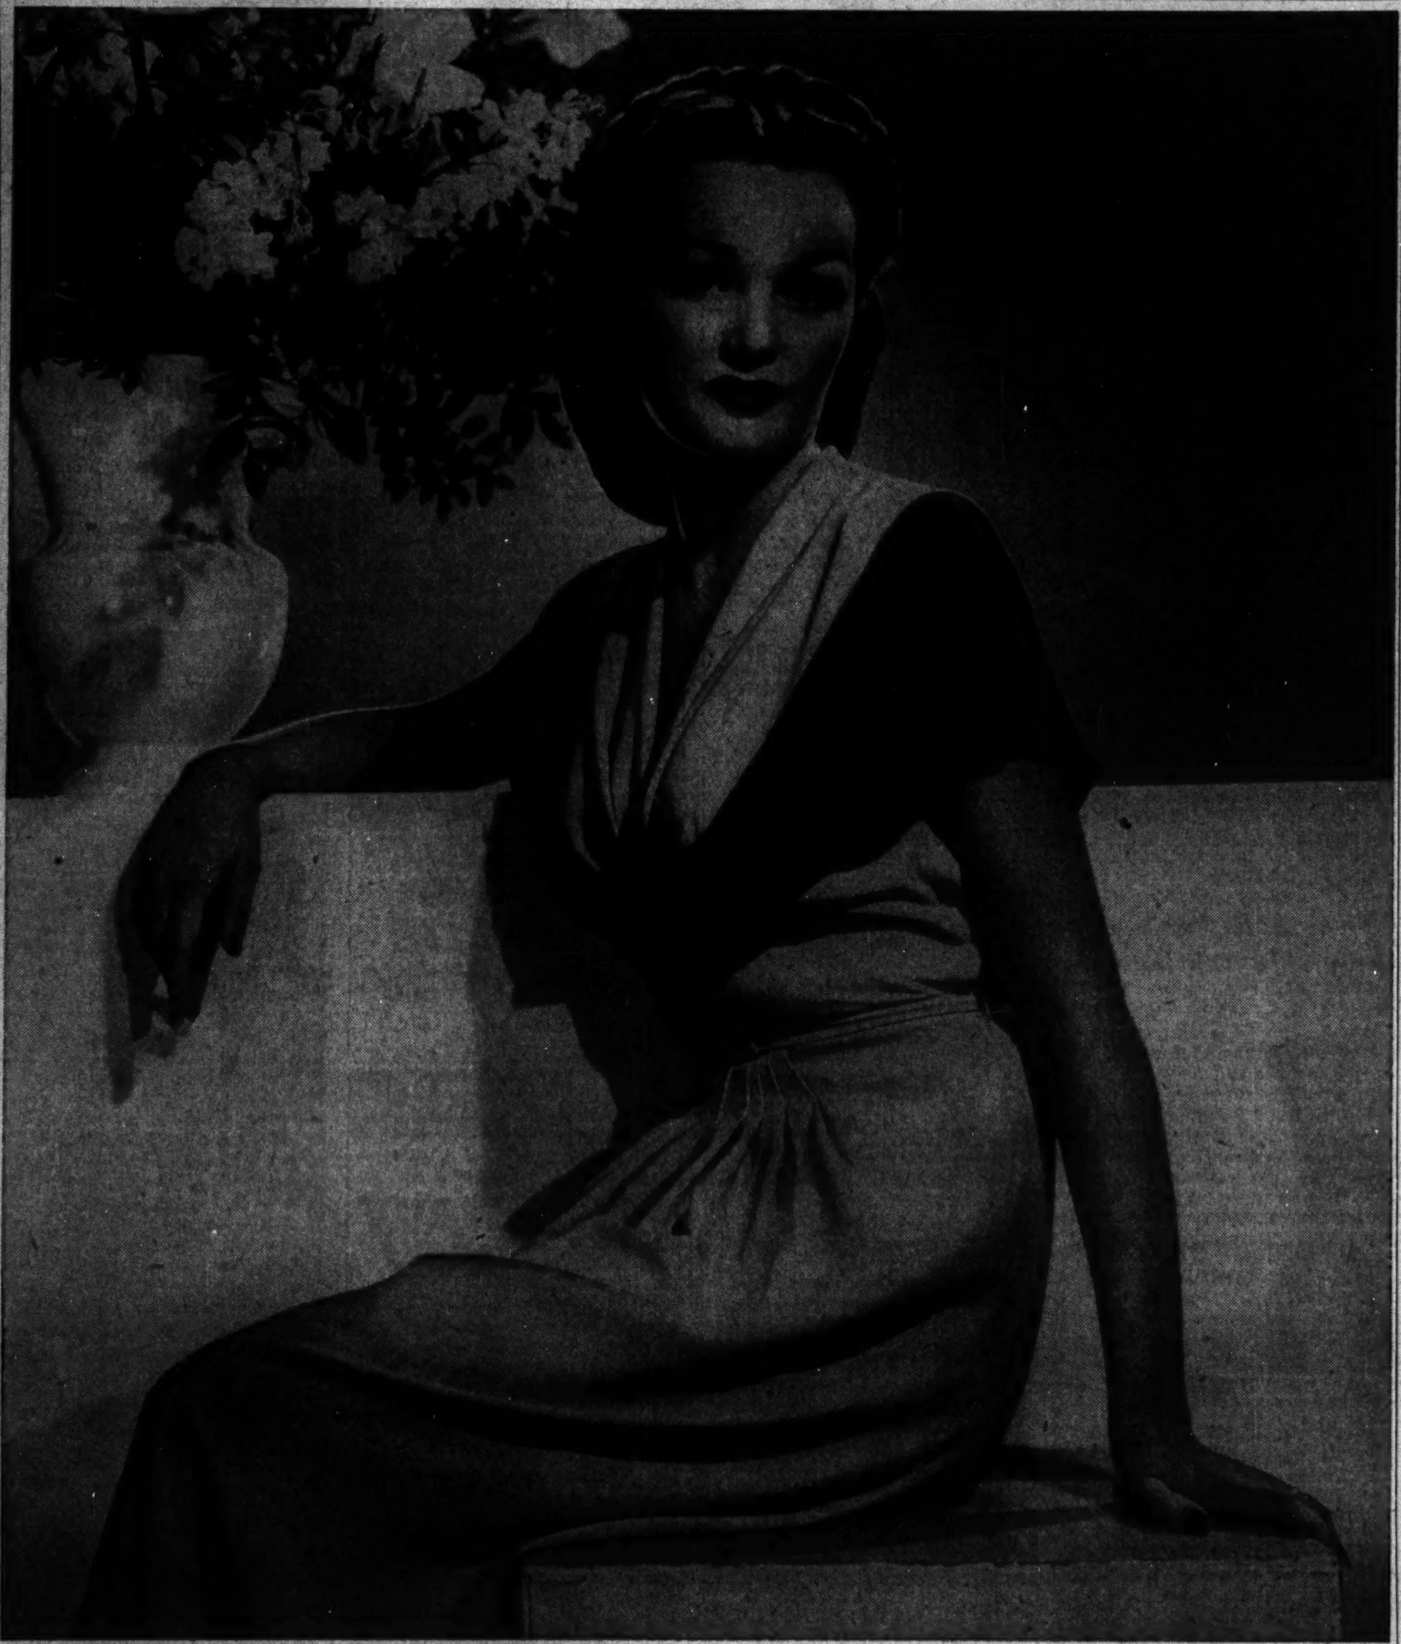
An Attractive Long Dinner Dress for Spring Wear



This first spring long dinner dress of yellow crepe has for contrast a graceful swinging band of leaf green around the back, over the shoulders, and fastened low in front. The skirt is slit in front to the knees, and the narrow belt and buckle are of the same colored crepe as the dress. This creation is one of a newly unpacked collection to be found in a Chicago shop. Girdle Supplies Must Stretch to Limit, Is Warning

New York, April 5 (AP).—American women faced an ungirdled future today as the corset industry announced stocks of rubber for foundation garments now are practically exhausted.

Issuing an appeal that home front corset buying be cut to a minimum, the Corset and Brassiere Association of America and the Associated Corset and Brassiere Manufacturers, Inc., said that existing stocks are barely sufficient to supply the needs of women war workers.

So that these workers would not be subject to nonsupport, the industry pleaded that the rest of American womanhood abandon plans to streamline Easter suits with new girdles and urged all to hang on to what they had because there might not be more for the duration.

Floor Length Dinner Dress Back in Style

BY REA SEEGER.

New floor length dinner dresses have returned from a temporary fashion eclipse, which was partly brought about by short party clothes and the legal limits as to yardage. Even now, the amount of yardage is well within the prescribed inch limits, but the designers have resourcefully worked magic with what is available.

Column slim dinner clothes have always been appreciably more sophisticated than the swirling wide skirts. For these extremely slim and figure revealing fashions have a way of adding inches to a short silhouette.

Spring and summer dinner clothes in this new collection come in ravishing pastel colors and pastel color combines. Graceful drapery is achieved with rippling cascades of the clinging crepe down the center of the skirt and bodice top. Sleeves are invariably short, many well above the elbows, some are elongated cap effects cut one with the bodice shoulders.

One detail that always adds distinction is the use of narrow belts, made of the same color and material as the dress. This always assures a long, unbroken, slender silhouette, because a belt of contrast color definitely divides either short or tall silhouette.

Lovely daffodil yellows, vivid cherry red, gay prints with pastel colors predominating, unusual contrasts of navy with yellow, yellow with leaf green, and the shining all white creations make a super showing of spring dinner dresses.

Some of the more sophisticated dresses are made of clinging jersey-like materials. These are made with tight, long fitted sleeves, a soft shirring down the center and a rib-hugging silhouette, with the long skirt slit to the knees in front. All of these new models are slit either at the sides or directly in front for graceful silhouette in action.

Sinai Planning a New Temple at End of War

BY AL CHASE.

Sinai congregation, one of Chicago's oldest Jewish organizations, now at 4622 South Park way, has post-war plans under consideration for a new temple and community center to occupy the entire block bounded by Hyde Park blvd., East End av., East 50th pl., and Cornell av., it was learned yesterday. The site, for which negotiations are pending, is directly west of the former Chicago Beach hotel, now a government hospital. Edgar N. Greenebaum is president of the congregation.

Tentative plans call for a large parking area in the adjoining blocks, either to the west or the north, the exact location to be determined later.

The main temple auditorium probably will be slightly smaller than the present Sinai synagog, which has 2,200 seats. The community building unit, to be connected with the main building, is to have a swimming pool, a gymnasium, many classrooms, and an auditorium approximately the same size as the present unit, which has 600 seats. It also will have several other modern features not included in the present 32 year old community center on South Park way.

Emil Kipzinger, treasurer of Sinai congregation, and Mark Levy, realtor, comprise the committee in charge. Kipzinger declined to comment about the project.

The site being considered is part of 250,000 square feet of vacant land recently bought by Milton H. Callner, one of Chicago's largest property owners, in the area bounded by Hyde Park blvd. on the south, Leif Erickson dr. on the east, Burnham park on the north, and the Illinois Central right of way on the west.

He purchased it from the Lake Shore National bank, trustee for the Chicago Beach Property Liquidation trust, for $60,000, subject to $1,250,000 in back taxes and penalties.

The sale was conditional upon approval by two-thirds of the certificate holders, who are owners. The deal was approved by Federal Judge Igoe.

Sinai congregation was formed in the 1860s and held services on Monroe st., near La Salle. Later it moved to the southwest corner of Indiana av. and East 21st st. In 1911 the present $500,000 Sinai temple and community center on South Park way was erected. It was formally opened in 1912.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

"STAKE THE NURSES!"

Producer Schenck, during Barrymore's absence on the cruise, had had a bungalow built for the actor on the United Artists lot. Jack placed in it some of the furniture and pictures that once had decorated the Alchemist's Corner in New York. He removed one of the windows and put in its place a cage for Clementine.

"You know, Hank," Jack said to his manager, "there's an old superstition among actors that if you put personal things in your dressing-room, you'll have bad luck!"

Not long after this, on May 18, 1927, according to the Hotchener record, Mrs. Costello took Jack to task for having visited Dolores without the mother's consent. She advised him that this must not occur again. The melancholy wooer temporarily turned his energies toward work at the studio. He began to make tests for "The Tempest," altho the picture itself was not to be commenced until the next October.

Some days afterward Barrymore learned of the illness of John Drew. He left Hollywood on June 3 to be with his uncle at the Dante sanitarium in San Francisco. The elderly actor had been appearing on tour in the all-star revival of "Trelawney of the Wells," playing the part of Sir William Gower. While in Vancouver, B. C., Drew's arthritis severely troubled him. On May 31, in Portland, he became quite ill. He was taken to the San Francisco sanitarium, where it was determined that he was stricken with the further complications of rheumatic fever and septic poisoning.

Jack remained with his uncle for three days, then returned to Hollywood to do a "Hamlet" reading over the radio. This was the "O! what a rogue and peasant slave am I" soliloquy, his favorite speech of all Shakespeare.

On June 27 Barrymore's friend Jack Prescott arrived in Hollywood. Together with Lionel they journeyed to San Francisco, word having reached them that Drew had suffered a relapse. Lionel interrupted the making of a motion picture version of "Rain" to be with his uncle.

During this three weeks' stay in San Francisco, and when not with his uncle, Barrymore prowled the waterfront or went among antique shops.

Barrymore and Prescott often visited a cafe known as "The Lost Crosses." This gin-fogged rendezvous had a small floor space where waterfront dandies danced as if on pogo sticks with their gillies.

The friends took their own prohibition liquor to "The Lost Crosses," as was the custom. One night, while they were drinking and dining near the kitchen door, a huge fellow appeared suddenly at Barrymore's and Prescott's table, and seized their half emptied glasses.

"What the hell!" Jack shouted. "You're taking my life's blood!"

"Pipe down, Jack," Prescott cautioned his friend, then whispered, "I don't know, but I think this joint is being knocked off."

Prescott barely had uttered this conjecture when the same fellow who had grabbed their glasses leaped onto a piano bench to call out: "Ladies and gentlemen, you will all remain seated right where you are. This is a federal raid!"

Barrymore said: "Here we are, sitting in probably the lowest dump in San Francisco—regardless of its religious nomenclature— and Uncle Jack is dying at the hospital. I trust that Ethel won't read of it in the newspapers."

"I don't believe there is a soul here who knows you," Prescott said, "or even cares who you are."

"Perhaps you're right," said Jack. "Let's feign innocence."

"But," Prescott continued, "in case we are led out of here in chains, remember one thing: your name is not Barrymore, but Blythe."

Jack brightened. "I'd forgotten all about that."

They sat for some time, Prescott reassuring Barrymore that no one in the place knew him. Suddenly the same bulky fellow who had announced the raid again stood up on the piano bench to call out in a stentorian voice: "It's all right, Mr. Barrymore! You and your friend can leave now!"

As Jack started out across the dance floor every one began to applaud. He turned, made an elaborate bow, then said, "Thanks. That is more applause than I have had since 'Hamlet,' and much more welcome."

On the night of July 8 Jack was enjoying a boxing match. An usher went to his seat to relay the message that Mr. Drew was in a coma, dying. Barrymore remained at his uncle's side all that night.

Early in the morning Mr. Drew roused from the coma to recognize his nephew. The last thing he said to Jack was a cheery: "Stake the nurses! Stake the nurses!"

Upon his return from San Francisco, Jack learned that his yacht, The Mariner, had begun to show signs of dry rot. As sometimes happens to a converted sailing vessel, the installation of power had permitted sea damage to penetrate the yacht's wooden skin. Jack wished to preserve The Mariner, mainly because of sentimental reasons. He decided that every effort, no matter how expensive, be made to counteract the dry rot. He was assured that the condition could be corrected.

Barrymore sailed on The Mariner to San Diego the latter part of July. The Costellos and Prescott traveled there by rail. Then the party motored across the Mexican border to Tia Juana. Jack became morose over some real or fancied frustration concerning his romance, and returned alone to The Mariner, then sailed for home.

In September 1927 Dolores' father obtained an uncontested divorce. The papers had been filed in June of that year, charging incompatibility. Dolores Costello now leased a new home for her mother, Helene, and herself at 1388 Schuyler rd., Beverly Hills. Barrymore began to visit Dolores more frequently than when her father had been on the premises. Mr. Costello had not regarded Jack as the village paragon.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is downright childish to give high card signals that are bound to be of far greater value to the declarer than to the signaller's own partner. For example:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠K 7 3
♥K 10 6
♦A 5
♣K J 8 5 4

WEST
♠Q J 10 9
♥7 4 3 2
♦J 6 2
♣7 2

EAST
♠8 6 5 2
♥A Q J 9
♦10 7 4 3
♣6

SOUTH
♠A 4
♥8 5
♦K Q 9 8
♣A Q 10 9 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 clubs [final bid]

Obviously, the slam would have been defeated on the spot if West had been second sighted and opened a heart, but he selected the more natural lead of the spade queen. The ace won and two rounds of trumps were drawn, on the second of which East flamboyantly signalled with the heart queen. Declarer might have decided to play for the heart ace to lie in front of the king, but this "loud" signal could not be disregarded. South determined to try a different plan. He cashed the spade king and ruffed the spade seven, then ran off every one of dummy's trumps, discarding a heart from his own hand. East's discard on the last trump was not so easy. Forced to reduce to five cards, he had the unenviable choice of letting go a diamond [which would have given South four diamond tricks] or blanking the heart ace. When he actually chose to discard the heart jack, the situation was easy for declarer to read. He led the heart king from dummy, forcing out the ace, and now he could discard his only losing diamond on the heart 10.

Service Men to Hunt Eggs in Grant Park

Grant Park will be the scene Sunday of an Easter egg hunt for service men and women. Thousands are expected to gather between noon and 2 p. m. to stalk unbelievable numbers of eggs that have been hard boiled, colored, and hidden under benches, around statues, fountains, and trees.

The eggs have been donated to the Chicago Service Men's centers for Easter purposes by many organizations. Students at the Washburne trade school alone contributed 10,000.

The hunt, sponsored by the centers, will feature the common dairy variety of eggs, which have been substituted for the frothy chocolate version, which this year are casualties of war.

Games designed to prove that the old saw about carrying all of one's eggs in one basket is either literally true or false have been planned, and egg relays will feature teams of soldiers, sailors, marines, and their feminine counterparts. Among the contests are: balancing an egg on a person's forehead and eating hard boiled eggs in record time.

U. S. O. centers in and around Chicago have arranged egg dyeing contests, tea dances, and musical events for the holiday. Many of them will serve special Easter breakfasts to service men.

Commuting service men and women will come in for a round of singing. Members of the North Western railway employes chorus have announced their intention of filling the station with music on Saturday.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

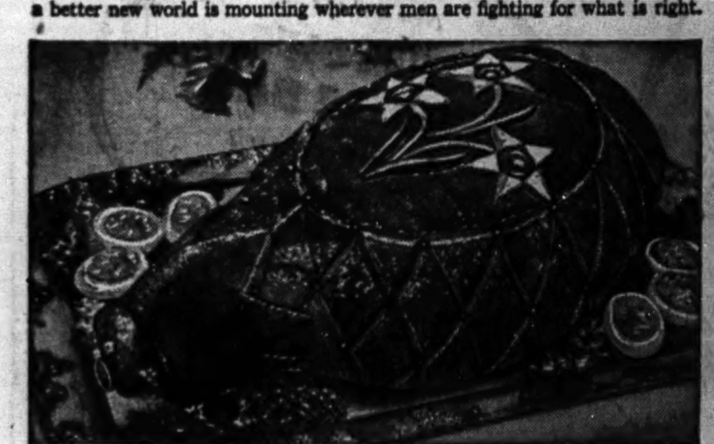
EASTER SYMBOLIZES NEW LIFE—NEW HOPE

Easter! The increasing warmth of the sun in April . . . the unfolding of buds and the bold, brave blossoming of flowers . . . the radiant awakening of the earth after a cold winter's sleep . . . these symbolize to man new life, new hope. Let us keep up the spirit of Eastertime this year, for now, if ever, man's hope for a better new world is mounting wherever men are fighting for what is right.



Baked Ham—for a traditional Easter

It's fortunate that Wilson's hams require no more points than ordinary hams. Wilson & Co. makes two fine hams.

Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham, long famous as "the ham you cut with a fork," is ready-to-serve cold, just as it comes from the market. Or heat it, if you prefer.

Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, the original tender extra mild ham, must be thoroughly cooked at home.

GLAZING AND DECORATING

To cook, follow directions that come with each ham. One-half hour before done, remove ham from oven, score fat, sprinkle with brown sugar, dot with cloves and baste sparingly with ¼ cup fruit juice mixed with ¼ cup corn syrup. Decorate if desired (except for leaves and stems) and return to oven to finish baking. Decoration above is easily made. Use wedges cut from slices of pineapple (candied or canned), slices of maraschino cherry; cut leaves and stems from green pepper. Garnishing tip: deviled Clear Brook Eggs in nests of endive.

• • •

Small Family, Few "Points"?

The point value on ham is extremely low now, so there is no need to miss out on the goodness of a Wilson's Certified Ham this Easter. If you can't get a whole ham, settle for a half ham or a ham steak and rejoice!

Rub ½ cup light brown sugar into a 2-lb. slice of Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, sprinkle with 10 whole cloves, place in a baking pan, add ½ cup water and bake until fully cooked, about one hour. Serves 4 to 6.

If you select a slice of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham (ready-to-serve), simply heat through.

For a Gala Dinner

Boiled new potatoes, buttered and parsleyed, are "tops" with ham; follow through with asparagus, a tossed spring salad and delectable hot rolls. For dessert, serve individual cakes with a depression cut out of center top (for nest effect). Frost with white icing and cover top, including depression, with coconut tinted green. Fill "nest" with jelly bean candies and the children will be delighted.

EASTER BREAKFAST

Start Easter morning with the song of Wilson's Certified Bacon a-sizzling in the pan! It will bring the whole family to the table in a jiffy. Easter bunnies and eggs are inseparable so plan to have plenty of Clear Brook Eggs on hand for filling "short-orders" at each meal on Easter. It's an old custom—one we enjoy greatly.

Sincerely yours, George Rector

GROW MORE IN '44

We must grow 10 million tons of food in gardens in '44. The goal is 22 million Victory Gardens—two million more than last year. If you haven't already done so, make plans now to raise as much of your own food as possible this year.

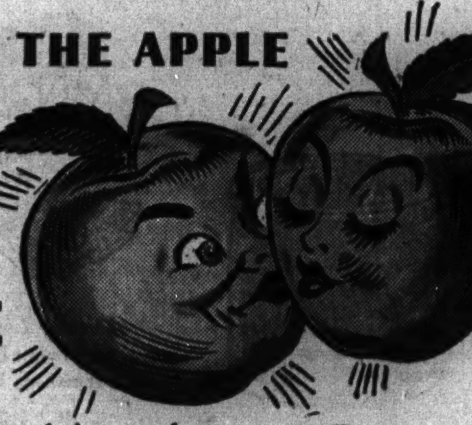
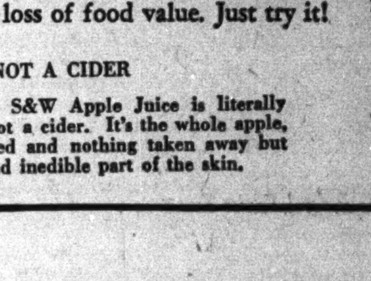
THE Sweetheart OF THE APPLE



S and W APPLE JUICE

(LIQUID APPLE)

All that's best in a ripe, juicy apple is yours for the drinking in S&W Apple Juice — the sweet-tart refreshing flavor . . . rich, creamy color . . . smoothly pleasant, satiny texture. Liquid Apple is the new Apple drink — it is the whole apple, crushed by a process which prevents change of color or flavor, or loss of food value. Just try it!



NOT A CIDER

The color proves S&W Apple Juice is literally "liquid apple"—not a cider. It's the whole apple, with nothing added and nothing taken away but the core, seeds and inedible part of the skin.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It will be simpler to get that canning sugar this year. You go to your local rationing board for an application, and use it for all the members of your family. Filled out, it should be sent back to the board, but must be accompanied by spare stamp No. 37 in ration book 4 for each member of the family [or each person whose name appears on the application]. The rationing board will keep the application and send you coupons or a certificate with which to purchase the sugar. Note that this is spare stamp 37, not sugar stamp 37, which will be used later.

The application should estimate the number of pounds of sugar you'll require for this year's canning and preserving. Up to 20 pounds per person may be allowed. In addition, Stamp 40 in ration book 4 is good for 5 pounds of canning sugar without benefit of application.

This is the full amount of canning sugar to be allowed until 1945, it must be remembered, so if you get your supply all at once and fail to budget it to care for late ripening fruits, it's your own hard luck!

Every homemaker should use this canning sugar as economically as possible and make it stretch to cover all of her family's canning needs. It should be remembered that fruits may be canned entirely without sugar, if necessary, altho sugar does help the flavor. Heavy canning sirups probably should be abandoned in favor of light and medium sirups, and fruit butters which require less sugar than jams might be made in larger quantity.

Very few jellies and jams need the old fashioned "cup for cup" measure of sugar. Most of them are much better with ⅔ or ¾ as much sugar as fruit pulp. This was true even before sugar rationing!

Homemakers are being advised to can every bit of war garden produce this year, as it looks as tho civilian supplies of canned goods will have to be sharply limited. Any organizations or groups which are interested in sponsoring a community food preservation project should write to the Midwest Regional Office of Distribution, War Food administration, 5 S. Wabash, Chicago 3, Ill.

War gardeners learned many a lesson last year, and wasted a good deal of energy and seeds. This year's gardens should be better by benefit of experience. The same is true of canning. Many city women who never had canned before put up quarts and quarts of food, which in too many instances spoiled because of improper handling or procedures. Let's hope that 1943's canning mistakes won't be repeated this year!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 5.—Ethel Barrymore's four weeks in "None but the Lonely Heart" was run like a train schedule—never late a second. It was finished the very date they'd planned. She's now en route to join her "Corn Is Green" company, whose salaries have been paid while she's been making the picture. They'll close the tour June 15. She'd like to gather up her daughter and come back here for the summer. Says Ethel, "After four years of 'Corn,' don't you think I deserve a rest?" She tells me one son is already overseas and the other about to go. I heard a producer discussing Ethel the other night and saying, "O, yes, she's a fine actress—everybody knows that, but she has no box office pull." I couldn't help going into action. Ethel's done the most phenomenal business ever done by a stage actress. She's played civic auditoriums, high schools, and in small towns has taken in $10,000 a night. I'd like to see Metro co-star her with Lionel and let them fight it out for glory. She told about seeing a picture with Lionel and Jack some years back where they made side bets as to which could steal more scenes. She said, "I laughed so hard everybody around me in the theater shushed and said, 'What a rude woman.'" Make no mistake—there's magic in the name Barrymore.

Whistling While He Works.

Walt Disney phoned to say: "Thank you, Hedda. 'Snow White' will take in another 2 million dollars. In Washington, D. C., it topped the business it did when it originally opened there. It's playing in Canada, and 60 per cent of its audience are adults." Walt continued, "With this new lease of life your urging gave it, it will gross 10 million. It cost $1,700,000 and practically bankrupt me. You know, Hedda, I've got to run it again to see what I've got." When you do, Walt, let me know. I want to see it with you. Then I asked why he didn't show us again "Three Little Pigs," "Ferdinand," and "Bambi." He's thinking about it.

This Is No Foolin'.

Dorothy McGuire begging David Selznick to let her do "Joan of Arc." Listen, if Joan is done by anybody but Ingrid Bergman, there'll be an uprising here. . . . Ilka Chase called to say "hello." She's back in town with a contract about to be signed for her book, "In Bed We Cry," which she'll do first as a play on Broadway come fall. . . . Dudley Nichols helps Mary McCarth rewrite the "Life of Sister Kenny," after which Dudley produces the picture. . . . Frances Goldwyn, if she can get reservations, goes to see her son, Sammy Jr., in Virginia before he joins Uncle Sam. . . . Gregory Peck celebrated his 28th birthday yesterday with his mother, who'd never been near a motion picture set, having lunch with him.

Izzat So, Mr. Ratoff?

Gregory Ratoff talking Russian with an accent, said, "Ten years ago I made 'Let's Fall in Love' with Harriet Lake [now Ann Sothern]. In that I acted a producer. I acted so good they made me a director. Nobody at that time seemed to want Ann Sothern. Finally she got her big chance with the Maisie pictures. Now let me predict to you that Dick Haymes has everything Ann Sothern had at that time. He will not only go as far but farther, 'cause he has more than everything." . . . As Ann Miller left the blood bank, an attendant said to her, "Couldn't I have just one drop more for my autograph book?" . . . Errol Flynn's got himself a rabbit ranch.

Laraine's Going Up.

Laraine Day delighted with her seven year no option deal at Metro. When she finishes "That Hunter Girl" she'll do "War Women" with Lana Turner. Joan Harrison wanted Laraine for "Dark Waters," but she couldn't do that and "That Hunter Girl" at the same time. . . . All this switching of husbands makes you wonder if they shouldn't go with the laundry. Have your laundry man hand out a new one when you change your linen. . . . A couple of marines muttered, "Isn't it lucky? We have four sensational cases—the Chaplin, Lonergan, and two others—to wipe war news off the front pages, now that our boys are stopped at Cassino." . . . Come now. You're expected to believe it takes Binnie Barnes an hour to lace herself into a Victorian corset for "Gold Town." Any gal who can't lace herself up until she's got the swooning heebie-jeebies in 10 minutes, isn't worth her salt, and Binnie's worth much more than that. . . . Hymie Fink, who covers the town for Photoplay, shoots nothing but colored pictures. Sure, they're expensive, but his boss, Fred Sammis, likes 'em that way.

Walgreen DRUG STORES

$12,000 Asked in Fund Drive by Girl Scouts

The Chicago Girl Scouts, who in 32 years have developed a program to furnish wholesome leadership for girls 7 to 18 years old, are conducting a campaign for $12,000 in contributions.

There are 11,000 Girl Scouts in 410 troops in the city today. Leaders hope a successful finance campaign will extend the program to 15,000 girls by the end of 1944. Even then, the program will fall short of its potentiality. The National Girl Scout organization reaches 10 per cent of all girls of Scout age in the country. The Chicago unit reaches only 3 per cent of the approximately 360,000 girls of Scout age here.

The program here costs $3.83 a year per girl, of which $1.36 comes from donations. Other sources of income are the Girl Scout cookie sales, the Girl Scout shop, and the Community Fund. In return for that small outlay, the individual Scout receives experience in war service thru coöperating war agencies, is trained in community service, in citizenship, and such essentials as home nursing and first aid. Those trained in the latter two serve as junior hospital aids. Day and troop camping are also offered. Camp Juniper Knoll at Elkhorn, Wis., is self-supporting, accommodates 145 girls, and is open for four two-week sessions.

Under the banner name of "Girl Scout Dads," one organization, the Woodlawn-South Shore Kiwanis club, rallied to the Girl Scout cause at a luncheon meeting yesterday in the Southmoor hotel, when Dr. Nels R. Nelson, chairman of the girls' activities committee, asked for contributions from members.

The Girl Scouts endeavor to serve girls of all races and nationalities and from all economic levels. Mrs. George Bayrd, 9044 Hoyne av., president of the board of directors, commenting yesterday on the over-all plan, said:

"We believe that our creative recreation for the teen age girl's leisure time is an effective and wholesome influence. In a word, it is a natural and normal weapon against juvenile delinquency. Right now, the program also supplements or supplies home training projects so vitally needed by girls whose parents are both working or whose homes are inadequate for other reasons."

Contributions to the Girl Scouts should be sent to Girl Scouts, Inc., of Chicago, 35 E. Wacker dr.

Nurses Hear of Ways to Assist Planned Parenthood League

The role of the nurse in planned parenthood was discussed last night at the La Salle hotel in the first of two evening sessions for graduate nurses arranged by the Illinois League for Planned Parenthood. Mrs. Ben H. Gray, state director of the league, which has headquarters in Chicago, summarized the purpose of the sessions as a means of widening medical control of child spacing information.

"The nurse is a valuable contact with the patient," she said, "and can, therefore, recommend the patient to a reliable source of information. This is an important method of reducing illegal abortion as well as helping women who are poor pregnancy risks because of conditions of health." She said women are also benefited by professional advice as to the number of children they can bear safely, since infant and maternal death rates rise with the seventh, eighth, and ninth child.

More than 500 graduate nurses from Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin attended last night and are registered for the session at 7 p. m. today. Speakers included Mrs. Kathryn Trent, field director of Planned Parenthood Federation of America, and Dr. Bernard Mortimer, member of the American Board of Obstetrics in gynecology.

21 New Plants Soon to Turn Out Penicillin

Cleveland, April 5 (AP).—Soon 21 new penicillin manufacturing plants in the United States and Canada, costing $20,000,000, will be making nine pounds of pure penicillin a month. Enough perhaps for the military forces, but not enough for a date to be set when this life saving drug can be given to the public without restriction.

The penicillin developments were reported to the American Chemical society today by Dr. Robert D. Coghill of the United States department of agriculture at Peoria, Ill., where much of the penicillin work has been done.

The nine pounds will treat only 250,000 cases of severe illness, but will do for 2,500,000 cases of gonorrhea or other comparatively mild infections—mild, that is, when penicillin is the remedy.

The cost of making penicillin has dropped 84 per cent in the last year, so that the dosage for a severe illness costs about $35; and for gonorrhea $5.00.

He named the diseases for which penicillin is good and all but one are the same as those where sulfa drugs are good. The exception is syphilis, which Dr. Coghill put in the "possible" class.

There are now three methods of growing penicillin where there was only one a year ago. By one of these it can be grown in vats instead of bottles. Nevertheless, Dr. Coghill said, only nine pounds a month from $20,000,000 worth of plants is "utterly fantastic." Methods of producing it faster are not now in sight, but are expected. Penicillin production today is enough for 40,000 severe cases a month. One year ago it was only enough for 400.

HAWKS, CANADIENS RESUME SERIES TONIGHT

NICHOLSON JOINS CUBS; BATTLE WHITE SOX TODAY

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ISN'T it a little strange that the big league ball players who need the spring drills most are the ones who find some excuse for reporting late? . . . Among the 1944 recalcitrants are Buck Newsom of the Washington Senators, Ernie Lombardi of the New York Giants, and Lou Novikoff of the Cubs, any one of whom would be more efficient without 20 or 30 surplus pounds. . . . Joe Heving, 39 year old Cleveland pitcher, is a grandfather. . . . Frank McCormick of the Reds, whose right shoulder was wrecked in a collision at second base with Slats Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals late last season, still is unable to throw the ball across the diamond without winding up. . . . Wilfred [Rosy] Ryan, new manager of the Minneapolis Millers, has been assured by Owner Mike Kelley that his job is safe, no matter where the club finishes in the pennant race. . . . Earl [Jug] Girard, called the greatest athlete ever developed at Marinette [Wis.] High school, is headed for the University of Wisconsin this fall. . . . He broke school basketball scoring records for two straight years; led the football team to its first undefeated season in 17 years and stars in wrestling, boxing, tennis, and table tennis. . . . Joe McCarthy nominates Joe Gordon as the top second baseman in major league history. . . . "Fred McGuire of the Cubs was a fine fielder, but he couldn't hit with Gordon," says Joe. "And Tony Lazzeri was the best I ever saw in handling ground balls he could reach, but Tony didn't cover as much ground as Joe nor make as many double plays."

Joe Gordon.

Young Corbett III.

Young Corbett III., once welterweight boxing champion of the world, now weighs 180 pounds and has a son in the army. . . . Shirley Povich, Washington baseball writer, ventures the opinion that the Senators have the best pitching staff in many years and the worst infield in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. . . . Freddy Fitzsimmons refuses to worry about the baseball man power situation. . . . "It can't be any worse this year than it was last," opines Fred, "unless they change the nine-man rule." . . . Marvin Owen, manager of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast league, tried to enlist in the navy, was rejected for physical reasons, then came his draft call and again he was turned down.

M. D.

A doctor in a way is like a priest—
So many times this thought has come to me,
Particularly in these dark and trying times,
When calls upon them touch infinity;
At top speed every moment of the day,
Watching and waiting thru the long tired night,
No thought of self, unsparing in their zeal,
To bring relief to some poor human's plight.

Doctors and priests are much, I think, the same,
One's realm the body, the other one's the soul,
But working hand in hand, it seems to me,
They labor ever toward a common goal.
What would the world, in troubled times like these,
Do without men of these two callings rare?
Both standing there as bulwarks strong between Poor human frailty and the spectre of despair.

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

CUBS AND SOX TO PLAY WAR BOND GAME APRIL 17

A war bond game between the Chicago Cubs and the White Sox will be played especially for Chicago High school students on Monday afternoon, April 17, in Wrigley field, treasury department officials announced last night. Admission to the game will be to the first 40,000 students who sell bonds for their tickets.

In addition to the game, the treasury department said the high school making the best record in the sale of bonds will be awarded a complete baseball outfit for members of its baseball team. Individual students, one in each school, achieving the best record in bond sales will receive an autographed baseball.

BILL'S ARRIVAL POSES PUZZLE: SIGNED OR NOT?

Goes Right to Work but Won't Talk.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 5.—Business took a turn for the better in the Cub winter quarters today despite another dose of unfortunate weather that prevented them from going thru with their scheduled exhibition against the Cincinnati Reds in nearby Bloomington.

As compensation for the inactivity forced on them by a near freezing atmosphere, the Cubs had a chance to talk to and look at Bill Nicholson, who is one of them but was listed as a stray until he strolled into the hotel lobby this noon, fresh from his lettuce acres in Maryland.

Bill went to work immediately, the weather notwithstanding, but whether he is a duly signed actor in Jim Wilson's 1944 cast or still a holdout doesn't seem to be quite clear.

All he knows, he says, is that he read in the papers that he had signed.

May Need Pow-Wow.

The lad who tapped in 128 Cub runs last season, a figure that was National league tops, didn't get here opening day because he couldn't make Vice President Jim Gallagher remove the rubber band from the club bank roll.

Nick was reported to have requested a modest $17,500 for the season and to have discovered Gallagher refused to budge after being high pressured into $16,500. Subsequently Gallagher announced an agreement had been reached, but the athlete's vagueness today indicated that it might be necessary to hold a pow-wow with Gallagher, who is scheduled to roar into the community in the morning. Boss Wilson, of course, insists Nicholson has agreed to wages.

As a draft eligible, Nicholson has a farm deferment but that may end any minute. Part of his tardiness is supposed to have been because of a desire to clear up his draft status even to the extent of taking his physical examination before leaving home but all he found out was that he might receive a summons for his pre-induction examination before May arrives.

Expects to Lose Him.

Presumably Nick has no physical blemishes so Manager Wilson will continue to proceed on the theory that eventually he is going to need a different right fielder.

With Nicholson among those present, the Cub squad totals 28 but it will be enlarged by one man and many pounds within the next few days. Lou Novikoff, one of four absentees, is coming via perishable freight from Los Angeles, but the mad Russian upon arrival may find the situation most distressing.

There are six other fly chasers in the school and so far as can be detected from Boss Wilson's plans Novikoff is No. 7 on the list. The other Cubs unaccounted for are Claude Passeau, Infielder Roy Hughes, and Holdout Jodie Phipps.

Because of the weather, Wilson abandoned the customary morning workout and didn't even try to make up for the idleness by prolonging the afternoon drill. The fellows didn't do much more than loosen up after hearing the boss in a clubhouse meeting.

Straighten Out Signs.

The session had to do mainly with straightening out signs just in case the weather gives them a chance tomorrow to open the spring series with the homeless White Sox.

According to a report from the coast, but not verified by the Cubs, they have sold Pitcher Ray Prim back to the Los Angeles club.

The Cubs after playing the Sox here tomorrow and at George Field, Ill., the next day, will take the usual exercises on Friday and then skip away to Louisville for Saturday and Sunday arguments with the Reds.

It is probable that Second Baseman Don Johnson won't be playing in the week-end games. Wilson doesn't want the fellow to take any chances of aggravating a minor leg injury.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 5. — Jim Wilson, manager of the Cubs and resident master of Gallagher field, his team's practice premises, ruled today that the White Sox-Cubs Red Cross benefit scheduled for 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, will be played if the temperature soars above 45 degrees.

Today, four hours before regular game time, the sun was shining with gay brilliance, but the thermometer on the front porch of the hotel, a block from the arena, was 41.

Said the Cub skipper: "We are anxious to play the game for the French Lick chapter of the Red Cross and for obvious other reasons, but I will not be in favor of playing if the temperatures are anything like they have been all week. It is all right to take workouts planned for cold days, but last year we forfeited our claims to a first division finish by going thru with preseason exhibition dates in blizzardy weather. Several pitchers met setbacks from which they did not recover all season.

Dykes to Attend Wedding.

"If we play a game against major league competition it is our desire to win. And if we win we must have some bearing down from the pitchers. It is not fair to ask a pitcher to bear down, even moderately, in the kind of weather that has prevailed this week."

While Manager Wilson was fretting about whether it will be warm enough tomorrow to play the Sox, Manager James J. Dykes of the latter outfit was engaged in packing his satchel for his departure for Philadelphia at 9 tomorrow night. He will attend the wedding of his eldest son, Jimmy Jr., and Miss Ruth King in Ardmore, Pa., Saturday.

The pitchers scheduled for tomorrow's benefit game are the ones who were to have pitched yesterday in George Field, and the Cub trio was to have worked against the Reds in Bloomington, Ind., today.

Pleased with Hanyzewski.

On the Cubs' return from a two game series with the Detroit Tigers in Evansville, Manager Wilson expressed himself as being well pleased with the work there of Ed Hanyzewski. He indicated he could see need for improvement in Henry Wyse and John Burrows. He made it clear, however, that he has no

Marshall High's Junior Five Clear on Ineligibility Charge

Marshall High school's junior basketball team has been given official recognition as the City league representative to meet Weber High school, junior champions of the Catholic league, in the all-city championship double header program in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

The decision was reached early last evening after an inquiry conducted by the interpretation committee of the board of control and the Principals' committee on athletics. Charges were brought that members of the Marshall team had entered a B. B. Y. O. tournament for another organization before the team had been eliminated in the semi-finals of the City league play-offs.

Abided by Rules.

It was pointed out that the team entered the tournament late in February in accordance with the B. B. Y. O. regulations.

Actual participation in the tournament was not made until Parker had eliminated Marshall. After Parker and Hyde Park, the league finalists, had been declared ineligible and Marshall was named the league representative, B. B. Y. O. officials eliminated the team from the tournament since the players once more came under the jurisdiction of the City league as the Marshall team.

Olice Winter of Lake View High school, chairman of the committee, issued the following statement at the conclusion of the inquiry:

"After examining the evidence in this case we feel that the Marshall junior basketball team has followed the letter and spirit of the rules and we concur in the decision that they should represent the Chicago public high schools in the Inter-league charity basketball game to be played on April 8, 1944."

Other members of the committee were Peter Ritzma of Farragut, Carl Barnickol of Lane, E. F. Young of Fenger, and Emil Rothe of Lake View.

The inquiry was called following a parade of protest by several hundred Parker students in the loop on Tuesday. The demonstrators were asked by August H. Pritzlaff, secretary of the board of control, to submit concrete proof that Marshall had violated league rules.

Parker to Root for Marshall.

Harold Boudreau, one of the Parker stars declared ineligible, accepted the committee's decision on behalf of the Parker team which had maintained practice sessions with the hope of being renamed Weber's opponent. He stated that the entire team would be at the game to cheer and support Marshall.

Weber, in the meantime, went thru its final strenuous practice session last night at the Loyola alumni gymnasium, finally knowing which team they would play.

Tickets remain on sale in room 1033 at 33 N. La Salle st., with a few $2.40 reserved seats remaining, in addition to the general admission tickets priced at $1.20 for adults and 70 cents for students.

Dursos Beat Neylons in Y Basketball, 59-22

Led by Jack Dwan, former Loyola university star, who accounted for 17 points, the Durso Produce five beat the Neylons, 59 to 22, in the first round of play in the North Avenue Y. M. C. A. open basketball tournament last night. Wilson Sporting Goods company defeated Chappel A. C., 42 to 35, and Kellog Switch company eliminated Gets Molding company, 51 to 39. First round games will be played thru Tuesday.

RECREATION MEN FINISH TONIGHT

BY WILLIAM BAYLISS.

Introduction of new national officers and a talk by Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will be the highlights of the closing session of the national conference of the Industrial Recreation association in Edgewater Beach hotel tonight.

The conference, a three day meeting of industrial recreation and personnel directors from all parts of the United States, has been devoted chiefly to clinics and forum discussions, led by recognized authorities on the various subjects treated.

Ward's address will be on "The Significance of Industrial Sports and Athletics." Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university, president of the I. R. A. for the last year, will preside at this session and Herb Graffis will be the toastmaster.

Annual Business Meeting Today.

The annual business meeting will be held late this afternoon, with Dr. Eastwood in charge. At this session officers and directors for the coming year will be elected and the various committees will submit their reports.

Highlights of yesterday's program were addresses on "Recreation and Employe Relations," by Ralph G. Rogers, at the luncheon session, and on "Post-War Industrial Recreation," by Charles N. Howard at the evening banquet meeting.

Rogers is production manager of the Republic Aviation corporation, Evansville, Ind., and Howard is personnel director of the New Process Gear company, Syracuse, N. Y.

"Information, Please" Style.

The day's program also included four specialized discussions on as many phases of recreation in industry, held during the afternoon.

The morning session today will be in the form of an "Information, Please" program, with Robert A. Turner of the West Point Manufacturing company, Lanett, Ala., a vice president of the I. R. A., in charge. Panel members will be Stewart Paxton of Fairchild Aircraft corporation, Hagerstown, Md.; James Walsh of Chrysler corporation, Detroit; L. C. Ripley of Wright Aeronautical corporation, Cincinnati; Mary Dealy of R. C. A. Manufacturing company, Bloomington, Ind.; Paul P. Sheeks of Firestone Tire and Rubber company, Akron, O., and A. A. Taylor of Curtis-Wright corporation, Beaver, Pa.

Newcomb Will Speak.

Harry Newcomb, vice president of Servel, Inc., Evansville, Ind., will be the luncheon speaker, his topic being "Management Looks at Recreation." Harold Mayfield of the Owens-Illinois Glass company, Toledo, O., will preside at this session, and Edward Mitchell of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, Gary, will be the summarizer.

The afternoon session will be turned over to a discussion of the "Psychology of Industrial Morale," under the direction of Dr. Joseph Tiffin, professor of industrial psychology at Purdue.

Others on the program include L. C. Ripley, R. C. Skillman of Champion Fiber and Paper company, Hamilton, O.; Emory Cox, recreation supervisor of the Wichita, Kas., park commission; R. D. Delius of the Tennessee Eastman corporation, Kingsport, Tenn., and Kenneth Kellough of North American Aviation, Inglewood, Cal.

Johnny Lindell Takes Pre-Induction Physical

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Chicago tonight will see its first Stanley cup finals hockey match since 1938 and at least 17,000 will crowd into the Stadium hoping to see the Blackhawks win and even the series with the Montreal Canadiens. That's just what the Hawks will have to do if there is to be any semblance of competition from here on out.

When the Hawks arrived in Chicago early last night they still were grumbling over their poor showing in the opener Tuesday night in Montreal, which the Canadiens won, 5 to 1. This was considered by Manager Paul Thompson as a healthy sign for a riproaring performance.

Must Win 'em Both.

All the Hawks agreed they missed their golden opportunity by losing the first game. Now they concede that to have any chance at all to cut down the polished National Hockey league champions for the cup they must win tonight and Sunday. These are the only two games to be played in Chicago and a double victory would give the Hawks a 2 to 1 lead to carry back into Montreal where the four out of seven series will be terminated.

Fifty-five hundred unreserved seats will go on sale at 6 p. m. at the Stadium.

Thompson is delivering a psychological stroke in bringing back Veteran Mush March to the hockey wars. The little fellow had been counted out when he suffered an injured knee against the Detroit Red Wings in the cup semi-finals, but tonight March will try to play and the degree of his efficiency will have much to do with the outcome. It was Mush who fired the goal which won the cup for the Hawks in 1931. That one was against the Red Wings and it broke up a scoreles overtime battle.

Veterans Will Help.

"He's a clutch hitter, as they say in baseball," said Thompson. "When you need a goal the worst way, Mush is the type who will get it for you." March will work at right wing on the No. 2 line with George Allen at left wing and Cully Dahlstrom at center.

Johnny Gottselig, who also played a part in the Hawks' 1931 victory over Detroit and who shot the winning goal in the final game last week against Detroit, also will return to active status and this should help perk up the boys.

"We'll win one—that I'm sure," declared Thompson, "and I think we have a chance to take both of the Chicago games."

Canadiens' Power Distributed.

The battle simmers down to the fact that the Canadiens have three strong forward lines. There is little to choose between any of them. The Hawks' first line of Bill Mosienko, Bentley, and Clint Smith has lost its fine edge due to Mosienko's shoulder injury. Likewise, the injury to March has impaired the second line. There is little to choose between the two teams in the defense and goal department.

Smith will be presented with the Lady Byng trophy before tonight's game. This is the second time the Chicago center has won the cup which is presented for a combination of sportsmanship and playing excellence. Smith spent only four minutes in the penalty box during the season and set a league record in assists with 49. Last year another Hawk, Max Bentley, now in the Canadian army, won the Byng trophy.

CRANE FENCERS WIN CITY PREP LEAGUE TITLE

Crane Tech scored 77 points to replace Austin as team champion in the 21st annual Chicago Public High School league fencing meet yesterday at Lane Tech. In second place was Senn with 69, Austin third with 52, Lindblom fourth with 47, and Lane fifth with 46.

In pool 1, Jack Waldier of Crane placed first, George Levy, a teammate won in pool 2, and Leonard Daskiewicz, also of Crane, was awarded first place in the fourth pool. The other member of the Tech squad, Wilbur Nerenstein, was second in pool 3.

Individual champions will be decided this afternoon at Lane when the first and second place pool winners meet.

ATHLETICS BEAT YANKEES, 9 TO 1, FOR 6TH IN ROW

Snowstorms Halt Many Exhibition Games.

Frederick, Md., April 5 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics made it six straight exhibition victories today by beating the New York Yankees, 9 to 1, in a game witnessed by 1,500 and called in the last of the eighth because of a snowstorm.

Second Baseman Irving Hall paced the 12 hit attack for the A's with two doubles and a single, driving in two runs. Atley Donald and Emerson Roser hurler for the Yanks, while Russ Christopher, Don Black, and Luman Harris combined to hold the losers to four hits.

The Yanks return to Atlantic City tomorrow, but probably will not learn the induction status of Outfielder Johnny Lindell until Friday or Saturday. Lindell is at Fort Dix for X-rays of an old head injury.

Catcher Frank Mancuso, after doubling and scoring two players in the second inning, suffered an ankle injury in an attempt to score on an error at shortstop. The injury was not serious but he was replaced by Myron Hayworth, who got three hits.

Trout, returning to the park where he got his start in organized baseball 10 years ago, pitched the first five innings, yielding one run in five hits. Rookie Rufus Gentry made his first 1944 appearance in the last four innings.

The Tigers got enough runs to win off George Sumey in the first inning and didn't score again until the fifth, getting five runs on three hits off Bill Emerick. Nick Ellis was hit for four runs.

Bloomington, Ind., April 5 (AP).—Manager Bill McKechnie today assigned two of his hurlers to work for Indianapolis in an exhibition game hastily booked for tomorrow as a substitute for today's game with the Chicago Cubs, canceled because of cold weather.

McKechnie assigned Rookies Bob Ferguson and Jim Konstanty as the Reds' moundsmen and said that in an effort to make it an even contest Bucky Walters and Elmer Riddle would hurl for the Indians.

Cubs and Sox to Play Today —if It's 45

anxieties about Wyse, who is in good physical condition, and he plans in the National league season to use Burrows as he did last year —in one inning relief jobs.

The trio slated to pitch for the Sox tomorrow includes the gent who will get the opening day assignment. Which one it will be has not been decided, Dykes says. All have been sharp in exhibition appearances, Thornton Lee and Bill Dietrich against the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Orval Grove against both the Pirates and Tigers. Grove has not been scored on in six innings. In his three innings against the Pirates, Lee was nicked for one earned run. Dietrich pitched two faultless innings, then eased up with a 10 to 1 lead and yielded a pair of runs.

Announce Sunday Lineups.

The Cubs and Sox may have to go back for another try at George field Friday. It is said the officers in charge of recreational activities there are very persistent.

Coaches George [Mule] Haas and Edmund [Bing] Miller today drew teams for the Sox intrasquad game here Sunday. The lineups:

MILLER'S TEAM.

HAAS' TEAM.

Hal Trosky, first; Leroy Schalk, second; Skeeter Webb, short; Tony Cuccinello, third; John Dickshot, left; Ed Carnett, center; Ralph Hodgin, right, and Tom Turner or Vince Castino, catcher.

CHICK HARBERT SAYS ARMY WILL HELP HIS GAME

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

During the first few months of the United States' participation in the war, a number of the nation's leading golfers agreed that if they entered the service or war work they never would regain their competitive keenness. Their arguments were based on the contention that long absence from the game would cost them smoothness in shot making.

Chick Harbert.

Now comes a young man to refute that argument, after 17 months in the army, with the statement that those 17 months have helped him to such an extent that he anticipates an even brighter fairway career after the war than he was enjoying before he went into uniform. He is Pvt. Melvin [Chick] Harbert, the Michigan walloper who is one of the longest and straightest hitters in the game. Chick currently is attached to the local air WAC recruiting office, under command of Capt. Robert E. Lynch Jr., supervisor of air WAC recruiting for Illinois.

Helps Physically, Mentally.

"Physically, the army has helped me rather than hindered me," says Harbert, "and I'm sure that it will be a definite contribution to my game after it's over. The training and routine also have made me more mentally alert. I weighed 187 pounds at the time of my enlistment. After completing my basic training I was down to 158 and now, at 165, I feel in the best shape of my life.

"Some of the boys feel that not having a club in their hands for any length of time dulls their game. But I'm satisfied, after taking part in two war tournaments in the last few months, that such is not the case. I finished fourth with a 276 in the Texas Open after not having played a round in five months, and then came in fourth in the New Orleans Open. The latter, by the way, is a fine example of what golf is doing in the war. They sold $3,750,000 in war bonds in New Orleans in an all-bond show. In addition to admission by bonds, the players were auctioned off for bonds. Craig Wood was high, bringing $250,000. I went for $190,000 and Byron Nelson for $175,000.

Harrison Puts on Weight.

"Another illustration of how the army has helped golfers was the recent victory of Dutch Harrison in the $10,000 Charlotte, N. C., Open. Dutch always has been sort of angular, but the air forces gave him an extra 25 pounds, just what he needed to lengthen out his tee shots, and his always excellent short game certainly hasn't suffered if he could beat a field such as he did."

Harbert was an enlisted reservist in the war training service from November, 1942 until August, 1943, when he was sent to Camp Grant, later being transferred to the Lincoln, Neb. army air field. Chick has a civilian pilot's license, and has taken flight training with the army, but feels that his present post in WAC recruiting is the most important assignment in his army career.

WACs Are Needed.

"The need for WACs is a desperate one. The government has shown what it thinks of these women by including the present 65,000 in the overall strength of the army and the goal is 600,000. Like a lot of others, I was skeptical about the value of women in uniform, but I've changed my mind after having seen what they can do. In the air WACs alone, there are approximately 200 jobs that they can fill, and well. Our job is to convince women that by enlisting they will be working side by side with soldiers, rather than as mere replacements."

Harbert first achieved national prominence in 1937, when he won the Michigan Open championship with an amazing 268, 20 under par for Arbor Hills, a regular 72 par layout in Jackson, Mich. Within the last few years, he has been rated an outstanding contender in national competition.

Meisters Win 2; Near Unisputed Classic Pin Title

Bill Hargadon's Meister Braus increased their lead in the Classic league to two games in last night's bowling in Logan Square Recreation. In taking a pair from the Monarch Beers, defending champion, they were out-totaled by the latter but captured the last two games after a bad start. This practically eliminated the Monarch's as contenders for the second half championship as they are now three games behind with only six more to go.

The second place Washington Shirts also lost ground in the battle for the championship by dropping a pair to Thompson's Restaurants, putting them two games in arrears. Wally Freitag of the Shirts had high individual game of the evening's shooting with a 279 opener, helping him to a 652 series.

National Bowling Equipment continued a deadlock for fourth place with Thompson's Restaurants by taking a pair from United States Brewery.

Buddy Bomar of Monarchs had high individual series with a lofty 680, racked up by games of 245, 257, and 178, which also helped his team to high team series honors with 3,037. Standings and last night's results:

They're doing something vastly more important than making cigars. More power to 'em! Another reason: A large share of our output goes to the boys overseas. BOARD PLANNING 4 NEW SCHOOLS FOR SOUTH SIDE

Estimates Cost at More Than $3,000,000.

The board of education, anticipating relaxation of war restrictions on building materials, is planning four new school buildings to be started within the next few months at a cost of more than $3,000,000, John C. Christensen, board architect, said yesterday.

The largest project planned is a vocational training school at 51st and State sts., just south of Du Sable High school and west of Farren elementary school. This building is to cost $1,500,000. Plans are awaiting approval of war production board. The school is to accommodate 1,500 students and will be fitted for aircraft, radio, radar, electricity, machine shop, and other courses, Christensen said.

High School Unit First.

Drawings are being made for a school to serve the Hegewisch district at 108th st. and Avenue H, on property acquired in 1941. Building was delayed by the war. Christensen said he hopes work can be started next fall on the high school unit, estimated to cost $750,000.

Construction of a new subdivision has increased the need for a school in this neighborhood, Wilson Frankland, board member, said. The school will serve Hegewisch and the east side neighborhoods. Students from this area now attend Bowen High school, 89th st. and South Chicago av., some traveling more than six miles to school, Frankland said.

Board Awaits Block Gift.

A square block tract is to be given the board, probably next week, for construction of an elementary school to serve a private housing development at 95th st. and Jeffery av., Frankland said. This will cost $125,000.

The board is awaiting a report on application for federal aid in constructing a $700,000 three building elementary, high school, and gymnasium project at 130th st. and Langley av. Federal aid has been asked because the school would serve a federal housing project.

ENDS OWN LIFE TO AVOID PRISON FOR WAR FRAUD

Elkton, Md., April 5 (AP).—Joseph Ben Decker, 58, former vice president and general manager of Triumph Explosives, Inc., died in Union hospital today of self-inflicted gun shot wounds a few hours before he was to begin a three year prison term for mail fraud and federal renegotiations act violations.

An hour before a deputy United States marshal arrived at Decker's home to take him to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., Decker shot himself in the chest, United States Marshal August Klecka reported.

Decker, a former Newark, Del., business man, lost an appeal last week to the United States Supreme court from his convictions.

He and Gustav H. Kann, former Triumph president, were convicted in June, 1943. Decker had been free on bond to permit appeals. Kann, after making restitution of $42,000, was placed on probation.

CLOTHING STOLEN FROM AUTO.

Thieves broke into his automobile parked near his home and took $220 worth of clothing and other possessions, it was reported to police yesterday by Fred Horn, 500 Diversey parkway.

WASHINGTON U. SEEKS HEARING ON SEVER GRANT

Washington university in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday was granted permission by Judge Joseph A. Graber in Superior court to file an intervening petition for a hearing before the court enters an order awarding $1,250,000 from the estate of Henry E. Sever, Chicago publisher, to St. Louis university, St. Louis, Mo. Judge Graber also permitted Hannibal-La Grange college, St. Louis, to file a stipulation for a voice in the proceedings.

In an oral opinion March 27, Judge Graber announced the selection of St. Louis university to receive the money for establishment of the Sever institute of geophysical technology. A three man committee and the court had investigated the applications of 14 institutions. Sever, who was born in Missouri, died April 8, 1941, leaving a $2,500,000 estate.

The petition of Washington university stated that the Continental Illinois National bank, trustee of the estate, had selected Washington university as the educational institution to be chosen by the trustees according to the will. The petition added that the university had accepted, and that the school should be allowed to become a party to the litigation before the entry of any court order which might affect its interests. In his opinion, Judge Graber said that Washington university did not meet the requirements of the will.

O'Day is formally charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty. The money belonged to James Healy, 35, of Rockford, who was arrested after he allegedly purchased 51 cases of illicit whisky.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam

BISTERFELDT—Lt. R. H. Bisterfeldt, U. S. air corps, suddenly, April 6, 1943. In loving tribute to a fine soldier.
LOVING PARENTS, SISTERS, BROTHERS.

CAMPIN—Edward W. Campin Jr., April 6, 1943.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved has stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.
MOTHER, FATHER, AND BROTHER.

HART—Jack Gordon Hart, M. M. A. 3d class gunner, who died somewhere in the Pacific on April 6, 1943.

A long year ago, thru a war-torn sky,
On your country's noble mission bent,
You went, my beloved son, to die.
Aflame with youthful dreams, you went.
You now are winging a cleansed-air
Where there shall be no scenes of war
Or hatred; no evils to abhor
In that beautiful land of There.
For that little while we are apart,—
To free my soul from fear and doubt—
To keep love in, and bitterness out,
I ever shall discipline my heart.
This harrowing struggle I have won
Because you would have it so, my son.

A man whose worth only God knew.
Long days, long nights, Daddy, you bore your pain.
No one knows but you, my dear.
How you thought you would get well and
I could not tell you.

TUBULAR STEEL WORK PERILED BY DRAFT DRAIN

Women Can't Do It All, Cox Warns.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Charles R. Cox.

Altho women steel workers have contributed importantly thus far to the steady flow of vital war materials from one of Chicagoland's newest plants, a situation of "grave danger" has been created thru the war's drain of men from the industry, a steel company executive warned yesterday.

Charles R. Cox, president of the Tubular Alloy Steel corporation, issued the warning in an address marking the formal opening of the corporation's plant in Gary, Ind., from which are shipped tubular, stainless steel products going into more than 300 war uses.

Tremendous Output Sought.

More than 500 men already have been drawn into service from the plant during its brief period of operations, he said, altho the government has given the seamless tube maker a "tremendous" production program to meet.

"The total capacity of tubular cold drawn steel manufacturing is not sufficient," said Cox, and, with apparent reference to new, more stringent draft regulations affecting men in the industry, added: "There is grave danger if we can't find the man power to operate the equipment.'

Women hold 48 per cent of the 3,700 jobs at the plant and have replaced men in such work as crane operators, "hookers," testers, draw bench and machine operators, and tractor and truck drivers.

Cox paid high tribute to the women's assistance in meeting the production schedule and expressed the opinion that "nowhere in the nation, in a similar plant and in heavy industry, is there a comparable application of women war workers."

Toured by Business Men.

His talk followed a tour of the plant by 250 Gary and Chicago business men and industrialists, and Chicago area army and navy officers. The visitors viewed the conversion of solid billets of electric furnace steel into hollow, seamless tubing of many sizes and designed for war uses demanding the highest grade steel.

Five major operations are involved in converting the material into vital parts for ships, airplanes, and land military equipment, and women perform all but the most arduous jobs.

The corporation, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, is using the buildings and facilities formerly belonging to the National Tube company, another steel subsidiary. The plant had been idle several years. Its equipment with the most modern machinery was financed by the Defense Plant corporation.

Floor Area Is 36 Acres.

The Tubular Alloy property covers 330 acres, its main building of 36 acre floor area housing the hot mills, billet yard, machine and blacksmith shops, cold processing and finishing departments, stockroom and a vast shipping bay. There are three miles of narrow gauge railway track within the building and 10 miles of standard trackage on the property outside.

The plant's rehabilitation and use for the exclusive fabrication of seamless alloy tubes was decided upon when other plants in the industry, already operating near capacity, appeared unable to handle production in the vast quantities demanded.

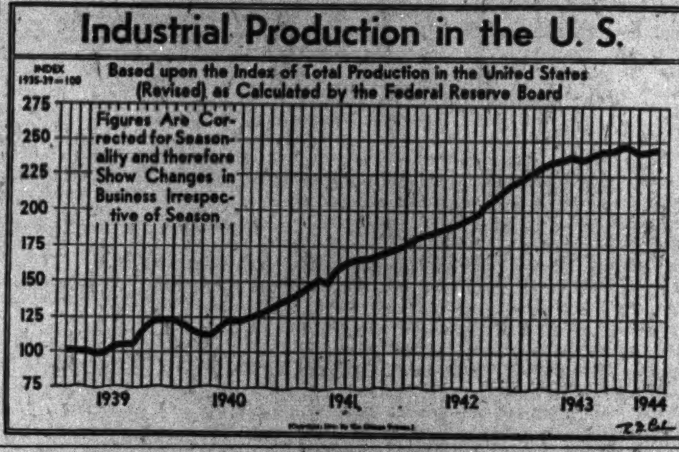
Industrial Production in the U. S.



Grain Prices Move Up, Led by Wheat, Rye

Aggressive buying of wheat and rye futures in early trading on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday advanced July wheat ½ cent a bushel to $1.72¼, a new seasonal high, and July rye to $1.31⅞, up ⅞ cent from Tuesday and a new high in more than two months. Altho liberal profit taking developed on the upturn, the markets showed a firm undertone. The active deliveries of wheat netted ¼ to ½ cent. Oats gained ¼ cent, and rye was unchanged to ½ cent higher. Barley rose ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

Light trade occurred in May wheat and oats at ceiling prices, but there were no sales of May barley.

Scarcity of all cash grain other than rye was held the main factor in the upturn in futures and traders purchased rye on the belief a good demand would develop later. However, rye strength was understood to have come from closing of spreads with Winnipeg.

Lake Shipping Delayed.

A change for the worse in ice conditions in the Lake Superior shipping area has dashed hopes of an early opening of lake navigation and was expected to make a difference of several trips and millions of bushels of grain hauled for a large fleet of boats earmarked to crack the feed grain bottleneck. Clearances from Fort William, Ont., may not be possible for a week or more, and the loss in the lake movement is expected to more than offset any number of extra box cars that can be diverted to moving grain from Canadian to American markets.

George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian wheat board, disclosed negotiations were under way with the war food administration for the purchase of 15 million bushels of Canadian oats. The initial shipment is expected to be 4.5 million bushels from Fort William to Duluth.

Trade in Lard Future.

A trade in lard futures was made on the board of trade for the first time this year. The May delivery sold at $13.60 a hundred pounds. The last transaction was on Dec. 16, 1943, when the December delivery sold at $13.75. Ceiling price on lard futures is $13.80.

There has been little trading in lard in the last year. However, lard contracts have not been removed from the board.

ACME STEEL'S WAGE AVERAGE MUCH HIGHER

Average weekly earnings of Acme Steel company's hourly paid employes increased from $37.69 in January, 1941, to $54.52 in January, 1944, R. H. Norton, chairman, and C. S. Traer, president, told stockholders yesterday.

The company's net sales last year rose 31.5 per cent to a new peak of $35,633,726 from $27,097,985 in 1942. Steel strap for reinforcing package shipments to the military forces overseas accounted for a substantial part of the business.

Profit amounted to $1,994,946, equal to $6.08 a share, compared with $1,782,921, or $5.43 a share, in 1942. The amounts were determined after reserving $418,932 for contingencies in 1943 and $360,068 in 1942. Income taxes were $5,636,428 net, equal to 70 per cent of earnings, compared with $4,066,474.

BOEING PLANE PLANTS WILL SHIFT WORK TO NEW SUPER-FORTRESS

Seattle, Wash., April 5 (AP).—Boeing Aircraft company announced today plans for conversion of its big Seattle Plant 2 and six western Washington branches from Flying Fortress production to building of the new semi-secret B-29 Superfortress.

President Philip G. Johnson said conversion would be started immediately and extend over several months, with all man power utilized during the change-over. Boeing plants at Renton, Wash., and Wichita, Kas., already are producing B-29s.

Production of Flying Fortresses will be continued, Johnson said, at California Douglas and Lockheed plants which have been building them with Boeing coöperation since early 1942.

Lehman's Net Asset Value Climbs Again

Lehman corporation's net asset value per share increased to $38.97 as of March 31 from $37.71 at the close of 1943, and was highest reported by the investment company since June 30, 1937, Robert Lehman, president, said yesterday in a letter to stockholders.

The March quarter, third of the company's fiscal year, is the eighth consecutive three months' period for which the corporation has shown an increase in asset value of its shares, Lehman said.

Oil Holdings Largest.

Oil securities continue the largest single concentration of the company's funds, and on March 31 had a market value of $12,263,915. Public utility securities, with market value of $11,914,690, were second largest, followed by securities of merchandising companies, $7,550,800.

During the quarter, Lehman raised its holdings of General Motors common from 30,000 to 40,000 shares, and market value of its total holding of automotive industry common stocks increased from $3,130,450 to $4,044,362.

Gross Assets 76 Million.

Portfolio changes resulted in the net sale, on balance, of $54,754 of securities exclusive of government bonds.

Gross assets on March 31 were $76,989,507. Common stocks constituted 76.6 per cent; preferred stocks and bonds, other than government bonds, 14.1 per cent; and cash, receivables, and government bonds, 9.1 per cent. During the quarter the company repurchased 12,600 shares of its own stock for retirement, at an average price of $30.03.

Indiana Utility Proposes Exchange for New Stock

The plan would reduce annual dividend requirements $277,079, the company said.

Schram Asks Tax Slashing at End of War

Emil Schram.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 5 (AP).—Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock exchange, declared tonight that congress should encourage post-war business development by paving the way now for elimination of taxes "which the necessities of war alone have dictated."

In an address here, Schram urged revamping of federal tax laws affecting corporations to become effective at the end of the war and placed repeal of the excess profits tax "in the vanguard of tax revision."

Barrier to Venture Capital.

"Excess profits would be a misnomer after swollen war business disappeared from the order books of corporations and the mere presence of such a section in a tax bill would cause venture capital, so greatly needed for post-war business development, to shy away," he asserted.

"Of course, high taxes are to be expected after the war, certainly in the earlier years of peace. But I am convinced that essential taxes 'for revenue only' should, so far as the corporations are concerned, be raised by a normal tax on earnings, with slight, if any, recourse to surtaxes."

Pay Increase Asked.

New York, April 5 (AP).—The New York Stock exchange has asked permission of the treasury department to increase the annual salary of its president, Emil Schram, from $48,000 to $65,000. The move was taken by some to mean Schram would be reappointed when his term expires next June 30. He has been president of the exchange since June 30, 1941.

WOOD ALCOHOL FIRMS INDICTED ON TRUST COUNT

New York, March 5 (AP).—An indictment charging 21 corporations, 32 individuals, and a trade association with conspiracy to violate the federal anti-trust laws in the production and sale of wood alcohol was returned by a federal grand jury here today.

The indictment charged that the defendants, controling approximately 95 per cent of the industry, had conspired since 1933 to regulate the production and sale of wood alcohol at unnatural price levels by pooling their output and permitting its sale only thru William S. Gray & Co., New York.

Prices to be charged, the indictment alleged, were fixed by agreement between the Gray company and a committee from the Wood Alcohol Institute, Inc., a trade association, under a plan devised by those two organizations in 1932.

LET THEM BE JUST
What some of our legislators need to learn is that bitterness is not the proper approach to any problem.
American industry is quite willing to pay for its mistakes, but it has a natural objection to having its mistakes magnified and its achievements ignored.
Let those who don't know how to be generous learn how to be just.

C. E. D. STUDIES JOB OUTLOOK IN POST-WAR ERA

Small Business Aid Is Special Goal.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Small business is apprehensive of the growth of a vast army of unemployed, totaling between 15 and 19 millions, after the war, a senate subcommittee considering proposed industrial demobilization legislation was told today.

John F. Fennelly, executive director of the committee for economic development, told the subcommittee that his organization had initiated a special study of the problems of the 2 million businesses in the nation which employ fewer than 100 workers each but which have 45 per cent of all workers on their pay rolls.

Headed by Hoffman.

The C. E. D. is headed by Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, and includes among its trustees William Benton, vice president, University of Chicago; Elmer T. Stevens, president, Charles A. Stevens & Co., Chicago, and John Stuart, chairman, Quaker Oats company, Chicago.

"Mere reconversion to 1940 business levels would result in 15 to 19 millions of unemployed instead of the 9 millions in 1940," Fennelly said. "Speed is all-essential in getting the industrial machine into high gear as soon as possible after the war.

"We are endeavoring to enlist as many as possible of the 2 million small business men in the country in bold and intelligent planning to avert this condition. Local committees have been established in 1,400 communities. They are making a complete employment survey in their towns with a view to post-war prospects.

Tells Need of Agency.

"The army and navy hope to redirect returning soldiers from bad to good employment districts. The extent to which that can be done is anybody's guess. There is certainly a need for an overall agency for coming to grips with these problems. Full authority should be given the chairman of such an agency.

"What I'm afraid of is any attempt to try to perpetuate artificial economic conditions in regions where great war plants have been established. It is going to be hard to dispose of these plants and we are very alarmed at any tendency to keep them going, sustained by government subsidies.

"No one wants a recurrence of dumping such as followed the last war, but surplus goods must not be kept on the shelf. Inventories must not be frozen, but broken up into units small enough for small business to participate in acquiring them. If whole plants can't be sold, they should be broken down for sale. Machinery, equipment, and buildings must be used."

Fennelly said much of the present tax legislation has had a more serious impact on small business than on large scale enterprise.

Sen. Taft, [R., O.], said proposals have been made to extend price controls for a period of two years after the war ends and expressed the belief such controls should be abandoned as soon as possible, some immediately and others after a longer period.

Halsey Firm Moves Office and 40 Millions in Paper

Negotiable securities valued at 40 million dollars were transferred over the week-end by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in its move from the Rookery to the Field building, it was announced yesterday. After 35 years at its former location it now occupies space on three floors and basement in the northwestern section of the Field building.

Kaufman Gives Up Store Post; Lt. Col. Mandel Will Return

The resignation of J. Sylvan Kaufman as vice president and general manager of Mandel Brothers and the return of Lt. Col. Leon Mandel to civilian life to succeed Kaufman were announced yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting of the company by Edwin F. Mandel, president of the department store. Kaufman will retire from the store management late in the summer, but will continue a director.

Lt. Col. Leon Mandel (left) and J. Sylvan Kaufman.

"The mission for which Col. Mandel was commissioned [in the army transport command] has been accomplished and, as army regulations allow any officer over 38 who has served honorably to be relieved from active duty, he will return to assume his position in the civilian economy," the company president said.

Col. Mandel, who before joining the army served the navy in a civilian capacity, will be placed on inactive duty status May 16.

"Kaufman has given more than 21 years of valuable service to Mandel Brothers in his capacities as merchandising manager, vice president and general manager, and his departure is a major loss which we deeply regret," E. F. Mandel said. "Altho his resignation was tendered as of the end of the fiscal year, Jan. 31, we have prevailed upon him to remain until the latter part of the summer. Sidney J. Natkin will continue with Mandel Brothers as assistant general manager."

All Directors Reëlected.

Kaufman said he had no announcement at this time regarding his future plans. He joined Mandel Brothers in 1923 in the merchandising division. He served in the army in the first World war prior to which he was a partner in a ready to wear merchandising firm. He is a director of the merchandising division of the National Retail Dry Goods association and is connected with other groups in the industry.

All directors were reëlected by the stockholders.

TEXTILE WORKER WAGE INCREASE PLEA PRESENTED

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—Francis J. Gorman, spokesman of the United Textile Workers, appealed for wage relief for a million textile workers today in testimony before a war labor board panel hearing the AFL's demand for modification of the Little Steel formula. He termed the formula "morally unsound."

"The idea of freezing wages while profits remain fluid is economic suicide," Gorman said.

He asserted the textile worker was "traditionally America's industrial pauper." Average weekly earnings in the textile industry last December were $31.45, including all overtime payments, he said. This was 25.7 per cent below the earnings in manufacturing generally, he asserted.

Cigar Company Will Offer 40,000 Preferred Shares

Forty thousand shares of Consolidated Cigar corporation no par $4.75 cumulative preferred stock will be offered publicly today by an underwriting group headed by Eastman, Dillon & Co., at $97.50 a share. Proceeds will be used for the redemption of its outstanding 38,162 shares of $6.50 cumulative prior preferred stock.

STOCK MARKET RISE INSPIRED BY DEWEY VOTE

Profit Selling Cuts Gains Near Close.

New York, April 5 (AP).—Stocks rose moderately today but gains were reduced in many cases by late profit selling. A fair number of industrial and rail leaders were fractionally improved and a few specialties were up a point or more. Transfers totaled 772,390 shares compared with 572,400 yesterday.

News which aroused most interest in Wall street was the big vote for Gov. Dewey in the Wisconsin primary balloting. As the board-room news tickers carried the returns there was some general hardening of prices, but brokers suggested the market was too thin for a full appraisal of the effect of this political development.

Utility Index Declines.

Stocks were offered sparingly all thru the list, but bullishness remained subdued because of invasion thoughts and some question as to whether the list had completed its recent reactionary curve.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite at the close was up 0.1 point at 51.9. The rail average advanced 0.2, but utilities fell 0.2.

United States Steel, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International Telephone, McIntyre, Dome Mines, Air Reduction, Philip Morris, American Can, du Pont, Santa Fe, and Southern Pacific finished higher. American Sugar rose 2½.

BONDS MORE ACTIVE.

New York, April 5 (AP).—The bond market advanced quietly today in slightly expanded activity. A majority of the active rails, industrials and utilities ended with gains of fractions to a point or more.

Slow to get started, the recovery movement found the best support in reorganization rails and a few industrials benefitting from special developments. A trickle of investment interest kept the higher priced loans on a steady footing most of the time.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Prices advanced in lighter trading yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Among the more active issues Standard Dredging and Raytheon Manufacturing preferred made small gains, and Chicago corporation and Miller & Hart closed unchanged.

SELLING OF VAST POWER OUTPUT TO TAX UTILITIES

Kellogg Says Peace Will Free Peak Capacity.

The potential post-war output of electricity will be the largest in history and finding a market for surplus energy will be a challenge to the industry after pent-up civilian demand is satisfied, C. W. Kellogg, president, told members of the Edison Electric institute yesterday in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Total industrial production in 1943 of 55 billion kilowatt hours was more than twice the amount produced in the boom year of 1929, but production for nonindustrial use in 1943 was lower than it has been since 1932 and, with that exception, lowest for 21 years, he said.

Use Record Set in 1941.

The largest civilian use of electricity was during 1941. To achieve that record again, a margin of growth three times as large as has ever occurred between any two past years would have to be shown, Kellogg said. He based his conclusions on commerce department figures.

"At the load factor prevailing in 1943 [61.5 per cent, the highest on record] 55 billion kilowatt hours per annum translates itself into 10 million kilowatts of generating capacity. This great capacity may be whittled down by 1.5 million kilowatts by the resumption of solar time, and possibly by 1 or 2 more million considered desirable for increased margin of generating capacity over annual peak load. But the balance still represents all that the most ardent salesman could ask by way of available goods," he said.

Predicts Wider Power Use.

Even tho post-war residential and commercial sales should rise 50 per cent over the last four pre-war years, the gain would represent only one-tenth of the electric energy that the cessation of hostilities would release, he asserted.

He predicted that economic pressure from the high wage scales produced by the war and from competition in world trade with countries whose wage scales are lower than in the United States will push the United States to ever greater use of electric power in the future, to save human labor.

LARGE DECLINE IN HOG SUPPLY BOOSTS MARKET

A slump in receipts at all large packing centers yesterday brought increased competition to the hog market in the Chicago stock yards and prices advanced. The market average was the highest in a week and 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds above the $13.75 "floor" maintained by the war food administration.

Gains ranged from 10 to 25 cents, with all hogs closing at the top. The $14.05 peak was an advance of 20 cents and the average was up 15 cents at $13.90. Most good 200 to 375 pound hogs brought $13.85 to $14. Sows weighing 350 to 600 pounds sold mostly from $13.25 to $13.50.

Receipts Total 119,000.

Farmers shipped 119,000 hogs to the 20 major markets, compared with 160,000 a week earlier. In three days these centers handled 400,000, a reduction of 115,000 below a week ago. The three day total of 74,800 in Chicago was the second smallest since mid-October last year.

A small lot of "hothouse" spring lambs sold at $20, which was $4.50 a hundred pounds above the top price paid for other stock. These specialties, averaging 45 pounds, were bought for Greek religious ceremonies and were no criterion of the general lamb trade. The best lambs sold steady at $16.50.

Cattle Prices About Steady.

Trading in the best grades of cattle again was dull, but prices were about steady. Top loads sold at $16.90 and most sales ranged from $13.50 to $16. Steady prices were paid for most heifers, beef cows, canners, cutters, bulls, and calves.

ARMY ACCEPTED FAULTY ENGINES, PLOT TRIAL TOLD

Cincinnati, O., April 5 (AP).—Testimony that army inspectors accepted airplane engines he personally had rejected came today from a former Wright Aeronautical corporation engine test supervisor.

The witness, Robert D. Yankey of Ann Arbor, Mich., now employed at Ford's Willow Run bomber plant, told a court martial trying three air force officers on charges of neglect and conspiracy that he rejected the engines because of smoky cylinders, oil, or fuel leaks. He testified he asked a Mr. Gunter, foreman of carburetor and tests at the Lockland [Cincinnati] plant for advice on army acceptance of the engines and was told: "Keep your hands off of what the army has passed."

Sees Cylinder "Blow."

Yankey also testified that just after Gunter had said he saw nothing wrong with one engine running in a test cell, a cylinder "blew."

The officers, charged with neglecting to properly supervise the inspection of engines and parts, are Lt. Col. Frank C. Greulich and Maj. W. A. Ryan both of Detroit, and Maj. William Bruckmann of Cincinnati.

Holger K. Christiansen, a former supervisor for Wright, who said he worked three years with Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen, war production director, in a big Copenhagen, Denmark, factory, testified that he protested several times to the plant quality manager about inspection practices and that parts were given only a 25 per cent check in the final inspection. He said he thought new inspectors needed two or three years' training; that his superiors told him "three or four months" was enough. He said he had had 20 years' experience with internal combustion engines.

Given Job Opening Boxes.

Christansen said he asked for a transfer to the Wright home plant in Paterson, N. J., because of his health and after receiving it Aug. 15, 1942, was put to work opening packing boxes. He answered affirmatively when Col. Park Holland, counsel for Lt. Col. Greulich, asked: "You got little coöperation at Paterson?"

Daniel S. Blackman of the procurement control section of the A. A. F. material command, Wright field, Dayton, O., testified that the total face value of contracts and purchase orders to the Wright plant in Lockland was $1,079,808,849.

Wrecks Defective Parts.

Ensign Robert K. Hoffman of Lewisburg, O., now attached to the naval air experimental station at Philadelphia as a test engineer, told the court that, when he worked at the Wright plant between September, 1941, and May, 1943, he dropped defective parts on the floor to mutilate them so they would be useless.

Hoffman said he had asked Ray W. Clark, supervising A. A. F. inspector at Lockland for stamps to identify condemned parts but never received them. He added that William Melvin, a Wright supervisor, on many occasions agreed with his judgment that a part was defective, but said he would get in trouble with his superiors "if we reject them."

Hoffman also related he had asked why certain parts were accepted when under previous standards they would have been rejected and was told to let them go thru unless the army caught them.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

Part of the flock of Karakul sheep at the farm.

The FARM by Gail Compton

April 5, 1944.

THE Karakul sheep at the farm are ranging the pasture provided by the grass along the sand road and, altho they get little for their efforts, the blades of new grass beginning to appear seem to satisfy their appetites. They are fed hay in addition to what they can pick up during the day.

The flock is a rarity in the midwest and invariably attracts the most comment from visitors to the farm. From the pelts of the young lambs come the Karakul, broadtail, and Persian lamb coats that women favor.

Lamb Fur Curls Tight.

The fur of a newly born lamb is curled tight and has a beautiful black sheen. As the lamb grows older, the curl in the fur loosens and becomes coarse. On the old ewes, the fur becomes brown and shaggy. For this reason, the best pelts are taken from lambs killed immediately after birth.

The practice at the farm is to save ewe lambs and pelt the bucks. This was done two weeks ago when a buck was born. There are several ewe lambs in the flock this year.

Breeders of Karakul sheep have found that the best pelt is derived by crossing a full blooded ram with a ewe that is three-quarters Karakul and one-quarter wool bearing sheep, such as a Merino, Lincoln, or Cotswold.

At the farm, the magnificent Karakul buck, Old Napoleon, has been bred to some of the Southdown ewes to discover what type of pelt can be had with a first cross of this type. Ewes from the cross will be saved so that eventually the farm can produce some third cross pelts.

Valuable Only for Fur.

The Karakuls really are valuable only for their fur. They produce a small and poor quality wool clip in comparison with other breeds, and their mutton is not very good eating.

The breed often is called the broadtail because of a characteristic development. The sheep grow a great mass of fat weighing five to six pounds at the upper part of the tail.

The Karakuls are good grazers and have cleaned up many spots on the farm. They blithely consume many different types of weeds that other animals shun, and could be used to good effect in cleaning up the woods.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

SPINACH and spinach substitutes should be kept in every garden from the beginning to the end of the season. The most commonly recommended spinach for this area is Bloomsdale Long Standing, but this is a cool weather crop that must be planted to mature in early spring or fall. Substitutes, such as Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach, can replace the Bloomsdale type during the hot weather of midsummer.

Bloomsdale Long Standing can be planted as early as the seedbed can be prepared. Its leaves are tender and have a higher flavor than the substitute crops. The same variety can be replanted in early August to mature during the cooler weather of the fall.

Swiss chard can be planted after April 15, and New Zealand spinach after May 10. The seeds of New Zealand spinach do not germinate readily, and should be soaked in very hot water for at least 18 hours before planting.

5,000 WILL HEAR STORY OF PLANE GAS PRODUCTION

The scope of the government's war program for the production of 100 octane gasoline to fuel the bombers and fighting planes of the army, navy, and marines will be outlined by W. W. Vandeveer, director in charge of the 15 midwest states for the petroleum administration for war, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow before 5,000 refinery workers in the civic auditorium in Hammond, Ind.

The meeting will be a salute to the men and women who produce the aviation gasoline in the Calumet district, where a number of the big refineries are located.

Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining company, will be master of ceremonies; Comdr. Rae E. Arison of the navy, a combat flyer, will speak for all the fighting air forces.

Today Is Army Day—But Army Won't Stop Work!

Reminded by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, that soldiers on the fighting fronts would not be able to take time out to observe Army day, all units in the United States likewise were ordered to carry on their work as usual today. The army was forbidden to take part in parades, civic celebrations, and dinners, and in the words of Gen. Marshall, must dedicate itself to greater effort to winning the war. Flags will be flown today from the light standards on State street, and the State Street council urges universal display of the American flag.
